

Booster Not Necessary For Oral Polio Vaccine

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: Is it necessary to take a booster of oral polio vaccine (the sugar cubes)? If so, how often? — D.M.

Dear Dr. Molner: I give lifelong immunity without need of boosters. However, testing will continue for a long time, and if after some years there are signs of waning protection, there will be plenty of time to advise people. Unless such a warning is issued, you need not have a booster.

Some vaccinations require boosters because otherwise the degree of protection fades. The oral polio vaccine is different in this respect: It is a live virus, although modified to such a degree that it cannot cause the disease. Yet it is active enough to cause the blood to create antibodies or protective particles to fight off the disease if one is exposed to the real medication to use only on the side where the pain was. He and continues to grow indefinitely in the gastro-intestinal tract. As long as it remains, it keeps and wheeze. The doctor told him not to do any painting, but he has been doing some anyway. I hope you can help him. — J.J.

If he disobeys his doctor's instructions, I don't see what I can do to help. I assume that the doctor has reason to think that an allergic condition may be involved. Allergy often is one factor in sinus disease. You may well benefit from the doctor gave him some reading my booklet, "You Can Cure Sinus Trouble." To receive a copy, send 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of The Post-Crescent, Appleton, Wis., 54911.

Dr. Molner

It will explain what sinus trouble is, how it can vary and what differing causes may be at work. You'll see why a partially corrected sinus inflammation may be without pain but still cause a post-nasal drip with its consequent throat irritation.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have trouble with scaly lips and have tried various brands of lipstick from cheap to expensive. No improvement. I do take allergy shots for various things, but otherwise am in good health. I have tried many kinds of salves but nothing helps and some make it worse. Have you any suggestions? — D.H.

Since you know to begin with that you have allergies, that may be the vital clue to your lip problem. Why not try using nothing at all — lipstick, salves or anything else — for a few weeks and see if that improves things? (If you are a smoker, cigarettes may be a factor.) I've seen this work for girls whose faces kept breaking out. They were doubtful but in desperation stopped using all cosmetics and their skins cleared. Later, trying one thing at a time, they found out what they could safely use and what they couldn't.

Note to Mrs. C.W.: Thanks you for your letter. Nightmares, restless sleep, jitters, grinding of the teeth and other nervous manifestations all can be incited or intensified by pinworms. Testing for pinworms is simple, and such infestation is one of the things that should be suspected in restless children who otherwise are healthy. (Copyright, 1966)

Pub Manager Pours Beer Down Drain

WATFORD, England (AP) — The manager of the Rose and Crown pub has poured nearly 200 pints of beer down a drain — free beer his customers couldn't drink.

George Dodds said he had more than 800 pints of draught beer in tapped barrels when he learned that the pub was going to be torn down next week to make room for a store.

Once tapped, barrels cannot be moved. So Dodds told his customers, "Please drink the lot." They were able to drink only a little more than 600 pints.

Woman Defends Non-Drivers; Resents Cheapskate Label.

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing in response to that lame-brain who signed herself "Wheels."

I happen to be one of the millions of women in this country who does not drive a car. I resent being called a cheapskate, a free-loader and a neurotic screwball. I have taken driving lessons and tried my damndest to master the wheel but it is hopeless. My instructor told me to save my money, that I will never be able to drive, and I have accepted the verdict.

Too bad more women don't accept the verdict instead of running loose on the streets and highways — endangering the lives of innocent people as well as their own.

Let's face it, some people simply do not have the temperament or the psychological equipment to handle a car. It's nothing to be ashamed of. Please print this letter and wake them up. Thank you. — A Passenger.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Once you said good looks are an asset and people don't lose friends

Sheinwold Good Player Should Plan For Error

Some players take pride in computing that this play is better than that play by on-half of one per cent, or some such margin. The practical player disregards such slight differences; he gives the opponents their best chance to make a mistake.

The mathematical type would take the first trick with the ace of spades and lead out the ace of diamonds. His best theoretical chance is to drop a singleton king of diamonds and then decide what to do about the clubs.

The practical player takes the ace of spades and immediately returns the queen of clubs. There is a fine chance that West will not play the king. From West's point of view, it seems that East has the ace of clubs; and West wants his partner to take the first club and return a heart.

If West refuses the first club, South leads a spade to dummy and takes the diamond finesse. The rest is easy. Even if West takes the first club, he will probably lead another spade rather than shift to hearts.

Dummy wins with the king of spades, and our practical declarer leads the ten of clubs from dummy. This time East will probably play low, assuming that his partner has the ace of clubs. After all, how can either defender assume that South has led the queen of clubs from A-Q-x?

If dummy's ten of clubs holds, declarer switches to diamonds. At worst, East will cover the ten of clubs with the jack. South takes the ace of clubs and must hope for a 3-3 break in clubs. He can lead out the ace of diamonds to see if the king drops. When it does not, he leads a club to the nine and cashes the last club to get rid of his losing heart.

Very few opponents would make a defensive error if they could see all of the cards. In actual play, nine opponents out of ten would misdefend this sort of hand.

because they are attractive. Well, you are wrong. Several months ago my wife and I and another couple went out to dinner. I will call the couple Bill and Frieda. As we entered the restaurant, the host greeted us with, "Well, how is the best-looking woman in town?" and he took my wife's arm. Frieda said in a voice loud enough to be heard all over the place, "What's wrong with me? Am I ugly or something? I get sick of hearing how good-looking she is."

Frieda was surly and unpleasant all evening and we haven't seen them since. This isn't the first time we've had a problem over my wife's good looks. Since you're so smart, what's the answer? — Married To a Beautiful Woman.

Dear Beautiful: I am addressing my remarks to you because that letter was no more written by a man than this answer is being written by a monkey — and no cracks, please.

The head waiter's remark was tactless and it obviously irritated Frieda. Had she been genuinely fond of you, however, she would not have become completely unhinged. The beautiful woman who is friendless, is not friendless because she is beautiful. She is friendless because she refuses to exert the energy to make other people feel comfortable.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My problem is serious but if I tried to discuss it with my parents, they'd laugh it off.

New Year Given Gala Start at Elks Club

Everything From hors d'oeuvre and salads to dessert was included on the buffet tables at the Elks Club's New Year's Eve party Saturday evening. At left, beginning their dinner choices, are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peebles and Richard Schouten. Above, Mr. and Mrs. James Olszewski, Green Bay, were guests at the event. Members were permitted to bring guest couples to the party.

The New Year was ushered in with gusto Saturday evening at the Elks Club. More than 300 attended the club's annual New Year's Eve party, which included a cocktail hour, dinner and dancing. Hats and horns were provided guests as the turn of the year approached, and any lurking 'evil spirits' were properly dispersed with noise.

The party this year included champagne served with a buffet dinner. On the menu were turkey, prime ribs and ham. After the midnight celebration, party-goers were invited to have coffee, juice and sweet rolls 'for the road'.

Lester Deltgen was party chairman.

Teen on Stricken Ship Not Planning to Sail Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Teenager Mary Shapiro's first trip to sea turned out to be a nightmare.

"I think it will be my last," she said Monday as she stepped from a plane at Kennedy Airport.

Mary, 17, of Yonkers, N.Y., was one of five persons rescued from the stricken yawl Petrel after the 70-foot ocean-going yacht fought mountainous Atlantic seas and hammering winds for two days and nights last week.

The five were brought to Norfolk, Va., Monday on the British freighter Cotswold, which picked them up from the Petrel last Friday.

From Norfolk, Mary, her friend, Heidi Van Nes, 17, also of Yonkers, and Mrs. Barry Conway, wife of the Petrel's skipper, flew to New York.

When they disembarked from the plane, they were carrying the orange life preservers they had worn when they leaped from the deck of the Petrel into the Cotswold's lifeboat.

Teddy Bear Too

Along with her life jacket, Heidi also clutched a big teddy bear that was given to her by a seaman aboard the rescue ship. Her father, Hans Van Nes, who owns the Petrel, her mother and an older sister, Bretta Kornmacher, greeted her at the airport.

"I was too seasick to know what was going on," said Heidi. "The cabin floor was flooded. No one ate for two days — just peanut butter and jelly."

Heidi said she did not become aware of the seriousness of the situation until "my brother told me to get off the boat."

The three women and two men, Curtis Bailey of Toledo, Ohio, and Tom Kornrumpf, a graduate student at the University of Chicago, who also had boarded the lifeboat, then scrambled 30 feet up a net to the deck of the Cotswold.

Bailey, a medical student at Western Reserve University, and Kornrumpf flew from Norfolk to their homes in Ohio.

Under Tow

Three other men are still with the Petrel, which is being towed to Stamford, Conn., from where it sailed a week ago on what was to have been a cruise to Bermuda, then to Antigua in the British West Indies.

The other two men in the party of 10 are aboard the Coast Guard cutter which is towing the Petrel.

The Petrel is expected to reach Stamford late tonight or early Wednesday morning.

Meanwhile, the Liberian-registered freighter S.S. Georgia, her hatch covers battered open by the same storm that ripped the sails of the Petrel and knocked out her engine and radio, was being towed by a seagoing salvage tug.

The S.S. Georgia, with 30 Greek seamen aboard, is expected to reach Cape May, N.J., early Thursday morning.

The Swinging Set

BY SYLVIE REICE

Muriel Grossfeld is a remarkable young lady. She has 18 AAU gold medals! In 1957 and 1963 she held the National AAU All Around Championships. At 15 she made the United States Olympics team as a gymnast — competed in the Olympics in Rome in 1960. In '61, Muriel competed in Czechoslovakia, Poland and Russia and defeated the Olympic floor exercise champion. That year, also, at the request of the State Department, she gave exhibitions throughout the Middle East. Her awards and honors go on and on, but perhaps the most impressive for a girl of 25, is her appointment to the staff of the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

Muriel wanted to become a ballerina back in Speedway, Ind., where she was born, but when her teacher saw how much skill she exhibited at acrobatic tricks, she suggested Muriel move from the ballet class to the gym. She did — and gradually started competing — on a local level — gym against gym. "Representing your country in the Olympics makes you proud AND scared," says Muriel. "But what an opportunity to meet people from different countries!"

When not on the go — which is rare — Muriel lives in New Haven, Conn. For a hobby she trains young Olympic aspirants. She loves gymnastics so much, she constantly works out with her students. "Gymnastics make you more graceful and feminine," she says. "It also helps you to think fast. Gives you more confidence." Carolyn Hacher, 16, one of Muriel's proteges (she made the U.S. team last year) is a real success story. "Since Carolyn has become a gymnast," says Muriel, "she's become more interested in her appearance. She lost weight, changed her hairdo, wears make-up and is generally outgoing."

Latest activity of Muriel's is as Teen-Age Consultant to Campbell Soup Company. When the President's Council on Physical Fitness issued a report that teen-age girls were the least fit, Campbell Soup Company launched its public services program, Club 15, and named Muriel Grossfeld as its director. The program is made up primarily of exercises and some diet control. Since then, Muriel has been visiting high schools and department stores all over the country, demonstrating gymnastics before more than 85,000 students at Club 15 assemblies and groups.

Reverse Trend
Muriel says, "I'm appalled at the fact that Americans keep getting fatter and flabbier as our machine society gets more and more streamlined. Better gymnastic training in the schools is one way to reverse the trend. . . . Gymnastics exercise the whole body instead of developing one part at the expense of the other."

There are now more than 24,000 Clubs and over 2,500 schools using the program. Basis of the project is the Club 15 booklet, which has photos of Muriel doing basic exercises for her students. "Gymnastics include in the booklet are sample diets.

TEEN-TALIZERS:
In Missouri, teens are making wearable autograph albums by taping thick white tape on their arms, legs or knees and having their friends sign their names. The different ink colors and handwritings make an interesting design, too.

See how life and fiction coincide! Neil Connery — Sean Connery's younger brother — makes his film debut portraying a plastic surgeon turned British Secret Agent in, "Operation Kid Brother."

No Problem of Laundering With Disposable Clothes

The disposable printed garment constructed of paper-like substance is becoming a staple item of wearing apparel.

Disposable garments are meant to be thrown away after a few wearings. They feature the ultimate in easy care. They are convenient for travelers and for people faced with a job where laundering is a problem. The garments are constructed of non-woven materials of cotton, rayon, nylon, olefin and wood pulp.

Disposable dresses, aprons, baby clothes are also available. One company produced men's disposable bathing trunks and sent a large shipment to hotel supply wholesalers. The trunks will be available to motels with swimming pools.

Consumers can expect to see such items as football jerseys, graduation gowns and beach ponchos with the disposable feature. These articles are reasonable in cost and durability. They are also somewhat resistant to water and fire.

Ethel Kennedy Faces Suit for Helping Animal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy faces trial by neglect that I have ever seen this month in a damage suit charging her with taking a horse she insists was starving and needed attention.

The suit stems from testimony by the wife of the New York senator in a 1963 trial which resulted in the conviction of a Washington resident for cruelty to animals.

The damage suit for $30,000 is scheduled to come to trial Jan. 9 in the Fairfax County Court-house in Virginia.

The judge then called it "one

Her Instructions

Mrs. Kennedy said, through her lawyers, that she instructed her groom to lead the horse to her premises and to water, feed, shelter and give it medical attention.

She acknowledged denying a request from Zemo later that day to return the animal, which died within a week.

Mrs. Kennedy notified the Animal Welfare League of Fairfax County, which sent an agent to the Kennedy place to take responsibility for the horse. League officials testified at the earlier trial they found six other neglected horses owned by

Chris Noel Brightens Vietnam

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
LAI KHE, South Vietnam (AP) — The tank driver could be pardoned for wandering off the road and almost mowing down a row of rubber trees. It isn't every day a soldier sees a green-eyed blonde in thigh-high miniskirt and saucy white boots tramping around the perimeter while the howitzers bang away and the assault helicopters roar off to war. But then every infantry division doesn't have an adopted daughter like Chris Noel. Only the Big Red One—the U.S. 1st Infantry Division—can proudly make that claim, even if it may cost them a tank or a truck or two running amok here and there.

Answer to Hanoi Hannah
The sultry voiced disc jockey who is Armed Forces Radio's all out answer to Hanoi Hannah was officially adopted by the 15,000-man division when she was in Vietnam over Christmas week in ceremonies presided over by Maj. Gen. William E. DePuy, the commanding general.

Since then Chris toured American bases in Korea and the Philippines before heading to Los Angeles via Hawaii. She plans to return to Vietnam early in 1967.

"This is really out of sight," said Chris when she accepted the honor of being adopted by the Big Red One. In the way out phraseology of the age-group that has made her the division's ideal doll, she added: "It's so cool. I'm in love with everyone of these guys."

Lives Up To Motto
The miniskirted charmer from West Palm Beach, Fla., promptly set about living up to the Big Red One's famous motto: "No mission too difficult, no sacrifice too great: Duty first." She trooped out to the rifle companies, braving four changes of her ribbed white po'boy sweater, to chat with the boys in the sandbag bunkers.

She danced with the cooks on mess hall tables, playing rock 'n' roll records on the little portable phonograph that she carries everywhere.

She pulled the lanyard on a 105 howitzer, after first signing the shell "To Charlie, lots of luck, Chris," and nearly jumped out of her Courrages boots when the round went ripping off into an abandoned rubber plantation five miles away.

Visits Wounded
She spent long hours at the hospitals and aid stations, talking with the wounded, autographing their casts and bandages, always inquiring first with a smile of wide-eyed innocence:

Her kittenish costume suggests a go-go girl out for kicks in a square world, but her husky voice, slightly breathless with excitement, communicates moonlight on the back porch, chocolate sundaes at the corner drug store and the girls they left behind.

'Likes The Guys'
Chris Noel is an actress with several movies to her credit but her rapport with the soldiers is more than just a professional front. She really likes the guys and believes in what they are doing.

"I'm for this war and the guys in it," she'll tell anyone who wants to argue. "It may not get me elected campus queen at Berkeley, but that's how I feel."

Secretary Plays 'Santa' To Brother in Vietnam

NORTH BERGEN, N.J. (AP) — Beverly Hansen just came back from delivering a Christmas tree and a few presents to her 20-year-old brother. It was an 18,000-mile trip.

Her brother, Army Pfc. Robert Hansen, is stationed at An Khe in South Vietnam.

Beverly's arrival was a complete surprise to her brother. "That it worked out over Christmas was fantastic," she said.

The 23-year-old secretary to an airlines president had told her brother she would come to Vietnam when they could arrange time together.

"He said he was getting in from 75 days in the field about Dec. 20, so that's when I planned the trip," Beverly said. "It was just a hope and a prayer."

Memories Relived at Campers' Reunion

Wednesday was camp day. Girl Scouts donned casual clothes and carried sack lunches and guitars. They met in the Menasha High School gym. An all-day winter reunion of the Fox River Area Girl Scout Council Scouts who attended last summer's camp at Chalk Hills, brought memories of warm days spent swimming, boating, hiking. There was no camp fire this time, but the girls' voices in the gymnasium sounded just as cheerful and friendly as during the summer when they gathered for a hootenanny. There was no lake, but the girls constructed paper canoes and paddled across the gym floor with shouts to be winners of the race. Volley ball and the twister game were also on the program when lunch time came. The reunion each year offers Girl Scouts who camped at Chalk Hills at different times of the summer a chance to renew acquaintances with fellow the summer.

Ten 'Best Coiffured' of 1966 Announced

On and off-stage, the Ten Best Coiffured Women of 1966 — all of them from the entertainment world — present the same chic, beautifully groomed look.

Their concern for hair fashion, which won them best-dressed honors, in some cases for the second time, does not waver or change once the curtain falls or the cameras switch off. Instead, each of the winners emphasizes the vital part that hair plays in creating her all-important beauty.

Selected as the Ten Best Coiffured for 1966, by the Helene Curtis Guild of Professional Beauticians are Julie Andrews, Marlene Dietrich, Eva Gabor, Audrey Hepburn, Donna Reed, Rosalind Russell, Connie Stevens, recording star Nancy Wilson and singer-dancer Joey Heatherton.

Way of Life
All of the winners feel that beauty becomes "bone deep" when it's a way of life.

How do they achieve this ideal? Their common secret is as simple as constant care.

At the same time whether their personal elegance calls for a short, casual coif (as for Audrey Hepburn) or a long, intricately-styled "do" (as for Eva Gabor), the women hasten to add hair must not show the amount of time lavished on it. Rather, the carefully-cared for coiffure today must have a natural, easy air, as though it just "happened" in the wind.

Extra concentration on hair, say this year's fashion-conscious winners, includes choosing a coiffure that's in proper proportion with the whole woman.

As expected, when on the set or before the footlights, the stars have a stylist at their side each day. But behind the scenes as well, each day is treated as a public appearance, judging from the winners' grooming habits.

Fashion leader Audrey Hepburn, twice named for her style-setting coiffures, has discovered her sable-colored hair stays healthy and glossy looking only if it's washed and set every four days. When wearing a short style, as the casual carefree cuts currently sweeping Paris, she has her hair trimmed every two weeks. Miss Hepburn, who has "no hair problems," according to her stylist, Roger Thierry, Paris, France, faithfully follows her care routine year 'round.

Among Miss Hepburn's best known films are "My Fair Lady," "Charade" and "Breakfast at Tiffany's." She and her husband, Mel Ferrer live in Switzerland.

Television and stage personality Eva Gabor is reluctant to look into a mirror if her coiffure isn't perfectly styled. The lovely star, who adopts a waved up-do for its feminine appeal, has her hair set every day and washed every three or four days.

Miss Gabor considers the coiffure a woman's most important asset of fashion and beauty and has used her own style to establish an individual look.

Miss Gabor, also a second-time winner, is the co-star of the "Green Acres" television show. Her film credits include "The Last Time I Saw Paris" and "Gigi." She is married to Richard Brown, vice president of a television company.

Over-All Fashion
Actress Dina Merrill, another two-time winner, depends on her hairdresser of six years for the upkeep of her shoulder length blonde hair. Though it's naturally strong and naturally wavy, Miss Merrill has her hair set each week and professionally combed in between as often as necessary. Her own daily touches supplement this care.

Another winner who thinks of hair in terms of over-all fashion, Rosalind Russell, says the wrong coiffure spoils the whole silhouette. "I'm a great believer in taking the mirror when a hairdresser hands it to you. The back of a hairstyle is just as important as the front."

Speaking for a new generation of award-winners, Joey Heatherton is apt to have her hair washed and set daily to keep a fashionable style. For moments when her hair is not in meet-the-public order, Miss Heatherton chooses from a number of hair pieces or draws back the ends. "George Washington-style," until it's time to go to the beauty shop.

Miss Heatherton is currently traveling with the Bob Hope Christmas Show in southeastern Asia.

The disappearing "set look" in hair fashion is taking with it the old concept of care, according to the world's best coiffured women. Today's beautifully natural style might require more time, but it also means you'll never have to hide from the laundryman or turn down a date because your "hair is a mess."

Five Injured In 3 Weekend Auto Mishaps

Unusual 3-Car Accident Occurs Near Little Chute

Three weekend accidents on Outagamie County roads resulted in injuries to five persons. Three young people, including two girls, were hurt in an unusual three-car accident about 2:15 a.m. Sunday on County Trunk N, one mile north of Little Chute.

Taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital by Larry's Ambulance were Janice Wildenberg, 20, Little Chute; JoAnne VanHeuklon, 19, 1207 Hoover St., Little Chute, and Peter Parker, 17, route 1, Kaukauna.

State police said a car driven by William D. Schuman, 18, 1006 Adams Place, Kimberly, stalled in the northbound lane of County Trunk N and was struck from the rear by a car driven by Earl J. Jansen, 45, 107 E. Jean St., Kimberly.

Bumps and Bruises

Miss Van Heuklon, who state police said was a passenger in the Schuman car, was struck by the Jansen car as she stood near the stalled vehicle. She received bumps and bruises. Police said the Jansen car was traveling slowly when it ran into the rear of Schuman's car.

The Schuman car burst into flames when it was struck a second time by a car driven by Parker, who suffered head and face lacerations plus injuries to his chest, neck and back.

State police said Miss Wildenberg was taken to the hospital after she went into shock.

Police said the Schuman car was destroyed by fire.

Head Cuts

James P. Wilz, 20, 814 Brewster St., received head cuts and other lacerations when his car left Mayflower Drive near Broadway Drive about 11:30 p.m. Monday.

Details of the accident were not available this morning, but it was learned that Wilz was southbound on Mayflower when he hit a patch of ice on a hill. The car then slid off the road. Wilz was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by private car.

Damage to his 1966-model car was estimated at $2,000 by county police.

Ronald P. Riehl, 18, route 2, Black Creek, suffered a cut forehead when his car ran off State 54, a mile and a half east of Black Creek, and overturned about 12:50 a.m. Sunday.

Riehl said he was westbound on 54 when the car went out of control, veered into a ditch and overturned. He was taken to a doctor for treatment. His car was extensively damaged.

Agriculture Department

Favorable Outlook for Livestock Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department, in an outlook report at the year's end, said favorable livestock producing conditions are expected to continue in 1967.

It said two developments in 1966 will have a significant influence on the livestock economy, not only in 1967, but for the next several years as well.

One of these developments, it said, was action by cattle producers in reducing their inventories by heavy slaughter.

Record Levels "This brought beef production to record levels in 1966. Cattle prices, however, have been

He is showing looking at the skates which probably will not be used any more this season, but for a youngster, the next season will soon be arriving. (Post-Crescent Photo)

New Law Offers More Project Aid

Qualified Municipalities May Apply for Extra 20 Per Cent

Governmental units in the Fox Cities region will be able to share in Federal grant bonuses 20 per cent greater than previous grants for public projects under the recently enacted Metropolitan Development Act.

Implications of the law, passed by the 89th Congress, were explained by Eugene Franchetti, executive director of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

The legislation provides added grants for projects such as water and sewage construction, libraries, hospitals and highway and airport construction.

Plate Glass Window Broken by Beer Bottle At Northern State Bank

A 44-inch by 16-foot pane of glass valued at $250 was broken by vandals sometime Sunday at the Northern State Bank, 402 E. Wisconsin Ave.

Appleton police reported a beer bottle thrown against the window apparently caused the damage. The bottle was found outside the building beneath the broken pane.

The glass was three-eighths of an inch thick.

to governmental units that are within a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area, which meet certain other requirements. The Fox Valley area meets the requirements of a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area now, but awaits an official census designation.

Present System "Under the present grant system, a city constructing a $2 million sewer system could apply for Federal assistance for up to $1 million. With the 20 per cent bonus entitlement, the same city will be able to apply for a Federal grant of up to $1.4 million for a project whose total cost is $2 million," Franchetti said. In no case can the grant for the project exceed 80 per cent of its cost.

A Federal official contacted in Washington anticipates that funding of the program will begin sometime in 1967. Franchetti commented that "because of the widespread possibilities and potential relief for the already overburdened local property tax, we should gear ourselves to the program as soon as reasonably possible."

One of the stipulations of the Act is that municipalities seeking bonus grants must be cooperating members of a metropolitan planning organization that is composed of or directly responsible to local elected officials. The Fox Valley Commission, which includes the elected chief executives of its 12 member units, comes very close to qualifying its present membership for the added grants.

Appleton Youth Shoots His Leg While Hunting

Thomas Lennon, 18, 408 W. Glendale Ave., remains in Appleton Memorial Hospital today with a left leg wound he received in a hunting accident Sunday afternoon.

Outagamie County authorities, who indicated they would investigate the incident further this afternoon, were told about 4:20 p.m. Sunday that the youth accidentally shot himself in the calf of his leg while rabbit hunting along U. S. 10, west of U. S. 45.

He was using a .22 caliber rifle.

Judge Must Give Order on License Loss

Supreme Court Says Revocation Needs Legal Conviction

MADISON (AP) — The Motor Vehicle Department must rely on court convictions rather than its own records before lifting a driver's license, the State Supreme Court said today.

The court, in a 5-2 decision blocked state attempts to lift the license of a motorist for an additional year after he was convicted of speeding while his license already had been revoked for three months.

Although state regulations provide for stripping driving privileges from any motorist convicted of a traffic violation while his license is already revoked, the majority opinion said a court must first convict the man of driving without a license.

Judgment Needed

The department cannot substitute its records for the legal judgment of a court, the justices said.

The ruling involved John Manka, whose license was revoked in August of 1964 after he was convicted of speeding three times in three months. Manka was arrested again in September of 1964 in Ozaukee County on a charge of speeding 87 miles an hour in a 55 m. p. h. zone and was convicted a year ago.

The department, noting its records showed Manka's license had been revoked at the time, lifted it for another year. Manka won an appeal to a Milwaukee Court.

Charge Pending

The five-man majority of the Supreme Court said a separate traffic charge of driving while his license was revoked was still pending against Manka in Ozaukee County and had to be decided before the department could take action.

Chief Justice George Currie disagreed in the dissenting opinion and said the department records showing Manka had no license at the time of the speeding convictions were sufficient for the second revocation.

Currie said the law should permit the department to act "in the interest of greater highway safety."

N. Las Vegas Probe to Start

City Officials Under Fire From Taxpayers Association Claims

Special to The Post-Crescent NORTH LAS VEGAS, Nev. — A grand jury will be empaneled Wednesday to probe alleged malfeasance in office and conflicts of interest on the part of some public officials.

This growing community, which doubled its population to 36,000 since 1960, was in the news nationally recently when communities from all parts of the country sent trees here to be planted in the Civic Center's Garden of Cities.

Appleton sent a tree, planted on Dec. 4 at the dedication of the multi-million dollar city hall and library complex. Mayor William Taylor of North Las Vegas acknowledged receiving the gift from Appleton.

Petitions Filed

It is claimed the grand jury may have some political overtones, its calling resulting from a demand by the Las Vegas Taxpayers Association which filed a series of petitions with the court, charging certain city officials with "gross malfeasance in office, widespread official dereliction and private profiteering at the public expense."

North Las Vegas — a dying community just six years ago, has become a hub of commercial and industrial expansion, one project including the start of a new $2 million hotel-casino complex last week.

There have been some residents objecting to the city's rapid growth and major projects, including urban renewal and downtown development.

Developers to Unveil Plans For High Cliff Luxury Area

Zone Petition Going Before Calumet Unit

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Plans for a multi-million dollar motel and commercial complex in the High Cliff State Park region will be unveiled tonight at Chilton, the Post-Crescent learned today.

The Calumet County zoning board, which is actually the county's park commission, will be asked to act on the petition of Francis Schneider, route 1, Menasha, a developer who owns a considerable amount of land near the park and overlooking Lake Winnebago.

There have been reports that Schneider and a group of Midwest investors have plans for erecting a complex which will be more elaborate than the Pioneer at Oshkosh and other plush resort-recreation developments in the southern part of the state.

Meet Tonight

A spokesman for the county clerk's office at Chilton said the meeting will be held at the Calumet County courthouse at 8 p.m. today.

The agenda includes three rezoning petitions, the major one being Schneider's request to have large tracts of land now designated for recreational purposes rezoned to commercial. The others are not related.

Purpose of the rezoning, according to the county clerk's file, is to permit construction of a huge motel-restaurant complex, along with a modern clubhouse for the 18-hole golf course now under construction in the same area by Schneider.

The golf course project was approved in October as the first phase of the exclusive motel-recreation development when the zoning committee approved a rezoning.

The course reportedly was the first phase of the overall plan which will see several million dollars poured into the area on a phase basis over a four to five year period.

If approval of the rezoning request is granted tonight, developers reportedly want to start construction of the elaborate motel layout sometime in 1967.

Vague Reports

While only vague information was available in the rezoning petition, there have been reports circulating throughout the area and in resort-business.

Two Men Fined $10 Following Accidents

LITTLE CHUTE — Two men involved in minor accidents pleaded guilty to traffic violations and both were fined $10 when arraigned before Raymond Sanders, municipal justice, Friday night.

Michael J. Kroner, 82, 204 Franklin St., Little Chute, was charged with failure to yield right of way and Michael J. Van Dehy, 18, 514 Oak St., Kimberly, was charged with unsafe backing.

Appleton's First New arrival of 1967 is held by his mother at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Nicholas Todd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bartman, route 2, Menasha, first saw the light of day at 4:08 p.m. Sunday. He has two brothers and a sister. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Appleton Hails 1967 Baby

The first 1967 arrival in Appleton, though only 18 inches in height, is already somewhat of a celebrity.

Nicholas Todd Bartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Bartman, route 2, Menasha, was the first child born in the new year in an Appleton hospital.

Born at 4:08 p.m. Sunday at St. Elizabeth, Nicholas weighed in at 5 pounds, 4 ounces.

are his sister, Vicki, 8½ years old; and two brothers, Steven, 7½, and Gary, 6.

As the first baby of 1967, Nicholas and his parents will receive a $25 savings bond from The Post-Crescent and gifts from a group of merchants, who cooperatively have sponsored a contest for many years.

Three little tax deductions who arrived on the last day of the old year were a boy to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berg, 519 N. Drew St., Appleton, and a girl to Mr. and Mrs. James Verhagen, 111 Ridge-way Drive, Greenville at Appleton Memorial Hospital and a boy to Mr. and Mrs. Lambert A. Wolters, 408 W. Main St., Little Chute, at St. Elizabeth.

As of this morning, no 1967 babies had been born at Appleton Memorial.

Kaukauna Police Investigating Recent Break-ins

Kaukauna police are investigating two house break-ins and an attempted entry of a restaurant, all of which occurred in the past three days.

About $10 change was reported taken from the home of Lucky Baer, 500 Reaume St., sometime between 1:30 and 11:30 p.m. Sunday. No sign of forced entry could be found.

Barney Hietpas, 1010 Riverside Drive, reported the loss of $70 from his wife's purse in the home while the family was away between 8 and 11 p.m. Monday. Entry was gained through a rear door, which the owner said was locked, but no sign of forced entry was noted.

The attempted break-in at the Villa Restaurant, 107 E. Second St., occurred sometime between 7 p.m. Monday and 4 a.m. this morning. The rear screen was cut and the door was jimmied but nothing was reported missing.

Car Skids Into Path Of Train, Driver Is Treated for Shock

David H. Hauser, 24, 714 E. Washington St., was treated for shock at Appleton Memorial Hospital after the car he was driving was struck by a Chicago and North Western Railway engine at 5:12 p.m. Monday at the N. Lawe Street crossing.

Hauser told Appleton police he was driving north on Lawe and applied his brakes when he saw the train's headlight. His car slid into the train, police reports indicated. Hauser was taken to half later at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Appleton.

Some of the same officials who worked on the investigation of Sunday's shootings, were at 2235 N. Casaloma Drive early the morning of Nov. 13 after Kenneth F. Schwister, 26, fatally wounded his wife, Donna Mae, 22, with a shotgun, then shot himself in the heart.

Tumbling in Drier No Picnic, Says 'Possum

A small opossum seeking warmth got a little more than he expected Monday when he was "tumble - drier" in a clothes drier in an Appleton home.

City police said a man appeared at the police station Monday night and stated he had taken an animal out of his wife's new clothes drier.

He was carrying the wee beast in a box and didn't know what it was, police said. After careful scrutiny, the animal was identified as a 'possum. The man said he installed the drier with a 2-inch air vent through the side of the house. Sometime Sunday night, the animal apparently crawled through the vent and into the drier. The next day the man's wife put some wet clothes in the drier. When they were dry, the machine stopped and she started to remove the garments.

According to the police report: "When her hand got a hold on the animal, he started to raise cain in the drier. She screamed and took off."

The opossum survived its ride but later was disposed of by police after they consulted with a local game warden.

Tree Lights Short; Fire, Smoke Damage Appleton Residence

Fire burned furniture and caused considerable smoke damage Monday afternoon at the Albert Gradl residence, 1402 N. Graceand Ave.

Appleton Fire Department reports said the fire originated in the living room when Christmas tree lights were plugged in at approximately 4:15 p.m. Monday.

An apparent short in wiring caused the tree to burn. The fire also damaged aavenport, rug, lamp and drapes in the living room. Firemen used two booster pumps for 20 minutes to extinguish the blaze.

According to police, Pomeroy was traveling south on Dodge Street, failed to notice the train approaching, and the left rear fender of his car was struck by the train as it crossed the tracks. There are no signals at the crossing, and no flag man was on the scene.

Engineer on the train was Oliver Macki, 53, 309 E. 17th St., Kaukauna.

City Building Adds $1,250,000 To Valuation

MENASHA — Despite a drop of more than $800,000 in industrial and commercial building level jobs (unskilled), the Wisconsin manpower report for construction in the city was down only $54,661 in 1966 compared with the year before, according to records of Earl Kalm, building inspector.

The biggest project of the year just ended was the new Gagan elementary School, for which a general construction permit listing a cost of $403,000 was taken out in December.

The total taxable value of the new construction was about $1,250,000, after deducting the exempt of the school which is tax-exempt.

This increase in the tax base would raise about $21,000 in taxes at the present gross tax rate of $48.93 per $1,000 assessed valuation. Under current Menasha assessing policy, assessed values are based in part on 70 per cent of present construction costs.

The portion of new construction completed before April was already included in the tax rolls, when the tax bills went out at the end of the year. The rest will appear on next year's tax rolls.

As possibly indicated by the fact that home construction cost was up despite a drop in the number of homes, 1966 was a year of sharp increases in construction costs, another factor that no doubt helped keep the drop in construction value relatively small.

In 1965, industrial and commercial construction totaled $993,617, while the total for 1966 was $342,517.

Home building and various sorts of minor construction made up for much of the loss, however.

Appleton Man Fined After Town Accident

OSHKOSH — John J. Salm, 20, Route 2, Appleton, was fined $50 and costs and had his driver's license suspended for 30 days after he pleaded guilty to failing to operate a vehicle at a safe and prudent speed.

He appeared in Winnebago County Court Branch 3 Monday after he was arrested by County police on Dec. 10. He was involved in an accident at State and Gmeiner Road in the town of Menasha.

A Murder and Suicide took place at this home, 1014 E. Kimberly Ave., Kimberly, early on New Year's Day when Charles L. DeHart, 39, shot his wife and then himself. Both died several hours later at St. Elizabeth Hospital. The

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — An eight months anti-poverty project bringing $115,000 of aid to 105 pre-school Indian children on three Wisconsin reservations was approved today by Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

Three "Head Start projects" affecting children at Indian Reservations at Oneida, Lac Courte Oreilles, and Lac Du Flambeau were approved and signed into effect by the governor.

The project, including $112,000 of federal funds, will be used to create six classes for children between the ages of 4½ and 5½ on the reservations in Oneida, Sawyer and Outagamie counties.

The Oneida and Lac Du Flambeau programs will offer two morning classes each to the pre-school children, and Lac Courte Oreilles will have a morning and afternoon program.

From Ethiopia to Brillion

Christmas 'Firsts' Thrill AFS Student

BY JOAN COENEN
Post-Crescent Correspondent
BRILLION — An ice fishing outing, shoveling snow, the taste of fruitcake and the exchange of gifts are familiar happenings to most of us, but they were "firsts" for Sinkie Bahiru during the recent holiday season.

The soft-spoken, well-mannered 18-year-old American Field Service (AFS) student from Addis Ababa, the capital city of Ethiopia in Africa, is back at classes at Brillion High School this week, but has recorded his vacation activities in photographs and in memory.

"In my country Christmas is observed on Jan. 7," related the young man whose religious affiliation is the Ethiopian Orthodox Church. "There is no exchange of gifts — only a religious observance to commemorate the birth of the Christ child," he said.

Six-Hour Service
The six hour Christmas Eve church service consists of prayers, bible readings, singing by a choir and the playing of drums.

Various tapestries with the nativity scene or the three wise men bearing gifts are affixed to the church walls. This is in contrast to the manger scenes with figures that are prevalent in our churches.

Because of the influx of white people into Ethiopia, some homes have Christmas trees and Santa Claus posters appear in the cities.

In an attempt to preserve the traditional religious Christmas, Ethiopian parents explain Santa Claus to their children as "the man who owned the stable where Jesus was born".

A period of strict fasting from meat and all animal products precedes all holy days. On Christmas Day families gather and eat national foods that have been prepared by the women.

Included are a special Christmas bread that takes three days to leaven and a non-alcoholic beer that takes five days to brew.

Families attend polo games, Christmas Day and the youngsters play a similar type game, but without the horses.

King's Gifts
Haile Selassie, who has reigned as King of Ethiopia since 1930, resides in Sinkie's hometown. Sinkie recalls that when he was younger the children from Addis Ababa's 100th Social Security Act, effective Jan. 1, through their march to the palace on Christmas Day and the king would present each child with a sweater, soda pop, two oranges and a cake. The administrator of education ceased this custom about six years ago because of the cost involved.

Groves of eucalyptus trees, and an abundance of flowers, lands and mountains are covered with beautiful yellow flowers.

Diets Will Improve as New High-Protein Food Is Used

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman says his department made significant progress in 1966 in solving one of man's urgent food problems — a lack of low-cost, high-quality proteins.

The diet of much of the world's population is heavy with starches and carbohydrates, mostly adequate with fats, but short of body-building and sustaining proteins.

Freeman said in a report that his department made three major advances in the search for improved sources of proteins.

One, he said, was the invention of a new process for making protein-rich soybean flour with inexpensive hand-operated equipment.

Another was the development of a way to produce high-protein flour for bread and soup mixes from flour mill byproducts now going into livestock feeds.

The third, he said, was the creation of a new way to ferment tempeh, a staple food of Indonesia's millions, with cereals and soybeans. This food previously had been made entirely from soybeans, a higher-priced source than cereal grains.

Pleasant Acres Is Certified For Medicare

WINNEBAGO — Pleasant Acres, the Winnebago County nursing home for aged citizens, became an extended care facility today and most of the 113 patients receiving care there are now eligible for Medicare.

Supt. Donald Zboray received a telegram this morning from Fred B. Wolf, regional representative of the Bureau of Health Insurance, Chicago, stating that certification had been issued. Transfer agreements are now in effect between Pleasant Acres and Mercy Hospital, Oshkosh, under Title 18, Plan A of Medicare, which became effective Jan. 1, 1967.

"We are pleased that we can provide nursing care under Title 19, which makes us also eligible to qualify under Title 19 of Medicare, the Wisconsin Medical Assistance program," Zboray said.

While 109 of the 113 patients at Pleasant Acres are over 65 and eligible for Medicare, whether they take advantage of the program is a matter of choice. Approximately 60 of this number will be receiving Medicare benefits under Title 18 of children from Addis Ababa's 100th Social Security Act, effective Jan. 1, through their march to the palace on Christmas Day and the king would

New Statute Provides Funds For Public Use

Franchett said. Special emphasis, however, is being placed on organizations in which a majority of the voting members are elected officials.

Structure Change

The membership structure of the Commission would have to be slightly altered in order to meet this qualification, Franchett indicated. He pointed out that metropolitan planning organizations near Detroit, Mich. and Atlanta, Ga., are already in the process of making such organizational changes in their respective metropolitan-regional planning commissions.

Certain planning and programming requirements would have to be undertaken by the metropolitan planning organization in order to meet the requirements of the act. The regional comprehensive plan undertaken by the commission's planning consultant five years ago would have to be updated to meet the planning requirements contained in the act.

Other Grants

Franchett indicated that planning requirements for other federal grant programs, such as the transportation planning re-

Richard Leonard Named Editor of Milwaukee Paper

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Richard H. Leonard was named editor of The Milwaukee Journal today to succeed Lindsay Hoben, who retired Sunday.

Leonard, 45, has been managing editor of The Journal since 1962.

His appointment as The Journal's sixth editor since its founding in 1882 was announced by Irwin Maier, president of the Journal Co. and publisher of The Journal.

Maier also announced that Paul Ringler and Arville Schlaben will continue as associate editors of the afternoon newspaper. Ringler is chief of editorial writers, Schlaben in the news and feature department. Both are 59.

A successor to Leonard will be named later.

Huber, Gavel End Terms Together

MADISON (AP) — Assembly Speaker Robert Huber, D-West Allis, sounded a broken note Monday as the end of his two-year tenure as presiding officer neared.

He pounded for adjournment to the swearing in ceremony of Assemblymen, and the wooden gavel fell apart.

Requirement for metropolitan areas and the urban area-wide utility plans requirement should be undertaken at the same time. These programs were also recommended to the commission by E. H. Lovelace, a national planning consultant, who reviewed the commission's activities earlier this year.

Planning grants which would pay for up to two-thirds of the cost of the required planning programs are available from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The Metropolitan Development Act and its implications for the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission will be discussed at the Commission's Executive Committee meeting Thursday afternoon.

It May Have Been a Long holiday for many people but for many it was business as usual over the three-day New Year holiday, including both Appleton firemen and policemen. For Appleton Policemen it was mostly routine calls also over the weekend with nothing major in the line of accidents. Checking a call on a complaint are two patrolmen, Carl Dittmar, standing, and Bernard Kabat.

Developers to Unveil Plans For High Cliff circles for months about the additional facilities being planned.

It is expected if the overall project gets the go-ahead, the motel, golf course, exclusive residential and other developments eventually represent a Midwestern showcase.

The State Department of Resource Development Department at Madison, along with the Wisconsin Conservation Commission, have reportedly encouraged the proposed resort development.

Originally last fall, the Conservation Commission objected to any commercial developments near the park but revised its position and said the golf course would be an asset to the area's recreation potential.

Prior to Oct. 26 when the golf course project was approved, the county's zoning code called for it to be designated as a commercial use. However, the code was amended to put it in the recreational category.

Opposition Unknown

Whether there will be any opposition to tonight's rezoning request remains to be seen. However, it is known the type of a resort-recreational area being planned will be unexcelled in Wisconsin if the developers receive approval.

Julius Schmidt of Sherwood is chairman of the Calumet County Park Commission.

In addition to being one of the finest resort areas in the state—without affecting the existing state park facilities at High Cliff—the proposed development would also represent a sizeable addition to the county's tax base.

It has been predicted by some sources the proposed motel may be one of the largest in Wisconsin.

An original map of the present and long-range use of the Schneider property, released in October, shows the spacious golf course winding through the area.

Madison Firm

Schneider is expected to give some kind of a report on the progress of that project tonight. The course was designed and laid out by Homer Fieldhouse, Madison, an architectural firm specializing in golf course planning.

One huge area adjoining the golf course and overlooking the lake is shown on the layout as being reserved for a future motel-resort which would be almost C-shaped with several wings extending from the main building. Plans for the motel are said to be "most elaborate."

There is the possibility of the state also expanding its High Cliff Park facilities in an adjoining area to complement the proposed private development.

Fond du Lac Up, Oshkosh Down Valley Cities Show Decline in Tax List

Fox Valley communities, for the most part, lost some ground in the 1967 tax rate rankings which include a list of the 19 largest Wisconsin communities. Neenah and Oshkosh were the only Valley cities improving their ratings over the past year. Appleton and Menasha slipped one place each. The best showing, by far, was made by Oshkosh which had the sixth highest rate in 1966 but now ranks 15th.

The rankings are based on a compilation and projection of tax rates to equalized (full) valuation. No. 1 indicates the highest rate.

Neenah Improves
Neenah had the 13th highest tax rate a year ago, and is now listed at 16th.

Menasha, with a tax increase, moved from 18th to 17th, switching with La Crosse, and worsening its rank.

A good share of the Fox Valley communities reflected tax increases on the basis of higher governmental and educational costs, municipal expansion projects and the squeeze from the so-called "tax islands."

Green Bay practically did an about face, having the 16th position in 1966 but now ranking as the eighth highest tax rate community.

Appleton Up

Appleton moved from 13th to 14th.

West Allis, which for the previous two years held the dubious distinction of having the highest equalized rate in the entire state, repeated again this year as the No. 1 city on the list. Janesville continued with the lowest tax rate of those listed.

20,242 Viet Cong Defections Claimed Doubling '65 Total

Bombing Raids Stepped Up, Ground Action Slow During Year

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. officials announced today that a record 20,242 Viet Cong defected in 1966 with the biggest surge coming in the final two months of the year.

A U.S. spokesman said the 1966 total was nearly double the 11,124 who left the Communist ranks during 1965 and was the highest number in the four years since South Vietnam began the Chieu Hoi — Open Arms — program to win over Viet Cong adherents.

In combat developments, only minor ground skirmishes were reported. In the air there were more bombing strikes against North Vietnam, two raids by B52 heavy bombers in South Vietnam and a third in the demilitarized zone.

Best Month

In announcing the Viet Cong defections, the U.S. spokesman said December was a record month with 2,516 Communist adherents rallying to the South Vietnamese side, topping the previous monthly high of 2,505 in November.

The total for the four years of the Chieu Hoi program is more than 48,000, the spokesman said. Despite the claim of 20,242 defections in 1966, the strength of Communist forces in South Vietnam has remained throughout the year at about 280,000 men by U.S. official estimates. The Communists have filled their ranks through recruitment and infiltration from North Vietnam.

Desertions from the South Vietnamese armed forces during 1965 totalled 113,000 and for the first half of 1966 reached at 67,000. But allied officials contend the desertions in the last half of 1966 will show a decline because of new stiff penalties and improvement in pay and conditions of service.

Civilians Abducted

A South Vietnamese spokesman reported that a Viet Cong force of about 35 men crossed into South Vietnam from Cambodia today and abducted 15 Vietnamese civilians from a border hamlet.

The spokesman said the Viet Cong entered the community of Go Dau Ha, in Tay Ninh Province, just before daybreak, kidnapped the Vietnamese from an open-air market and withdrew across the Cambodian border.

Over the weekend, the Cambodian government charged that U.S. and South Vietnamese helicopters and light planes carrying ground troops attacked the village of Ba Thu just inside Cambodia, killed three or four persons and abducted 12. The U.S. command denied any knowledge of such an incident.

Vietnamese headquarters also reported a Viet Cong attack on an outpost 48 miles south-southwest of Saigon in which a squad of militiamen took heavy casualties.

Risser Named New Leader of Senate Minority

Democrats Deal Prestige Defeat To Martin Schreiber

MADISON (AP)—Senate Democrats, the dwarf among the four delegations in the Wisconsin Legislature, rounded out the leadership lineup for the 1967 session Monday by promoting Fred Risser of Madison to minority leader.

Risser, serving his second term in the Senate, was the first Democrat from outside Milwaukee to be named to the post since 1951.

The 12 Democrats in the upper house chose Sen. Taylor Benson of Franksville as assistant floor leader. Sen. Martin Schreiber of Milwaukee was awarded the post of caucus chairman.

Although Risser announced all votes were unanimous, the selection of Benson for the No. 2 job represented a considerable victory in prestige over the 27-year-old Schreiber, the party's nominee for lieutenant governor in the last election.

GOP's Leonard

Republicans, dominate the Senate 21-12.

Risser, 39, is a former Assemblyman first elected to the Legislature in 1956. The tall, lean Madison attorney served in the last session as assistant floor leader for the Democrats, who have not held an outright majority in the Senate since 1899.

The post of minority leader has customarily gone to a lawmaker from Milwaukee, which supplies most of the Democratic senators. Risser succeeded Sen. Richard Zaborski, D-Milwaukee, who did not seek reelection to the Legislature.

Republicans Preparing Vietnam Position Paper To Give to President

Laird Views Aim as Clearing Up Dangerous Confusion Over Goals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Republicans are preparing a broadside of questions and recommendations on Vietnam to be fired at President Johnson soon after Congress reconvenes.

The House Republicans are putting their ammunition into a "position paper" now being drafted with a target date of Jan. 16.

Rep. Melvin A. Laird, chairman of the House Republican Conference, said its purpose is to dispel what Laird sees as dangerous confusion over U.S. goals.

"Not only the goals in Vietnam, but in Southeast Asia," said Laird in an interview. "We are moving into a similar situation in Thailand."

Expected Debate

The fallout from the position paper will provide more tinder for an expected crackling congressional debate — on bombing, troops and peace efforts — as soon as Congress reopens its doors Jan. 10.

But Laird argued that neither Congress nor the public can intelligently argue the issues without knowing U.S. objectives. And these, he said, had been left muddled by changing administration pronouncements.

Laird said these objectives as expressed by administration officials have varied from the aim to protect the independence and freedom of South Vietnam to the desire for negotiations to calls for total victory.

Now, Laird said, there are U.S. offers expressed at the Manila Conference and in the United Nations for a mutual withdrawal of troops.

Serious Miscalculation

"This confusion over objectives could cause a serious miscalculation," said the Wisconsin Republican. "It's incumbent on the commander in chief and upon all of us in responsible positions to set forth clearly the objectives of the United States."

But Laird and two other members of the GOP leadership in the House hinted they would like to see more effective bombing of military and supply targets in North Vietnam.

Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, chairman of the party's Policy Committee in the House, said "if we keep losing more airplanes, we should bomb air bases and SAM sites."

Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, head of the GOP Planning and Research Committee, said in another interview, "We should be hitting more of the truly militarily significant targets."

Laird said, "I don't think the bombing has had much effect on interdicting supplies."

He said he knew of little if any effort to strike at "the air and sea lifelines which are the major sources of supply" of the war materials entering North Vietnam.

Committee Might Dismiss Mrs. Powell

Elevated to $20,500 Post After Marriage To Congressman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Administration Committee said today he hopes it will accept a subcommittee recommendation that the estranged wife of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell be removed from the congressional pay roll.

In expressing the hope, Rep. Omar Burleson, D-Tex., declined to predict what action the committee would take at today's meeting.

However, a Republican member of the subcommittee that looked into expenditures by Powell's Education and Labor Committee said he expects the Administration Committee to

Knowles Revives Always-Ignored Ideal of Short, Decisive Legislature

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The brief, hard-working and decisive legislative session which Gov. Warren P. Knowles urged upon new legislators in his greetings to them Monday is one of the oldest dreams in statehouse politics.

But no one who has seen Wisconsin legislatures in action over the years is likely to wager that the governor's counsel for a session length of five or six months after the convening date on Jan. 11 is likely to be realized.

Obstacles include tradition, habit, the slow motion of the legislative clerical machinery in the first few months, the private convenience of the members who have private occupations to accommodate, and time consuming partisan competition.

Legislature Sensitive

Normally a governor would hesitate to give such advice to a legislature, and especially in Wisconsin where the legislative branch is sensitive about its rights and powers.

The principle of separation of powers, embodied in the constitution, makes the legislature the master of its own housekeeping, as the governor carefully acknowledged in his speech.

But there are signs that his recommendations were reviewed by the Republican majority legislative leadership before they were written, and that he had previous approval from the legislative branch for the idea of a protracted February recess.

that would be devoted entirely to committee hearings and decade.

Such a recess would be novel in Wisconsin legislative history, and could lead to time economies and make possible an earlier final adjournment, according to experts in legislative procedural affairs. It might also lead to closer legislative consideration of the major issues of the session, including the making of a budget which is likely to be the dominant problem in the legislative leader and desired new legislative term as it has, some time each week to conduct been the controlling theme of his private law practice.

Accused Triple Slayer Awaits Juvenile Delinquent Labeling

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — A judge may decide today if 14-year-old Ronnie Lee Ozio, accused of three New Year's Day killings, should be declared a juvenile delinquent.

Two witnesses told authorities the 5-foot, 100-pound youth killed his father, grandmother and stepmother-to-be with bullets from a 22-caliber rifle. One of the witnesses was stabbed in the back with a butcher knife.

Under Texas law, young Ozio could not be tried on a murder charge until his 17th birthday.

Atty. Roy S. Wingat said he would file a motion asking that young Ozio be adjudged delinquent. He then could be confined in a state reformatory, the usual procedure in such a case.

3 Victims

Victims were John A. Ozio, 39, father of Ronnie; Victoria Ozio, 77, the grandmother, and Bobby Mayberry, 35, of Foreman, Ark. Mrs. Mayberry, a divorcee, and Ozio were engaged to be married. They were killed in the Ozio unit of an apartment house.

Investigators would not discuss a possible motive. Relatives told them Ozio and Mrs. Mayberry first planned to wed before Christmas but put the nuptials off.

These sources expressed doubt, however, that the impending marriage had inspired resentment. Ronnie had returned Saturday from a two-week visit with the Mayberrys at Foreman.

Two children of Mrs. Mayberry survived the killings.

Keep Track of Presents With This Easy Gift Book

BY CAPPY DICK

What did you get for Christmas? What did you give? As time passes, it may become difficult to remember the answers to those questions, but the facts will be at your fingertips for years to come if you follow today's fun-project directions and start a gift record book.

Figures 1 and 2 show what the book will look like. Use any notebook you have available. Give it a fancy cover by printing the title in red (Figure 1) on a piece of green paper and gluing it to the front of the book.

When the record for the past Christmas has been completed, put the notebook away in a safe place until next Christmas when, after the holiday, you will make the entries for 1967.

Make new entries each year. This is a project that you can keep active throughout your lifetime.

Landmark in Filmdom Now Parking Lot

Hollywood Palace Becomes Memory Of World War II

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Wrecking crewmen paused a moment as they prepared to make another Hollywood landmark a parking lot.

"We tried to cut out some of the sidewalk that had handwriting on it," said Walt Legors, foreman. "We promised to give it to Janis Paige."

Janis Paige's first movie was "Hollywood Canteen."

The tangle Hollywood Canteen opened Oct. 3, 1942, in a night club that had been called The Barn. Recently it had become Le Grand Comedy Theater.

It was torn down Tuesday. Officials said the wood was beginning to rot.

During World War II, more than three million American servicemen sought entertainment there. Hundreds of stars

Jingo Praises WDUZ for Bringing

Songsters, Liverpool Quintet to Arena

BY JINGO

The area's blizzard conditions last week failed to keep roughly 4,000 persons — mostly in their teens — from attending the appearance of England's Herman's Hermits and the Hollies — including the founders, John Garfield and Bette Davis — were hosts and hostesses.

On opening night, Eddie Cantor was master of ceremonies. Kay Kyser, Duke Ellington and Rudy Vallee led bands.

Servicemen added their sidewalk autographs on Dec. 7, 1942, the first anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor.

On Sept. 15, 1945, 1st Sgt. Carl E.W. Bell of Rising Star, Tex., back from the South Pacific wearing a purple heart, walked into the canteen, its millionth guest.

Marlene Dietrich, Lana Turner and Deanna Durbin welcomed him with kisses. Said Bell, reddening: "Gosh, I'm married."

at Green Bay's Brown County Memorial Arena.

Sponsored by radio station WDUZ, Green Bay, the event must be termed a success. Jingo had expected far fewer persons in attendance, considering the weather. But it's hard to keep a screaming teen-bopper down.

Jingo saw Peter Noone, lead singer of the Hermits, back stage during intermission. The teen-age star appeared to be suffering from an illness that could only be caused by the weather. Despite his uncomfortable physical condition, Noone did his best on stage, but was further hampered by a bad mike.

Hits Welcomed

All things considered, the Hermits were enjoyable. They did several of their hits, including "East West," "Dandy," "A Must to Avoid," "Mrs. Brown, You've Got a Lovely Daughter" and "I'm Henry VIII, I Am."

The highlight of the show, however, was the Hollies. The Liverpool quintet is as proficient a rock group as Jingo has seen on stage, and those include such names as the Animals, Beach Boys, Paul Revere and the Raiders, Gary Lewis and the Playboys, Byrds, Tommy James and the Shondells, the Turtles, the Robbs and several others.

Including their chart-topping "Bus Stop," as well as "Stop, Stop, Stop," "I Can't Let Go" and others, the Hollies were perfect examples of what can and should be done on stage with rock music.

Great Performance

Not too loud, but with enough volume to overcome any screams, the group must have been the envy of area rock musicians in attendance — and Jingo noted several.

In the early days of Beatlemania, now nearly three years ago, the frenzy of such an appearance would have been so intense that any communication between performer and audience could not have existed. But now the hysteria has ebbled and the Hollies, in particular, kept a running dialogue in progress with their young fans.

Jingo has believed for quite a long time now that the Brown County Arena is the perfect spot for appearances by name pop music groups. Its capacity (Jingo would guess about 6,000 plus) makes feasible the appearance of almost any group, save the Beatles.

Hopes for More

Perhaps WDUZ will be encouraged by the turnout last Wednesday night and will attempt getting more name attractions. Jingo would like to see such groups as the Animals, Lovin' Spoonful, Mamas and Papas, Beach Boys, Yardbirds and many more. Each would be in the realm of possibility. Perhaps, with fingers crossed, Jingo could even hope to see the Rolling Stones there some day.

How about it, WDUZ? Are you bold enough to try it? The teens would pay almost any price to see Jagger and lot.

Rick Jason's Muscles Flex On Combat

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — Rick Jason as Lt. Hanley has a rare opportunity to flex his muscles on Combat in a fairly engrossing script which has him and a small band of faithful followers trapped in a cave. They have plenty of company, however: Germans like Skip Homeier and even Margaret O'Brien (remember her? the former child star) who plays a French girl, with a German deserter as a lover.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 4-5) — "The U.F.O. Affair" on The Girl From U.N.C.L.E. is another of those breezy nothings in which the series specializes. Imagine Fernando Lamas and Anthony Caruso who have ambitions to take over the royal palace of Kuwait with a "flying saucer." Also speculate on the sassy tongue of Joan Blondell, mother hen of a nervous harem, and Janet McLachlan as one of her noisier recruits. And if you can stand this then you will find it reasonable that heroine Stefanie Powers comes close to getting boiled in oil.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — Daktari drags along with another episode in which one of its leads (a human this time) is injured and must get medical aid. Our trusty doctor (Marshall Thompson) is the victim and it's up to Paula and Judy, the chimp, to carry him to safety. There is no doubt they will make it. But there are enough surprises on the way to widen the suspense: the camera lingers on a leopard which is stalking the trio; a lioness growls as she guards the only available water hole, and then there is some messy business with a crocodile.

7:30-8 (Channels 11-6-9) — The Rounders exits in a big way. In the last episode of the series (next week it will be replaced by The Invaders, which has a science fiction theme), Ben is concerned with why he is seeing an elephant after a big night on the town. Jim Ed Love isn't so convinced when he gets a feeding bill for 50 bales of hay.

7:30-8 (Channels 11-6-9) — Occasional Wife inspires a few laughs with "Alias Peter Paterson." Eunice Christopher is featured as a shy little thing who falls madly, and hard, for Michael Callan and his sophisticated wit. Our clever young hero, so quick at digging up make-believe wives, wards her off with a Swedish beauty (Susanne Cramer) just at the moment his boss wonders where his "real" wife is.

7:30-8:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — The Red Skelton Hour has one of its best programs of the season. There is a funny sketch involving guest Peter Falk as a colonel with a top-secret Pentagon project — a robot called Roberta who falls in love with Clem Kadiddlehopper. Jane Morgan is also on hand to sing "Monday, Monday" and a group of French songs in tribute to Edith Piaf. The Silent Spot has Red breaking his "New Year's Resolution" to be a better husband.

8-10 (Channels 4-5) — "A Touch of Larceny" on Tuesday Night at the Movies is one of those sly, but well-motivated comedies, which has James Mason as a British Naval officer who only has eyes for Vera Miles, an American beauty. When he discovers she is on the verge of marrying George Sanders, a British ambassador, no less, Mason goes to some wild extremes to hit the front pages and win some extra loot in a libel suit. (Black and White)

8:30-9 (Channels 11-6-9) — Love on a Rooftop is more interesting than usual. Just as our lovey dovey couple (Peter Deuel and Judy Carne) are ready to visit her parents to help them celebrate their 25th anniversary, they get a surprise of their young lives: mom has left dad and is determined to move in with them. Herbert Voland, a man who bellows easily, gets several opportunities to explode as he plays the injured husband with vigor.

9-10 (Channels 2-12); 10:30-11:30 (Channel 7) — Get your pencils ready for another TV quiz. The National Current Events Test, a special edition of the CBS Evening News with Walter Cronkite, wants to know what you know about the headlines. The test will concentrate on the significant stories of 1966 and even if you fail, you will learn a great deal about what happened during the past year.

Metropolitan Expansion Not Seen As Threatening Rural Country

The sprawling city is not, as a widespread flight of the some suspect, a great threat to middle and upper income popu- the open countryside.

"With 70 per cent of the nation's people presently living on one per cent of the land, it is unlikely that metropolitan ex- pansion will seriously threaten to devour our rural areas," said William L. Nelson, land plan- ning and development consult- ant in a Milwaukee firm.

He was speaking to a student forum recently at the University of Wisconsin College of Agricul- ture.

The real threat to the coun- try, Nelson warned, lies in the philosophy which developed in fundamental economic and so- cial problems brought about by views the city as morally and physically degraded. This philosophy, plus im- proved transportation and greater affluence, has produced the present migration from the city.

The exodus from the city is harming both the rural areas and the cities, Nelson declared. But the threat to the city is the greatest. The economic costs of the exodus are staggering with possibly the greatest ultimate cost in social and humanistic values. A racially and econom- ically divided people — the well-to-do whites in the country and the poor and non-whites in the city — is evolving from these migration patterns, Nelson said.

Exodus of Wealth

With the exodus of wealth, the heart of the city decays. This exodus, which has already be- gun, leaves the city not only in social chaos, but also in a physical degenerative state.

For the nation's domestic stability, it is essential to solve this problem and not let cities deteriorate even further, Nelson stated. City life can and should be made attractive, clean, safe, enriching and exciting. The cost of rebuilding the nation's large cities is conservatively esti- mated at well over a trillion dollars. But America can and must afford this, he said.

"We have the technical knowledge and resources to rebuild our cities. The only factor preventing the rebuilding of our cities today is our anti-city philosophy. And once we change this attitude and realize that the city can indeed be a desirable and exciting living area, then we will have made a great step toward improving our cities and strengthening our nation."

Rain Is Expected Tonight from the mid-Atlantic states to Florida, changing to snow in the Appala- chians. Snow also is predicted in the northern Plateau. Rain is forecast in the northern Pacific coastal states. It will be colder in the Midwest and a little warmer in the Plains and Rockies. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Sharp Rise in Stock Market

Recovers After Heavy Selling Of End of 1966

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1967 stock market made its debut with a sharp rise today. Trading was moderate early this afternoon.

The market recovered from heavy tax-loss selling and spurred from the start. Initial trading was heavy. It moderated soon, however.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 9.46 at 795.15.

Boeing, whose design for the supersonic air transport (SST) was chosen above Lockheed's, spurred 3 1/4 to 68 1/4 on a de- layed opening block of 100,000 shares.

Lockheed sank 4 1/4 to 62 on 40,000 shares, also a delayed block.

General Electric, picked to produce the engine for the SST, rose 2 to 90 1/2 on an opening block of 5,500 shares then trimmed a fraction from the price in later dealings.

Many other companies which are subcontractors in the SST development rose in price.

The rise came after a series of four straight daily declines in the final week of 1966. Be- cause of the steep decline in 1966 there were many more tax-loss transactions to reckon with, brokers said, and the mere re- lease of those pressures gave the market good reason to ad- vance today.

In addition, steels and oils benefitted from Wall Street rec- ommendations. Steels were es- pecially strong.

Fairchild Hiller, a major sub- contractor for the SST, rose 2 1/4 to 18 1/2 on 39,000 shares.

Xerox, which announced a se- ries of price adjustments, ran up half a dozen points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 3.2 at 2.94 with industrials up 4.9, rails up 1.9 and utilities up 1.1.

Prices were mostly higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Sophomore Back Paces Florida to Orange Bowl Win

Larry Smith Sets Record With 187 Yards in 27-12 Triumph

By RON SPEER
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Coach Ray Graves says Florida's football team finally has proven it belongs in the big time, and the Gators have a young halfback who should be able to keep them there for the next couple of years.

The Gators have had only one losing season in seven years under Graves, but they never have won a Southeastern Conference title and until Monday night never had won in a big bowl except at the Gator Bowl.

"A lot of people wondered if Florida was a big enough team for this kind of a bowl game, and I think we showed we are," Graves said after the Gators whipped Georgia Tech 27-12 in the Orange Bowl.

Season Record
The victory gave Florida a 9-2 record for the season, and although the Gators lose Heisman Trophy winner Steve Spurrier, they have a youngster who may be able to take his place.

Halfback Larry Smith led the Gators' past Tech when Spurrier's passing arm faltered, and the 215-pound speedster is only a sophomore.

Smith rushed for a record 187 yards and raced 94 yards for the winning touchdown on the longest run from scrimmage in Orange Bowl history.

"Smith has been a good runner for us all year," Graves said after the victory. "About 15 times he has been within one shoe of going all the way, and this time he finally did it."

Missed Practice
"That run couldn't have come at a better time," added Graves, who said that Spurrier had a sore arm and had missed practice because of distractions brought on by his Heisman award.

"Steve is still a great ball player, and he put that ball in the end zone for us just before the half when we really needed to get on that scoreboard," Graves said.

Trailing 6-0, Spurrier sent the Gators on a 66-yard drive capped by Graham McKeel's one-yard scoring plunge which Ray Graves says Florida's football team finally has proven it belongs in the big time, and the Gators have a young halfback who should be able to keep them there for the next couple of years.

Smith contributed his record touchdown dash in the third quarter, and the Gators wrapped it up in the last period with McKeel scoring again on a plunge and Harmon Wages passing five yards for a touchdown to Jack Coons.

10-Yard Pass
Georgia Tech, which scored in the first quarter on a surge capped by Kim King's 10-yard scoring toss to Craig Baynam, cut the gap in the fourth quarter when reserve quarterback Larry Good scooted 25 yards for the last Tech touchdown.

Graves and Tech Coach Bobby Dodd both praised the Gators' defenses, which picked off four passes.

"Our defense played a great game," Graves said. "The pass rush was tremendous, and the secondary play was the best we have had in a long time."

Running of Smith
Dodd, whose team completed only four of 22 passes for a total of 128 yards, said, "Florida's defense hurt us. It's a lot better than people thought."

"But I've said all along Florida's defense was the best part of their game,"

Dodd, who was Graves' former teacher when the Florida coach worked at Tech, said the running of Smith was what beat the Yellow Jackets.

"Smith hurt us more than Spurrier did. Smith was terrific," Dodd said, "and he will be great later on."

Graves, whose teams were blanked the last three times they played Tech, said he thought the Gators' rugged pre-game workouts paid off.

"I think we were in better condition," he said. "We got stronger as the game went on, and we came back to win."

The Gators had double workouts several days last week in secret drills.

Not Ready to Retire
Dodd, whose loss was only the fourth in 13 post-season trips, said he was not yet ready to retire as Tech coach, although he left the impression he may step down in the future.

Asked about speculation that the game might be his last after 22 seasons as Tech's head coach, Dodd said, "When I do decide to retire it will be properly announced."

The defeat left the eighth-ranked Yellow Jackets with a 9-2 mark for the season.

"It's a fake run and rollout to the weak side. The weak side linebacker will come up on the play, which gives us a chance to get outside of him."

"But Dave Robinson made a real strong move to the outside and took away our option," Meredith reported. He shrugged his shoulders and added, "It was fourth down and I had one receiver in the end zone and I had to put the ball up there."

His all-pro colleague, defensive tackle Bob Lilly, said the Packers' new offensive blocking system hadn't been a personal problem. "It didn't bother me a whole lot," the massive TCU alumnus said in a low voice.

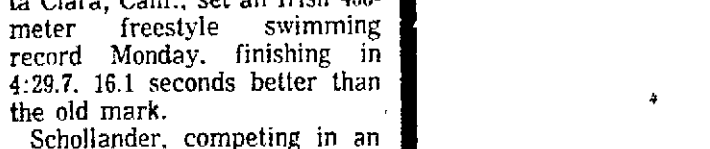

"But it sure opened up some holes ... I was doing what I was supposed to do, but they were going outside."

"We felt the tendency about half time, but we didn't change until about the fourth quarter. I guess," he added dryly, "that comes with experience."

New 400-Meter Mark Set by Schollander
BELFAST (AP) — Olympic champion Don Schollander, Santa Clara, Calif., set an Irish 400-meter freestyle swimming record Monday, finishing in 4:29.7, 16.1 seconds better than the old mark.

Schollander, competing in an international meet, finished two yards ahead of Alan Kimber of England.

Packers had faced this year. They proved it in the first quarter. Green Bay took a 14-0 lead on Starr's touchdown pass to Elijah Pitts and Grabowski's return.

But before the quarter was over, Dallas tied the score on a 3-yard smash by Dan Reeves and a 23-yard run by Don Perkins. The defending champions were really in a game. Green Bay had allowed only 13 points in the first quarters of their entire league schedule. Here, Dallas had scored 14. It was sobering.

The halftime score, 21-17, was established early in the second quarter on Starr's 51-yard scoring pass to Carroll Dale and an 11-yard field goal by Danny Villanueva.

Lead Reduced
Green Bay finished the third quarter in front, 28-20, on a 32-yard field goal that reduced the Pack lead to 21-20 and Starr's 16-yard touchdown pass to Boyd Dowler.

The fourth quarter was a killer, but it didn't start out that way. Starr unloaded a 28-yard TD pass to Max McGee with 5:20 left and it looked like the clincher — until Don Chandler's try for the point was partially blocked by Bob Lilly. That made it 34-20 and Dalls could still tie.

Five plays later, Meredith and Frank Clarke worked a 68-yard of the championship-game record of five set by Luckman in 1946.

Starr was mixing his passes beautifully, often throwing on first down and thus keeping the Cowboy defense uncertain. He threw on second down and seven yards to go for the touchdown to Pitts, first and 10 to Dale, second and nine to Dowler and third and 19 to McGee.

Starr's favorite target was Dale who led all receivers with five catches for 123 yards. Jim Taylor also caught five — for 23 yards, and Fleming came up with three clutch catches for 50 yards in the second half.

Pitts led the Packers with 66 yards in 12 carries, including a 32-yard quick-opener on the first play of the game. Perkins picked up 108 for the Cowboys.

Meredith, playing in his first title game, was a gallant workman and heralded his forces beautifully under some trying times. He finished with 15 completions in 31 attempts for one TD. He had one interception — the killer by Brown.

The Packer defense never was pressured like this all season but the proud unit had it in the clutch. Willie Davis hurt his leg early in the game, a great advantage for the Cowboys. He gutted it out and got in on seven tackles but the injury harmed the Pack's chances of pressuring Meredith, who was caught twice for seven yards.

The Final Hero
It was heart-warming that the Packers' defense turned out to be the final hero — since this defense played so heroically during the 12-2 league season. The big gun had to be Brown, the former major league base-

Packers Are Thinking 'Green'

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, apparently sound of wind and limb after winning their fourth National Football League championship in six years, relaxed today amid the whiteness of Wisconsin's winter wonderland.

But the thoughts of some members were green: —The green of the turf in Los Angeles Coliseum where they will meet the Kansas City Chiefs, champions of the American Football League, in the Super Bowl Jan. 15.

—The green of $15,000 guaranteed each man on the winning team in that game while each loser gets $7,500.

Each Packer earned an estimated $8,500 for defeating the Dallas Cowboys 34-27 in a thriller at Dallas Sunday for the NFL crown.

Calls Meeting
Packer Coach Vince Lombardi has called a meeting of the team for Wednesday. A club spokesman said workouts for the Super Bowl game will start Thursday.

The Packers plan to leave next Monday for the West Coast for practice sessions at a site which has not been announced.

The title game at Dallas, as exciting a contest as any in NFL annals, began with the Packers apparently headed for a rout and ended with Cowboys storing the goal line in an effort to push the game into sudden death overtime.

When the Packer plane landed at Green Bay early Monday morning in a welcoming crowd carried a sign reading, Lombardi For President In '68.

Guard Jerry Kramer summed things up in this fashion: "Every year you think winning this game can't get any bigger. Yet it does."

"With the Super Bowl ahead of us, winning this game was more important than ever. The money is unquestionably a big thing. But it's really more than that."

"We wanted to be in it. We like to think that we've been the symbol of the NFL over the last few years. And we want to win it for the NFL."

Dave Robinson Sort Of 'Forgotten' After Brown's Interception

Post-Crescent News Service

DALLAS — Back in September, when the National Football League's 1966 race was in its infancy, burly Dave Robinson took note of the then recent pro football merger and declared, "with about $16,000 riding on the two playoffs, everyone who beats you is taking $1,000 out of your pocket."

"So I treat the man I'm facing like he's trying to steal $1,000 from me," he chuckled. "I try to manhandle him. If you do that for 16 weeks, you might get that $16,000."

Robbie, whose estimate turned out to be a little conservative (the double playoff take will hit approximately $23,500), made his approach pay dazzling dividends in Sunday's twilight title struggle with the Dallas Cowboys on the floor of the capacious Cotton Bowl.

timore Colts of the National Football League.

Perkins is ticketed to be the eventual replacement for the aging Raymond Berry.

"We don't give out information about how much Johnny Unitas makes and we don't give it out about our new signees," said Don Kelleff, executive vice president of the Colts.

But a reliable source said the pact calls for Perkins to receive $250,000 and a three-year no-cut contract.

Survived Head Injury

Perkins, redshirted his sophomore year because of the head injury, was drafted by the Colts and the American League Boston Patriots a year ago as a future.

He collected seven passes-all from Stabler — in the Sugar Bowl and accounted for 178 yards.

The slender Stabler nosed out Perkins for the most valuable player award. Stabler accounted for 218 yards passing, completing 12 of 18 tosses, and was also the game's top rusher with 38 yards.

Bryant let senior Wayne Trimble, his reserve signal-caller, play much of the game.

"I thought it was my best game," said Stabler. "I think we could have beaten Notre Dame today."

Alabama wound up the regular season as the nation's only major college eleven with an unbeaten, untied record. But the Tide was denied its third consecutive national championship in The Associated Press poll.

Alabama finished third behind Notre Dame No. 1, and Michigan State, No. 2, the teams that played a 10-10 tie.

Bryant calls his 1966 team "the greatest college football team I've ever seen or ever been associated with."

That means the Bear thinks they're better than his 1961, 1964 or 1965 squads, which won the national championship.

Legend Grows

The Bryant legend was given another boost when his team came on the field for the kickoff. After three days of rain, it stopped minutes before game time and the sun actually peeked through the overcast for a few minutes.

"We prayed for rain," said Devaney. "We should have prayed for a driving rain."

18 yards to paydirt, added, "When anybody scores for us, I always yell, 'way to go.' This time," he added with a sheepish grin, "I said the same thing to myself as soon as I hit the end zone."

"When I first saw the ball pop into the open," Grabo continued, "I just looked at it and said to myself, 'There's the ball.' And, out of the corner of my eye, I saw the referee looking at it. When it hit, I thought, 'I don't know if it's legal, but I'm going to find out.'"

Carroll Dale, the erstwhile Tennessee greyhound who has become one of the NFL's premier long ball specialists, was surprised that his 51-yard second quarter touchdown collaboration with Bart Starr came about.

"Like Bart said after the play, it was a little underthrown," Dale reported, "and Cornell Green, the defensive back who was covering me, was in position to knock the ball down, or intercept it."

"I think he misjudged it — it went under his arm, so I was fortunate to catch it. It landed in my arms and stuck. It's one of those things you have to thank the man upstairs for," the modest ex-Ram observed.

Although thrown five times while attempting to pass, Starr termed his protection "outstanding," then documented his point.

"When you play against a team like theirs and throw as much as we did today, you've got to expect to get caught once in a while. And, I might point out, a number of times I almost got away — I was about to step up ... I thought the pass protec-

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Behnke

Here's a sports teaser we heard recently . . . What player during his career caught a touchdown pass from Y. A. Tittle and hit a home run off Sandy Koufax? . . . Answer is Alvin Dark, now manager of the Kansas City A's . . . Dark caught a TD pass from Tittle when they both played college football at LSU . . . And Dark hit a home run off Koufax during his baseball career in the National League.

Did you ever realize that the distance just around the bases in baseball is LONGER than the distance from one end of a football field to the other . . . In baseball, it's 90 feet between each base; and so if a player started at home plate and traveled around the bases once and back to home, he would have gone 360 feet or 120 yards — or, 20 yards more than if he had gone from one goal line to the other in football.

Here's a hockey record that's almost unbelievable — in fact veteran hockey experts still find it hard to accept — but it happened . . . Did you know that a National Hockey League player once scored three goals within 21 seconds! . . . The man who achieved this feat was Bill Mosienko of the Chicago Black Hawks . . . In a 1952 game, Mosienko netted three goals in 21 seconds against New York to set a big league hockey record that could stand for all-time.

Starr Only Second QB To Lead 4 Champions

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — It was about a month ago that Jack Christiansen, the San Francisco 49ers coach, said of Bart Starr: "If Green Bay goes on and wins the championship, they ought to give Bart Starr about 10 shares."

If the Packers had another vote today they might very well cut in their quarterback for an extra piece of that big money ahead in the Jan. 15 Super Bowl.

an outstanding approach to the game."

"It's been true all year — they always have a fine game plan, but this was exceptional. They did an outstanding job of putting the offense together."

Herb Adderley modestly shrugged off plaudits for his coverage of the Cowboys' mercurial Bob Hayes, asserting, "I had a lot of help — from 10 other guys."

"They only threw to him once on my side. He ran a post pattern and the pass was overthrown."

"He was conscious we were coming up," Adderley informed in reply to a question. "I think he was looking to see if we were going to hit him and also trying to watch the ball. 'It's pretty hard to keep your eye on the ball when you're looking around like that.'"

"They kept him on those little turnouts of six or seven yards. I didn't want to gamble on their setting me up for the bomb, so I stayed back. I figured if they beat us, it would be with the bomb."

Starr, a veteran of 11 seasons of pro ball, joins Sid Luckman as the only quarterback to have led their teams to four NFL championships. Luckman did it with the Chicago Bears in 1940-41-43-46. Starr's titles came in 1961-62-65-66. His only defeat was in 1960 when the Packers lost to Philadelphia.

"I don't give any thought to individual performances at all," said the modest Alabama grad. "This is a game for 40 men. When you win it's great for all 40."

Although Starr led the NFL's passers, completed 62.2 per cent of his passes and averaged 8.99 yards per throw, it has been popular to low rate him as reluctant to go to the long ball.

Starr showed he could throw the long one Sunday when he hit with 19 of 28 for 304 yards, including TD pitches of 17 to Elijah Pitts, 51 to Carroll Dale, 16 to Boyd Dowler and 28 to Max McGee.

He threw on second down and seven yards to go for the score to Pitts, first and ten to Dale, second and nine to Dowler and third and 19 to McGee.

In the Packers' drive for the score that proved to be the winner, Starr came up with vital first downs when the Packers were on third down with the yardages of 19, 12 and 19.

"We didn't go into the game with any plan to throw long," he said. "We thought we would try if the circumstances dictated it, just as we had done all season. It wasn't unusual that I threw touchdowns to four different receivers. That's basic in our pass offense, to use a lot of receivers."

In five championship games Starr has completed 69 of 118 passes for 56.7 percentage, 878

SPECIAL LIMITED ENROLLMENT! EXPIRES MIDNIGHT, FEBRUARY 5, 1967

A board of doctors creates a new kind of health plan for people over 40 only!

Gives you extra cash* over and above your present hospital insurance for the “danger years” ahead and—for the first time—actually pays money to help keep you well!

If you are over 40, you can qualify for the new 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN, if you mail your Enrollment Form no later than Midnight, February 5, 1967—and you can enroll for only $1.00!

This, surely, is among the greatest values, as well as the most unusual health insurance program, ever offered to men and women over 40! Think of it. Simply by the stroke of your pen, you can now get the valuable “extra cash” protection you’ve wanted at the very time when you are most apt to need it... all at a cost substantially less than you might expect!

How the 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN Differs from Ordinary Health Insurance
The 40-PLUS Benefit Plan has been created by an insurance company run by doctors, the Physicians Mutual Insurance Company, which has specialized in health and accident protection for physicians, surgeons and dentists exclusively for more than 63 years. Now this fine old “doctors company” offers a wonderful new “extra cash” plan to men and women over 40! And you may enroll during this Limited Enrollment Period—without having to see a company representative and without any red tape.

In short, if you are over 40, you can now qualify for 40-PLUS. No other qualifications are required—provided you enroll during this Limited Enrollment Period.

How 40-PLUS Helps Your Doctor Keep You Well
As you know, and as your doctor will tell you, people who have regular physical examinations have a better chance to stay well and live longer. For example, doctors know that if cancer is discovered in its early stages there is a much better chance of curing it. To encourage you to see your doctor regularly, 40-PLUS will pay up to $10 to help pay the cost of an annual routine physical check-up. You see your own doctor any time within 60 days after you receive your notice—but only if you want to.

But, of course, even if you see your doctor regularly, you can still be struck by sudden accident or illness and land in the hospital tomorrow. This is especially true during the dangerous “over 40” years when cancer, heart attack and other serious diseases are most apt to strike. That’s why 40-PLUS also pays extra cash benefits direct to you—in addition to any other insurance or Medicare—for you to use any way you wish.

40-PLUS and the “Danger Years”
Of course, like most people over 40, you probably have some hospital insurance. But, as everyone knows, the most complete hospital insurance—even Medicare—simply doesn’t cover everything. The fact is, you need more protection.

But now that you’re over 40, now that you’ve entered the “danger years,” it may be difficult to obtain the extra protection you need at a price you can afford—or, because of the condition of your health, you may not be able to obtain it at any price!

That’s why the new 40-PLUS Benefit Plan is so important to you—it brings you the hard-to-obtain “over 40” protection you need, at remarkably low rates. For only pennies a day, 40-PLUS will give you extra cash to help fill the “financial gap” probably not covered by your present insurance or Medicare.

And remember this—even if your basic hospital expenses are covered—you’ll still need help with all your regular household expenses!

Think for a moment—if you’re a husband, father and breadwinner, and you’re suddenly hospitalized, what happens? Your income stops. Your expenses go up. Even if you have some kind of “salary insurance,” it probably won’t come close to replacing your full-time pay. It’s quite likely that you and your family will never fully recover the tremendous financial loss!

If you’re a wife, mother and homemaker, and are suddenly hospitalized, what happens? Who will look after your family, see that the children get hot meals, are properly clothed? Who will do the laundry, the marketing, the cleaning? Your husband may lose time from his job... friends and relatives may have to help out temporarily... you may even have to hire full-time domestic help! Everything will be upset! Debts may be incurred, savings may be lost—worse still, peace of mind may be shattered, and even recovery can be seriously delayed!

If you’re over 65, and are suddenly hospitalized, what happens? Medicare won’t pay all of your hospital expenses or any of your household expenses. Most senior citizens can’t afford to dip into savings it may have taken a lifetime to accumulate... or become a “burden” to their children or community. Surely you wouldn’t want to become “dependent” after all the years it has taken you to secure your independence.

Now you can stop worrying—now that you can obtain the remarkable two-way protection of 40-PLUS. Actually, important as all these extra cash benefits are, they are far from the only advantages you can now enjoy... if you act before the enrollment deadline.

For example:

Benefits Tax-Free—Can’t Be Reduced
■ For as long as you live and continue to pay your premiums, we will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—and we guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state. Furthermore, your benefits will never be reduced—and all your benefits are tax-free!

Pays In Addition To Your Other Insurance
■ Yes, the 40-PLUS Benefit Plan pays you extra cash in addition to any other company’s health insurance you may carry, individual or group—even pays you in addition to Medicare! Of course, you may have only one like policy with Physicians Mutual.

Surprisingly Low Cost
■ With these wonderful “keep well” and “get better” benefits, you might expect 40-PLUS to cost much more than other health plans—but, in fact, it costs considerably less than you might expect! Only $3.95 a month from age 40 through age 64—only $6.95 a month when you are 65 or over—no additional premiums can ever be assessed—and, regardless of your age, your first month is only $1.00!

A Respected Company
■ As important as all the valuable benefits, the low cost, and ease of enrollment is this vital fact: Your policy is backed by the resources, integrity and reputation of the Physicians Mutual Insurance Company, “the doctors company,” specializing in health and accident protection for physicians, surgeons and dentists all across America, for more than 63 years. Doctors right in your own community know about us and may actually be insured by Physicians Mutual. (If this is the first you have heard of Physicians Mutual, it’s probably because this is one of the very few offerings it has made to the general public.) Serving hundreds of thousands of policyholders throughout the United States direct by mail, Physicians Mutual has its headquarters in Omaha, Nebraska, and is licensed and incorporated in that state. Its Board of Directors is composed entirely of respected members of the medical, dental and insurance professions.

How Can They Offer So Much For So Little?
The question is a sensible one; and the answer makes good sense, too: By encouraging our members to see their doctors for routine check-ups each year... we hope to be able to keep more people out of the hospital. This means lower claims costs.

In addition, we have lower total sales costs. 40-PLUS is a mass enrollment plan. All business is conducted directly between you and the company by mail. No salesmen or investigators are used.

It all adds up to real savings we share with you by giving you high quality protection at low cost.

Easy to Enroll—No Red Tape—No Salesman Will Call!

Simply fill out the short Enrollment below and mail it with $1.00 for your first month’s coverage! We will issue your 40-PLUS Benefit Policy (Form P302 Series) immediately—the same day your Enrollment is received. This automatically puts your policy in force. Along with your policy, you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form. When you need your benefits, you can be sure that your claim will be given “top priority” treatment. In addition, we’ll see to it that you receive special forms yearly to take to your doctor for your physical examination.

$100 NO RISK ENROLLMENT OFFER

There’s No Risk or Obligation—Read Your Policy Before You Decide!
When you receive your policy, you’ll see that it is direct, honest, easy-to-understand. But—and please note this carefully—if for any reason you change your mind, you may return your policy in 10 days and we will promptly refund your dollar!

Don’t Wait Until the Deadline to Enroll!
Remember, the sooner we receive your Enrollment, the sooner 40-PLUS will cover you! So it’s best you fill out and return your Enrollment now, before the deadline date arrives.

(Two Enrollments are provided below so that husbands and wives may both enroll. In that case, please be sure to enclose $1.00 for each Enrollment.)

URGENT
WHY THIS OFFER HAS A DEADLINE AND WHY YOU SHOULD ENROLL NOW

This plan is offered to people over 40 without any qualifications only during this limited enrollment period. All you need to do is fill in the form below and mail it with your dollar. Your Enrollment must be postmarked no later than Midnight of the date on the form below—otherwise it cannot be accepted.

Your policy will be issued the same day we receive your Enrollment, which is why you have nothing to gain by waiting for the last minute. In fact you can actually lose. An unexpected sickness or accident could strike without warning—and you will not be covered until your policy is in force.

You are wise to play it safe by enrolling now. Only $1 pays for your first month. Remember: if for any reason you change your mind, you may return your policy within 10 days and your dollar will be promptly refunded. Since there’s no obligation and you risk nothing, why not mail your Enrollment today?

$100 a week paid direct to you in addition to any other hospital insurance—even Medicare!

Here’s how this valuable “extra cash” protection pays off in your time of need: $100 a week ($14.28 a day) will be paid directly to you from the very first day of hospital confinement, for as long as 52 weeks, each time you are hospitalized for a new sickness or accident! You get paid for every day—even if you are hospitalized for only one day—as much as $5200 for a full year! Even if you are hospitalized for a full year and have received your full $5200 in benefits, if you should be so unfortunate as to be hospitalized again—you are still entitled to all benefits all over again, as long as you have been out of the hospital for at least six months between your

Important: Here is a real “plus” for you if you have been told you are uninsurable. Even if you have suffered from chronic ailments in the past, the kinds of conditions that come back again and again or are likely to recur, 40-PLUS will cover you for these pre-existing conditions after your policy has been in force for two years.

Naturally, 40-PLUS will cover you for any new accident or sickness. Accidents are covered

Your Guide to 40-Plus Benefits 17 Important Questions Answered

- 1. What is the 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN?
It is a new health insurance plan for people over 40 only—that pays an extra cash income direct to you when you are hospitalized and, in addition, provides a physical examination benefit each year to help your doctor keep you well.
- 2. Why do I need 40-PLUS in addition to my regular health insurance or Medicare?
Probably your present hospital insurance—even Medicare—won’t cover all your hospital expenses. But even if it did, you would still need help to pay all your regular household expenses while you are hospitalized.
- 3. Can I collect in addition to any other health insurance or Medicare?
Yes. 40-PLUS pays you in addition to any other company’s health insurance you carry, group or individual—even in addition to Medicare! Of course, you may have only one like policy with Physicians Mutual.
- 4. Is there a lot of red tape to qualify?
No. The only qualification is that you be 40 or over—even people over 65 are welcome.
- 5. If I become hospitalized, when do my benefits begin?
$100 a week ($14.28 a day) will be paid directly to you from the very first day of hospital confinement.
- 6. How long will I be paid?
For as long as 52 weeks (as much as $5200.00) while you are hospitalized for each new sickness or accident. If the full 52 weeks has been used, and the same condition recurs, a new 52-week period will be provided if 6 months has elapsed between hospital confinements.

- 7. When does my policy go into force?
It becomes effective on the date your Enrollment is received. Accidents are covered on that date. After your policy has been in force for 30 days, you are covered for sicknesses which begin thereafter.
- 8. What if I have had a health problem that may occur again?
Pre-existing conditions are covered after your policy has been in force for two years.
- 9. What conditions aren’t covered?
Only the usual exceptions: war, military service, mental disorder or alcoholism, or any condition covered by Workmen’s Compensation or Employers Liability Laws.
- 10. Does 40-PLUS pay in any hospital?
You will be covered in any hospital anywhere in the world that makes a charge for room and board, except nursing homes, convalescent or self-care units of hospitals, Federal hospitals, or any hospital primarily for treatment of tuberculosis, alcoholism, drug addiction or mental disorder.
- 11. Can I drop out any time? Can you drop me?
No matter how many claims you make or how much you collect, we will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—for as long as you live. We guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state. You, of course, can drop your policy on any renewal date.
- 12. Will my claims be handled promptly?
Yes. With your policy, you will receive a - simple, easy-to-use Claim Form. Your claims will be processed quickly and your checks will be sent directly to you.

- 13. How do I get my “Physical” each year?
40-PLUS actually pays your own doctor up to $10 annually toward your routine physical examination (but only if you want it). You receive special forms yearly to take to your doctor, so that he can give you your check-up within 60 days.
 - 14. Why are the premiums so low?
Because this is a mass enrollment plan—and no salesmen are used—our volume is higher and our total sales costs are lower.
 - 15. How much does my first month cost?
Only $1.00, regardless of age. After your first month, you pay only $3.95 a month until age 65; only $6.95 a month from age 65 and over.
 - 16. Why is there a “deadline” date?
In order to offer the Plan to people over 40 without any qualifications and still maintain our low rate, we can only make the Plan available on this basis during a limited enrollment period! The deadline date is firm—we cannot accept your Enrollment unless postmarked on or before that date.
 - 17. Why should I enroll right now?
Because an unexpected sickness or accident could strike without warning—and you will not be covered until your policy is in force. Remember, if for any reason you change your mind, you may return your policy within 10 days and your $1.00 will be refunded immediately.

Knowles Appeals for Speed in Legislature

Takes Oath of Office as 38th Governor of State; Cites High Priority Needs

BY TIM WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Warren P. Knowles was sworn into his second term as Wisconsin's 38th governor Monday, and marked the occasion by making an unusual special appeal to the combined session of the Legislature for reforms for speedier action from the state's deliberative body.

The special address, delivered just three hours after he had taken the oath of office along with other state officials in the jammed rotunda of the state capitol, was marked by three suggestions for quicker and more efficient action from the Legislature.

Knowles called for a split session soon after the Legislature convenes next week to allow for budget and high priority bill considerations without the hectic pace of daily sessions, a longer work week for the two houses, and a session that does not last more than five to six months.

The split session, tried by the 1963 Legislature, would allow the two houses to meet from convening on Jan. 11th until Knowles' special budget message on Jan. 26th, and then to recess until committee reports are prepared.

Priority Bills
Knowles said that during the recess the committee could consider the budget bill and other matters which it considers of high priority.

The plan, he said, will allow legislators to devote full time to a period of intensive, uninterrupted committee work.

"The hearings could be held without interruption on a daily basis, enabling the committee members to devote their attention to the presentation—and to use the additional time for study and development of information on legislation and the budget bill," the governor said.

Assembly minority leader of the 1967 session Robert Huber, D-West Allis, reacted to Knowles' suggestion by saying that, "I wasn't overwhelmed with the success of the plan in the 1963 session, but I'm willing to try it again. But it cannot be used only for the budget bill considerations."

Huber blasted Knowles for "telling the Legislature to get out of here in six months. The time to adjourn is when the work is done, especially since we are getting $8,400 a year," he said.

Knowles had said, in summing up his suggestions, "I hope you will agree with me that, by making use of available time, this Legislature can complete its work in five to six months."

State's Final Toll Hits 1,118

9 in Wisconsin Die Over Holiday; 446 Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Death rode on Wisconsin highways through the New Year's holiday period which ended at midnight.

Nine persons died in state traffic accidents in the long weekend which began Friday evening, seven since the start of the New Year.

On this date a year ago, the grim count was nine.

When 1966 was ushered into history, Wisconsin had lost 1,118 lives on its roads—the highest by 59 of any year in state history.

Drops Sharply
The nation's traffic-death toll during the extended New Year weekend dropped sharply from last year's record and was below estimates made by safety experts.

During the 78-hour holiday period, from 6 p.m., (local time) Friday to midnight Monday, 446 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents.

Not Against Constitution

Supreme Court Rules Pollution Law Is Valid

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The state's new war on pollution is legal and will be allowed to continue, the state Supreme Court ruled today.

In a major test case brought by officers of the Department of Resource Development, the high court ruled that the mechanism created to finance interest payments for localities involved in cleaning up dirty water does not violate the state's constitutional bar against spending for internal improvements.

The decision is expected to allow the state to proceed in its fight against pollution by enabling it to make interest payments perhaps totaling as high as $300 million during the next three decades.

Honor Orders
The decision orders Clarence A. Reuter, state director of finance, to honor all purchase orders and payment vouchers of the newly restructured agency, a technicality which will enable the pollution fighters to carry on their war.

The agency started work last August after being assigned the anti-pollution tasks of 12 other state agencies in a major consolidation effort of the 1965 legislature.

The decision answers three major questions of legal critics of the new agency. It deals with whether the legislature authorized payment of state money for problems not of statewide concern, whether it spends the credit of the state illegally, and whether it violates the bar against internal improvements.

Hanley Opinion
The decision for an order to honor a $54 voucher sent to Reuter was written for the court by Justice Leo Hanley.

"The statewide importance of water pollution abatement in any given locality of the state is obvious since our rivers, streams, lakes and tributaries are not confined by municipal boundaries," he wrote. "The abatement of water pollution is essential to the health and welfare of all the people of the state. The primary reason in constructing pollution abatement facilities is to protect the health of all citizens of the state"

North Vietnam Rejects British Talks Proposal

Hanoi Newspaper Says Brown's Move Was a 'Foul Act'

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam today rejected the British proposal for peace talks with the United States and South Vietnam, declaring the British purpose was to force the Vietnamese people to "accept the insolent terms put by the U. S. imperialists."

Both the United States and South Vietnam gave a favorable response to British Foreign Secretary George Brown's proposal last week that they join North Vietnam in peace talks on British soil.

North Vietnam's official newspaper Nhan Dan reiterated Communist terms for peace today and rapped Britain for suggesting a conference.

Denounced by Pravda
"Such a foul act on the part of the British government completely runs counter to the responsibility of Britain as a co-chairman of the 1954 Geneva Conference on Vietnam," it said.

The Soviet Union, the other conference co-chairman, denounced the British appeal earlier. Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, suggested today that the British took the initiative because Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government found itself "under an exceedingly strong pressure of public opinion demanding its disavowal."

Soviet President Might Meet Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Vatican sources said today that Pope Paul VI will receive Nikolai V. Podgorny, the president of the Soviet Union, in an unprecedented audience Jan. 29.

No pope has ever received a Soviet head of state since the 1917 Bolshevik revolution.

The Vatican has made no announcement of the audience, and the Vatican press office said today it had no information. But other sources said arrangements were being made for the Pope to receive Podgorny privately in his study three days after the president completes an official visit to Italy.

In Dallas Hospital

Ruby Dies of Cancer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, the slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, died of cancer today, Parkland Hospital officials said.

Time of death was reported at 10:30 a.m.

Ruby had been under guard in Parkland Hospital suffering from cancer since Dec. 9, when he was removed from his Dallas County jail cell.

The former Dallas strip-tease joint owner was convicted and sentenced to death for the slaying before a national television audience of Lee Harvey Oswald. Oswald was identified by the Warren commission as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Ruby was first reported to have pneumonia when Sheriff

Bill Decker ordered him taken to the hospital, but doctors quickly diagnosed cancer that they said was widespread.

Sheriff's officers at 10:30 a.m. would neither deny nor confirm that Ruby had died. The sheriff's department has been issuing twice-daily bulletins on Ruby's condition but had delayed the morning bulletin.

Shootings Came After Argument Early Sunday

KIMBERLY — Eight children aged 7 through 18 were orphaned by a shooting that followed a violent argument here early New Year's Day.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps ruled the deaths of Charles L. DeHart, 39, and his wife, Dorothy, 37, murder and suicide — the second in the county in less than two months.

All eight children were home when DeHart shot his wife once in the chest with a .22 caliber automatic pistol, then put the gun to his head and fired a second time. The shootings occurred about 5:20 a.m. in the DeHart's two-story frame home at 1014 E. Kimberly Ave.

The Post-Crescent learned this morning that, while some of the younger DeHart children spent most of the weekend with friends and relatives, they were to be back together at the DeHart home later this morning.

Alfred Eggert, Outagamie County Welfare Department director, said this morning his department has made an inquiry and determined the children apparently will receive considerable financial assistance.

tance, although his department will be available if needed. Grandparents will take care of the children for the time being.

Arrived at Scene
The DeHarts died at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where they were taken by Larry's Ambulance, about 6:45 a.m. Sunday.

Kemps said the woman died of massive internal abdominal hemorrhaging, while her husband died of massive cerebral hemorrhaging from the wound in the right side of the head.

Cash donations can be deposited at the Kimberly State Bank, while food or clothing will be accepted at the Kimberly Police Department.

Biggest Aerial Battle

Pilots Down 7 MIGs

SAIGON (AP) — "We out-flew, outshot and outfought them," a U. S. Air Force wing commander said today after he and his men brought down seven Communist MIGs in the biggest air battle of the Vietnamese war.

The supersonic dogfights Monday over the Red River delta northwest of Hanoi pitted America's F4C Phantoms against the best planes in the Communist air force, and the Phantoms were decisive victors. The Air Force said not one of its planes was lost.

The wing commander is Col. Robin Olds, 44, of Washington, D.C., a star West Point tackle in 1941-42, a World War II ace with 24½ kills, the husband of former movie star Ella Raines and the father of two daughters. It was his first aerial combat in Vietnam and he scored one of the day's first kills.

'Fighter Sweep'
His flight accounted for three MIGs, and a flight led by Capt. John B. Stone, 29, of Coffeeville, Miss., knocked down three more. The seventh Communist jet was shot down by a third flight in Olds' wing.

Lt Gen. William W. Momyer, commander of the 7th Air Force, said the spectacular showing by his airmen was "the first pure fighter sweep of the war."

He told a news conference at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base that the MIGs have been severely harassing U.S. fighter-bombers "and we were intent to engage and destroy the enemy fighters."

In the sweep that ranged over northern North Vietnam were 14 flights of Phantoms, with three to five planes per flight, and six flights of F105 Thunderchiefs. They went in to suppress enemy ground fire and surface-to-air missiles (SAMs).

Multiple Sightings
Olds said three or four Phantom flights took on the MIGs. Both he and Stone declined to estimate how many MIGs the Communists sent up but both reported multiple sightings.

The battle severely dented North Vietnam's air power. Momyer said the pilots' reports indicated all seven of the enemy jets downed were MIG21s, and he "believed they had 15" of this advanced type plane before the fight began. The older, slower MIG17s make up the bulk of North Vietnam's fighter force, which is estimated to number from 75 to 100 jets.

Court Delays Decision on Alfonsi Case

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Supreme Court delayed for possibly another week today any decision on long-time legislative leader Paul Alfonsi's appeal of his conviction on bribery charges.

Alfonsi, who sat in silence in his Assembly seat as members of the 1967 Legislature were sworn in Monday, was absent from the court chambers as the seven justices dined through their monthly package of decisions without mentioning his appeal.

Chief Justice George Currie had promised last month to try to deliver a decision before the Legislature convenes formally Jan. 11.

The court, although scheduled to recess after today, will be in session the first three days of next week and could present its decision then.

LBJ Ends 17-Day Stay at Texas Ranch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson was back at the White House today after a 17-day visit to his Texas ranch.

His first announced appointment of the day was a luncheon conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The dogfights "lasted no more than 12 to 14 minutes," Olds said, "but covered at least 30 miles of that sky."

The enemy pilots were "very aggressive," Olds said, and the first MIG he spotted was "coming right up behind me."

'Right Where I Wanted'
"I turned to keep him from having a clear shot at me and as I did I saw two MIGs in front of me. I expended one or two missiles — maybe more — at one of them, but he disappeared in clouds below us."

"Then I sighted another MIG and pulled up over him. I waited until he was right where I wanted him and fell in behind him."

Olds fired another missile and said there was a puff of orange smoke as it hit the MIG. "A complete wing fell off and the plane fell straight toward earth."

The Phantom pilots used both the radar-directed Sparrow missiles and the heat-seeking Sidewinder missiles.

"The happiest part was that they had chosen to tangle with us," Olds said. "That is what we wanted."

'That's One'
Stone led his Phantom flight into battle seconds after Olds' flight became engaged. They were flying at 16,000 feet. Stone said, "we maneuvered in and picked off two MIGs. I got the first one and a wingman got the second."

"That's one!" Stone shouted to his back-seat pilot as his target exploded, but there wasn't any more chatter because five other MIG's were swirling around them.

"We ignored the time on our right and went on in our own way," he said. One of the three MIG pilots he ignored fired a cannon burst at Stone's plane, and Stone disengaged while his other wingman shot down one of the quarries.

The Air Force said the strike planes were based in "Southeast Asia." Most of them probably flew from American bases in nearby Thailand.

Apparent Coup of Haiti Government

Would-be Invaders Put in Jail

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A Francois Duvalier within a week, Masferrer said. Father Georges, former education minister under Duvalier, was to be made president squelching a vest-pocket dent.

However, one of the invasion organizers said today that a boatload of commandos got away.

Rolando Masferrer, a former Cuban senator who hoped the invasion might eventually lead to the overthrow of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, said 50 men were aboard the ship.

"It's in international waters," said Masferrer, who had tried and failed to launch a Haitian invasion in November. "Nothing can be done about it."

Other Boatloads
Masferrer, arrested with dozens of other uniformed commandos at a beachfront home in the middle of the Florida Keys, said the ship was to have rendezvoused with two other boatloads of invaders on a Haitian shore this week.

Joining forces with rebels inside Haiti, the commandos expected to oust Haitian dictator

New York—were arrested and carried to Key West. Father Georges was among them.

Customs agents said 79 were arrested and carried to Miami in two chartered buses. The jail in Miami said it booked only 52.

The war party—dressed in fatigues, camouflage uniforms, and hunting gear—had been in the Keys five days getting ready for the invasion. A truck loaded with 1,000 pounds of dynamite was found on the highway Sunday, and two members of the group were arrested.

Masferrer said the army was to embark in three ships. He indicated the first ship slipped away from shore possibly only hours before the raid.

Military Formation
Fifteen men were about to board a 55-foot shrimp boat when the agents broke in. The remainder of the group was to take off later, he said, although he did not indicate when.

There was much shouting in Spanish when the war party was forced to leave the concrete-block house.

The men finally lined up in a

New Law Provides More Money for Public Projects

Qualified Municipalities May Apply for Extra 20 Per Cent

Governmental units in the Fox Cities region will be able to share in Federal grant bonuses, beginning sometime in 1967, Franchett commented that "because of the widespread possibilities and potential relief for the already overburdened local property tax, we should gear ourselves to the program as soon as reasonably possible."

One of the stipulations of the Act is that municipalities seeking bonus grants must be cooperating members of a metropolitan planning organization that is composed of or directly responsible to local elected officials. The Fox Valley Commission, which includes the elected chief executives of its 12 member units, comes very close to qualifying its present membership for the added grants.

The legislation provides added grants for projects such as water and sewage construction, libraries, hospitals and highway and airport construction, to governmental units that are within a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area, which meet certain other requirements. The Fox Valley area meets the requirements of a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area now, but awaits an official census designation.

Present System

"Under the present grant system, a city constructing a $2 million sewer system could apply for Federal assistance for up to $1 million. With the 20 per cent bonus entitlement, the same city will be able to apply for a Federal grant of up to $1.4 million for a project whose total cost is $2 million," Franchett said. In no case can the grant for the project exceed 80 per cent of its cost.

Favorable Outlook for Livestock Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department, in an outlook report at the year's end, said favorable livestock production conditions are expected to continue in 1967.

It said two developments in encouraging stockmen to begin shifting from a reduction in herds to an expansion to start a new cattle cycle.

The second favorable development was a moderate, rather than an excessive, expansion in hog production. Hogs are expected to continue to offer profits to producers and encourage some further expansion in 1967 and 1968.

NEW LONDON — A total of $71 was forfeited in Municipal Justice Court Friday when two of the motorists failed to appear on city police charges.

Robert R. Dawes, 31, 1601 Nassau St., forfeited $43 on a charge of failing to keep his vehicle under control. Dawes was arrested Dec. 11 following a property damage accident on Wyman Street.

Daniel J. Guyette, 22, route 1, forfeited $28 on a charge of failing to yield to a pedestrian. He was the driver of a car which struck Mrs. Marie Schumacher, 316½ E. Washington St., 60, on Dec. 23 at Beacon and Mill streets.

Aid Sought for New London's Sewer Project

Financing Needed Prior to Awarding Approved Bid

NEW LONDON — The city council is expected to act on a proposal for financing a storm sewer project on the southwest section of the city when it meets at 7 p.m. today.

The council will review bills and conduct its committee of the whole session at 7 p.m. The regular meeting starts at 8 p.m.

Contracts were approved for the entire project, totaling about $185,000, at the last council meeting.

Only a portion of the money, about one-half, was appropriated in the 1967 budget. The remainder must be made available before the contracts become legal.

An ordinance establishing the salaries of city officials also will be considered.

$35,314 Profit Reported Despite Increased Expenses, Including Higher Meal Average of 4 Cents

CHILTON — Although Calumet Memorial Hospital declared a profit of $35,314 for the fiscal year 1965-66, their annual report indicates that costs are going up.

Meal costs for the 27,771 admitted patients last year went up an average of four cents for each meal, bringing the total to 82 cents. Of this increase, cost of serving went up one cent and food supplies, three cents.

Although there were 17 fewer patients than in 1964-65, the average patient stay in the hospital increased from five to six days.

More Service

Another increase in service was indicated in the laboratory department, where Vern Gonzo, head technician, reports a jump of 24,900 laboratory services yearly since its opening year, 1957. PKU tests to determine possible retardation in babies are made at the Calumet Hospital since the tests were made mandatory by state law.

Total revenue for the year was $633,837, and expenses came to $605,019. Other income

Link 40 Break-ins To 6 Rural Youths

Thefts, Burglaries Occurred Past Months in Outagamie, Waupaca

Three youths are being held and three others were released temporarily to their parents, in connection with a total of 40 burglaries and thefts in Outagamie County and three in Waupaca County during December and November.

Two youths, 16 and 17 years old, are being held in juvenile detention in the Outagamie County jail, while an 18-year-old youth is being held in Waupaca County.

The youths, who Outagamie County Sheriff's investigators said are connected with the burglaries, are from New London, Shiocton and Royalton areas. Statements were taken from the youths Friday afternoon.

Investigators said loot from the burglaries will total more than $1,000. Some of the stolen merchandise, consisting mostly of sporting equipment, has been recovered, and investigators said they hope to recover more.

The youths allegedly burglarized 32 cottages in Outagamie County, including one owned by Elise Andrews, Shiocton, where damage and stolen items will amount to about $500. Investigators also link the youths to the burglary last week of a large summer home near Shiocton, owned by Irvin LaSage, Wauwatosa. The loot there consisted of hundreds of dollars worth of sporting equipment and liquor.

The youths also were linked to burglaries at the Portliffe, Mac's Landing, and the Shiocton Speedway, all near Shiocton, last weekend. The take from those places consisted mostly of money, authorities said.

Included in the Waupaca County burglaries was one at a trailer home where authorities said the youths found the occupant at home when they broke in.

Also included in the Waupaca County break-ins were a schoolhouse and a cottage. Authorities

Barking Dog Helps

Appleton Man Rescues Boy Floating on River

A barking dog and an alert paper company employee were credited with saving the life of a nine-year-old boy who, with three brothers and a friend, waded through knee-deep water in a large drainage pipe Friday and wound up on a chunk of ice in the Fox River.

Appleton police said that Clifford Mortell, 323 S. Outagamie St., was working at his desk at Consolidated Papers Inc., about 1:40 p.m. when he heard a dog barking and then saw the dog and a boy emerge from the large drainage pipe that runs under Lawrence University's Whiting Field.

The pipe, about six feet high and about 700 feet long, ends at the Fox River.

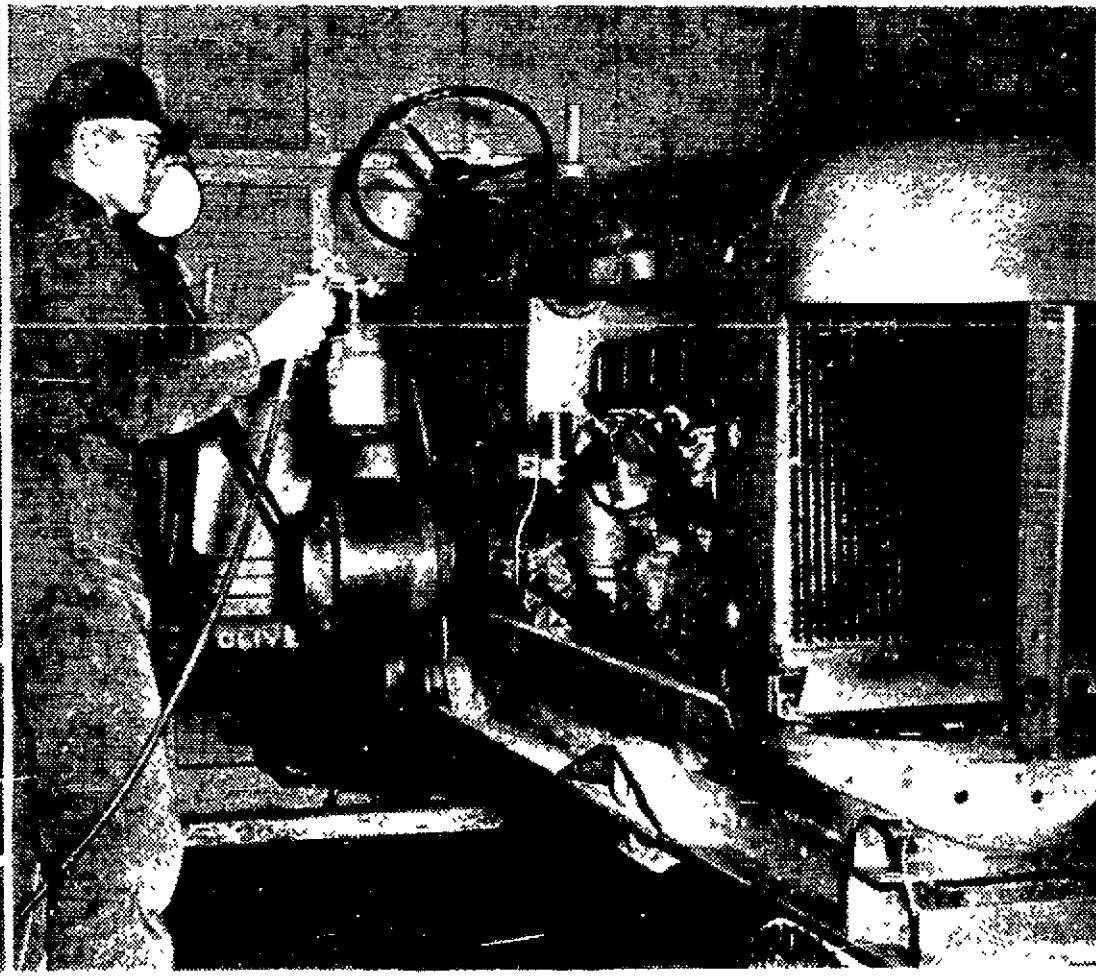

Mortell said the boy, later learned to be Michael Achterberg, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Achterberg, 818 E. Fremont St., was on a chunk of ice in the river, when he reached the youth. Mortell reached out and pulled the boy and his dog to shore.

The other boys were Michael's brothers, Ronald 12, Glen, 15, and David, 13, and a friend, Dennis Cross, 11, 682 Reed St., Neenah, who was visiting at the Achterberg home Friday.

Recovering From Operation

It was learned that David Achterberg is recovering from a delicate operation two years ago to correct what reportedly was an "undersize heart."

The dog that alerted Mortell is about six months old. It was bought for one of the boys on his birthday. The Achterbergs have six children.

Eastern Nigeria Like Separate African Nation

Police Regard All Travelers As Tourists

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

ENUGU, Nigeria (AP) — For a foreigner, arriving in the eastern region from another part of Nigeria is like entering another country. At Enugu's airport, police go through luggage, read every letter or document they find, frisk travelers and occasionally ask to see passports.

Even Nigerians do not escape the police search. At a crossing point from western Nigeria, police and soldiers search Nigerians and confiscate any food they may be carrying; exports of foodstuffs from the eastern region are banned.

At a tiny airfield at Port Harcourt, the eastern region's oil seaport, Mark Lewis pleaded diplomatic immunity, has head of the Africa division of the U.S. Information Agency, and refused to submit to a search. He was carted off at gunpoint to a police station.

Resist Search

There Lewis won his point and was released. The U.S. Embassy in Lagos, the federal capital, has instructed its personnel to resist search.

All this is part of a protective wall the easterners have thrown up around the region as the result of a feud that has been going on for 300 years. It reinforces the regional government's line that it can break with the rest of Nigeria.

Industrious Ibo tribesmen dominate the eastern region, one of four virtually autonomous regions that make up the Federation of Nigeria.

Under British rule, which lasted nearly 100 years until 1960, Ibos emigrated to other parts of Nigeria, establishing themselves in business and commerce. Mostly they went to the northern region.

Charges in Open

In recent months, resentful northerners have brought into the open charges that the Ibos want to dominate the north. As a result, thousands of Ibos fell victims to massacres while thousands more fled eastward to ancestral Ibo tribal homes.

This tremendous influx of refugees—eastern officials say there are a million of them—has taxed the resources of the land-cramped east. But it also has given the east a bargaining tool to get what it wants in current efforts to draw up a new constitution for the Nigerian federation. It wants a loose federation of the four regions, permitting the Ibos to rule their own area without fear of domination from other groups.

An eastern secession could hurt Nigeria. Eastern officials say 42 per cent of the federal government's revenue, including 75 per cent of the $81 million of oil revenues, is generated in the east.

Possible Losses

But eastern investment in the rest of Nigeria is vast and easterners stand to lose it if they pull out.

Dr. Pius Okigbo, who fled federal government service to return to the east, estimates the value at more than $28 million.

The flood of refugees also is taxing a centuries-old family support system of the Ibo tribes. Called the extended family system, it provides that a member of an Ibo family shall be welcomed to his ancestral home no matter how long he has been gone. Some of the refugees have never seen their ancestral homes.

Not counting refugees, the eastern region has a population of 12 million. Some areas have population densities of 1,700 persons per square mile.

Were it not for the family system, the expense of keeping refugees sheltered and fed could result in a dangerous drain on the national and regional treasuries.

But rehabilitation officials are worried that the strain may break down the family system. "It's impossible to resettle and rehabilitate people in two to four months," one official said. "How long after that will friction develop between the displaced persons and the families or between them and already unemployed persons?"

From Ethiopia to Brillion

BY JOAN COENEN
Post-Crescent Correspondent

BRILLION — An ice fishing outing, shoveling snow, the taste of fruitcake and the exchange of gifts are familiar happenings to most of us, but they were "firsts" for Sinkie Bahiru during the recent holiday season.

The soft-spoken, well-mannered 18-year-old American Field Service (AFS) student from Addis Ababa, the capital city of Ethiopia in Africa, is back at classes at Brillion High School this week, but has recorded his vacation activities in photographs and in memory.

"In my country Christmas is observed on Jan. 7," related the young man whose religious affiliation is the Ethiopian Orthodox Church. "There is no exchange of gifts — only religious observance to commemorate the birth of the Christ child," he said.

Six-Hour Service

The six hour Christmas Eve church service consists of prayers, bible readings, singing by a choir and the playing of drums.

Various tapestries with the nativity scene or the three wisemen bearing gifts are affixed to the church walls. This is in contrast to the manger scenes with figures that are prevalent in our churches.

Because of the influx of white people into Ethiopia, some homes have Christmas trees and Santa Claus posters appear in the cities.

In an attempt to preserve the traditional religious Christmas, Ethiopian parents explain Santa Claus to their children as "the man who owned the stable where Jesus was born."

A period of strict fasting from meat and all animal products precedes all holy days. On Christmas Day families gather and eat national foods that have been prepared by the women. Included are a special Christmas bread that takes three days to leaven and a non-alcoholic beer that takes five days to "brew."

Families attend polo games.

Christmas Day and the young men play a similar type game, but without the horses.

King's Gifts

Haile Selassie, who has reigned as King of Ethiopia since 1930, resides in Sinkie's hometown. Sinkie recalls that when he was younger the children from Addis Ababa's 100 public and private schools would march to the palace on Christmas Day and the king would present each child with a sweater, soda pop, two oranges and a cake. The administrator of education ceased this custom about six years ago because of the cost involved.

Groves of eucalyptus trees, and an abundance of flowers countries in a hope that all people will some day live in peace, according to Sinkie.

This young man from a country more than 8,000 miles from here is striving to fulfill these purposes.

New Statute Provides Funds For Public Use

Franchett said. Special emphasis, however, is being placed on organizations in which a majority of the voting members are elected officials.

Structure Change

The membership structure of the Commission would have to be slightly altered in order to meet this qualification, Franchett indicated. He pointed out that metropolitan planning organizations near Detroit, Mich., and Atlanta, Ga., are already in the process of making such organizational changes in their respective metropolitan-regional planning commissions.

Certain planning and programming requirements would have to be undertaken by the metropolitan planning organization in order to meet the requirements of the act. The regional comprehensive plan undertaken by the commission's planning consultant five years ago would have to be updated to meet the planning requirements contained in the act.

Other Grants

Franchett indicated that planning requirements for other federal grant programs, such as the transportation planning requirement for metropolitan areas and the urban area-wide utility plans requirement should be undertaken at the same time. These programs were also recommended to the commission by E. H. Lovelace, a national planning consultant, who reviewed the commission's activities earlier this year.

Planning grants which would pay for up to two-thirds of the cost of the required planning programs are available from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Developers to Unveil Plans For High Cliff Luxury Area

Calumet Board Will Get Petition To Rezone for Commercial Project

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Plans for a multi-million dollar motel and commercial complex in the High Cliff State Park region will be unveiled tonight at Chilton, the Post-Crescent learned today.

The Calumet County zoning board, which is actually the county's park commission, will be asked to act on the petition of Francis Schneider, route 1, Menasha, a developer who owns a considerable amount of land near the park and overlooking Lake Winnebago.

There have been reports that Schneider and a group of Midwest investors have plans for erecting a complex which will be more elaborate than the Pioneer at Oshkosh and other plush resort-recreation developments in the southern part of the state.

Meet Tonight

A spokesman for the county clerk's office at Chilton said the meeting will be held at the Calumet County courthouse at 8 p.m. today.

The agenda includes three rezoning petitions, the major one being Schneider's request to have large tracts of land now designated for recreational purposes rezoned to commercial. The others are not related.

Purpose of the rezoning, according to the county clerk's file, is to permit construction of a huge motel-restaurant complex, along with a modern clubhouse for the 18-hole golf course now under construction in the same area by Schneider.

The golf course project was approved in October as the first phase of the exclusive motel-recreation development when the zoning committee approved a rezoning.

The course reportedly was the first phase of the overall plan which will see several million dollars poured into the area on a phase basis over a four to five year period.

If approval of the rezoning request is granted tonight, developers reportedly want to start construction of the elaborate motel layout sometime in 1967.

Vague Reports

While only vague information was available in the rezoning petition, there have been reports circulating throughout the area and in resort-business circles for months about the additional facilities being planned.

It is expected if the overall project gets the go-ahead, the motel, golf course, exclusive residential and other developments eventually represent a Midwestern showcase.

U.S. Navy Continues Barrage Against Reds

Thai Troops Reportedly To Join War

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Deputy Premier Praphas Charusathien said today that the Thai government has not taken a final decision to send combat troops to South Vietnam.

Praphas told his weekly news conference his government may decide to send fighters to South Vietnam "today, tomorrow or next month, but at this moment the decision has not been taken yet."

He added that the National Security Council is now considering the matter and is taking into account the Communist threat to Thailand before reaching a decision. Praphas is deputy chairman of the council and commander in chief of the Thai army.

The government - controlled Bangkok radio said Tuesday that Thailand would send about 1,000 combat troops to South Vietnam. The text of the com-

Paintings Recovered In Britain

LONDON (AP) — The $7 million worth of paintings stolen from the Dulwich College Gallery have all been recovered, police said today.

The eight paintings included three Rembrandts, three by Rubens and one each by Gerard Dou and Adam Elsheimer.

One of the Rembrandts was the "Girl at a Window," said to be worth $2.8 million. All the Rembrandts and Rubens were world famous.

Scotland Yard, announcing that the paintings had been recovered, said they were identified by the curator of the gallery.

The paintings were stolen Friday night from the college art gallery, the oldest public gallery in Britain.

Drunken Driving in Wisconsin

One of Three Needn't Have Died

By FRED SNYDER

MADISON (AP) — On a clear summer night, just beyond the crest of a hill south of Poloski, two cars met.

Seven persons died. The car that came over the hill was in the wrong lane. Its driver was a 16-year-old boy, too young legally to drink.

Post-mortem tests, the Grant County coroner reported, showed 10 per cent alcohol in the youth's blood. The boy's passenger, who lived, told of four or five glasses of beer in a tavern, followed by a sixpack.

In the other car was a family driving home from a weekend outing, the father at the wheel, half a dozen children in the car.

The father, the mother, and four children were killed.

The tests, said the coroner,

First of a Series showed the father had even more to drink than the boy—15 per cent alcohol in his blood, outright evidence of intoxication under Wisconsin law.

The two tipsy drivers, the mother and the four small children who died on that country hilltop were among at least 237 victims of Wisconsin accidents last year in which alcohol was an outrider.

The figure is incomplete—it covers only three-quarters of the year and only those accidents in which blood tests were available. Even so, the statistics show nearly one out of three persons killed died in a crash in which a driver is known to have been drinking.

The grim record of 1,118 deaths on Wisconsin highways last year is beginning to stir salvos of a renewed war in

Pilots Attack More Than 200 Supply Barges

Viet Cong Free Two Americans Captured in May

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. Navy pilots attacked more than 200 North Vietnamese supply barges and junks Tuesday and reported destroying or damaging 111.

Moving in one day after American Air Force planes shot down seven Communist MIG21s, Navy fliers from three aircraft carriers reported using rockets to damage a surface-to-air missile radar site and to set fire to a torpedo boat off North Vietnam's port of Haiphong.

In South Vietnam, the ground war simmered down to small actions while elsewhere British moves to start peace talks met with a Communist rebuff.

North Vietnam officially rejected Britain's proposal to bring together representatives of the United States, North and South Vietnam. Hanoi called the British plan an "act of malicious intention."

Prisoners Set Free

In South Vietnam, the Viet Cong set free two American civilian construction men whom they had held prisoner since last May 27 and a Filipino whom they seized last June 24.

The trio was found today by a company of Vietnamese popular force troops some 40 miles northeast of Saigon, U. S. officials announced.

Officials said the two Americans and the Philippine woman released by the Viet Cong were identified as Thomas R. Scales, 44, of Matamoras, Pa., Robert W. Monahan, 41, of Belpoint, Long Island, N.Y., and Ophelia

Interview With Premier

Softer Line Seen in Hanoi

NEW YORK (AP) — Premier Pham Van Dong of Communist North Vietnam says his government's four-point demands in the Vietnam war are not necessarily conditions for peace talks but rather a "basis of settlement of the Vietnam problem," the New York Times reported from Hanoi today.

The Hanoi premier's statement, in an interview with correspondent Harrison E. Salisbury, raised speculation that North Vietnam had shifted in some measure from a hard-line, all-or-nothing stand which blocked the path to a conference table.

Salisbury quoted Premier Dong as saying: "The big question is to reach a settlement which can be enforced."

"The party which has to make the first steps is Washington. We have no doubt on this point. We cannot press history forward. If this does not come about today, it will come about tomorrow. It's no use to make haste. If we show haste, the question will be put wrongly and we will have to wait again. So and reunification without any foreign interference.

In the interview, described by the correspondent as a detailed discussion of North Vietnam's views, the premier was represented as emphasizing that once hostilities were brought to a close, it would be possible to "speak of other things."

"The moment the United States puts an end to the war, we will respect each other and settle every question. Why don't you think that way?" Dong was quoted as saying.

Some U.S. officials regarded the premier's remarks as hinting a significant shift in Hanoi's stand on peace talks, although some others said they believed the four-point demands never had been intended as conditions to peace talks.

The premier was quoted as stressing once again that North Vietnam was prepared to fight 10 years or even 20 years or more in what he called its "sacred war."

Errant U. S. Missile Flies Over Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unarmed Air Force missile fired in a test from Florida has veered off its scheduled course into the Gulf of Mexico and presumably soared over Cuba, the Pentagon said today.

A terse Defense Department announcement said the surface-to-air-breathing missile carried no warhead.

The weapon, undergoing research and development tests, was launched at 10 a.m. from the Air Force proving ground at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., the Pentagon said.

Court May be Asked to Get Oxygen to Hospital

Drivers Refuse To Cross Picket Lines in Ohio

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — An official of the Youngstown Osteopathic Hospital says a court order may be sought to limit picketing which has interfered with deliveries of food and oxygen to the hospital.

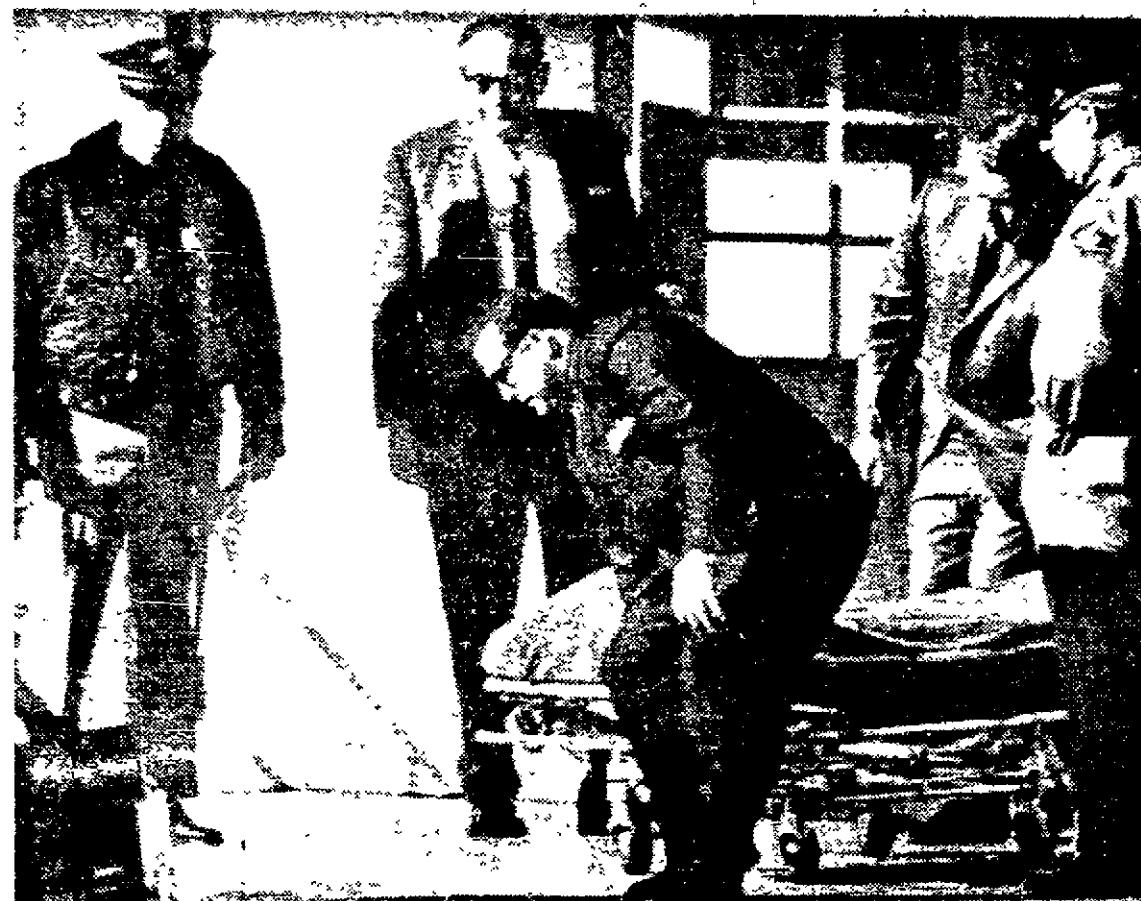

Florence Marsteller, hospital administrator, said about 20 strikers and sympathizers three times turned back oxygen truck deliveries and barred one food truck Tuesday.

Hospital employees went out in their own cars and brought back food for patients and staff, but the hospital said it may be necessary to tap reserve oxygen supplies Thursday if no oxygen is delivered before then, hospital sources said.

The oxygen truck drivers refused to cross picket lines. Mrs. Marsteller said many patients at the hospital, which has a capacity of 108, need oxygen. The hospital was reported less than three-fourths full.

Members of Local 47, Building Service and Maintenance Employees, struck Saturday for recognition. Nonprofessional workers at the hospital voted recently in favor of the Youngstown Osteopathic Hospital Employees' Association to represent them, but Local 47 officials contend the election is invalid.

Auto Makers Claim Inability to Fulfill Standards of Safety

Jan. 31 Deadline for Determining Requirements for Cars for 1968

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The stage is set for some give-and-take between the automobile industry and the federal government over safety features to be included in 1968 model cars.

The four major U.S. producers and many foreign manufacturers notified the Commerce Department Tuesday of their inability to meet all 23 safety standards proposed for next year's cars.

They indicated some could be met immediately, but requested a modification of some proposals and a delay in putting others into effect to allow for design and production changes.

Dr. William Haddon Jr., administrator of the National Highway Safety Agency, withheld judgment on the thousands of pages of comments he received from manufacturers and suppliers.

Negotiations Indicated
But there already were indications the differences would be negotiated.

Haddon said it will take two weeks just to evaluate the industry comments. He said he won't know until that time whether negotiations will be held on possible modification of the 23 proposed standards.

Under law, his agency must publish by Jan. 31 its final standards for 1968 model cars, a time schedule Haddon said he intends to keep.

But the administrator already has voiced a willingness to modify the substance and timing of the proposed standards if necessary.

And Alan S. Boyd, under-secretary of commerce for transportation, has said the department doesn't plan to be hard-headed about its proposals.

The domestic manufacturers asked Tuesday for a meeting with Haddon. They will likely get it since it has been the agency's policy to keep an open door.

Modification Possible
Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., met with Haddon in Washington last week and later said he was satisfied the administrator was aware when he issued the 23 standards that "some of them would, when viewed by the manufacturers and then their reactions given to him, require some modification."

"I think he will, if convinced that one or more of these standards simply cannot be met within the time fixed, make every effort to modify it, either by extending the effective date or changing the technical requirements of it," Hart said.

Ford and General Motors said they could comply immediately with 10 of the 23 points. Ford listed seven others it could meet if minor changes were made in the proposed standards. GM listed eight of these.

American Motors said it could meet 16 almost immediately while Chrysler said it could meet 8 immediately and 5 more if minor changes were made.

The court in announcing its decision ordered Clarence A. Reuter, director of the State Bureau of Finance, to honor a request to pay for printing of the application forms needed for the program.

Reuter's refusal to do so had set up the basis for the supreme court test of the water pollution law's legality.

Dummy Corporations
Under the law, Wisconsin can now help in the building of pollution abatement facilities through a lease-sublease agreement, involving the state, municipalities, and a "dummy" building corporation.

The court also upheld the legality of the dummy corporation so that the state itself does not contract debt for the program. The Wisconsin constitution limits state government to a maximum of $100,000 in borrowing authorization, and also limits state construction of internal improvements.

Irregularities Uncovered Mrs. Powell Ordered Fired

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Administration Committee Tuesday ordered Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's wife removed from her $20,500 job on his payroll.

The committee also issued findings of widespread irregularities in official travel.

The findings, made by a subcommittee which held hearings on practices of the House Education and Labor Committee, of which Powell is chairman, were made part of an official House document which goes to the Justice Department as well as other government agencies.

Chairman Omar Burleson, D-Tex., of the administration committee said there was no specific vote to send the subcommittee findings to the Justice Department.

But he said that "when it is made a House document, it automatically under the rules goes to all government departments including Justice."

"Anyone can take it from there if there should be matter for a civil suit for recovery of funds or even possible criminal action."

The committee action in ordering the firing of a person on a member's staff was described as unprecedented by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, chairman of the subcommittee that conducted the hearings and made recommendations to the administration committee.

State Firms Might Pay for AMC Layoff

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Wisconsin firms may be assessed for the state unemployment compensation fund because of American Motors Corp.'s lay-off of 4,100 employees, Joseph C. Fagan, chairman of the State Industrial Commission, said Tuesday.

Since AMC has already overdrawn its unemployment reserve, Fagan said, the unemployment benefits will be paid from a balancing fund. However, he added, if the money in the fund falls below the $5 million mark, the law requires a special tax assessment against employers of 2.7 per cent of their taxable payroll.

Fagan said skilled workers and clerical employees comprising about 10 per cent of those laid-off will be "readily replaceable" in comparable jobs, but the placement of the remaining production workers may be more difficult.

The current jobs available, he said, are in the $2.50 to $3 per hour range. As a result, many who are laid off can draw unemployment compensation for six weeks while looking for a job paying around $3.50 per hour which they received at American Motors.

2,300 Aging Pilots Returned to Flying

Air Force Continues to Deny Shortages; Ninth Base Opened

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pilot shortage has driven the Air Force into restoring 2,300 older airmen to the cockpits they abandoned in 1960-61, a Pentagon source said today.

An Air Force spokesman confirmed the 2,300 figure while noting that the Pentagon has denied officially the existence of a pilot shortage.

Even so, the Air Force announced Tuesday a program to train 3,247 pilots annually, an increase of 487 over the present rate. It also announced the reactivation of Randolph Air Force Base near San Antonio, Tex., as the ninth pilot training base.

To man the ninth base, the Air Force has been authorized an additional 891 officers, 2,472 enlisted men and 766 civilian employees. The Air Force estimates cost of the expanded program at $300 million over the next five years.

Third War
All of the Air Force's 2,300 aging airmen — most are on their third war — are 45 years old, or older, and held flight status for 22 years, or longer, before stepping down in the big pilot curtailment program of 1960-61.

The Air Force spokesman said some grandfathers are among these older airmen. He told of one who is flying a twin-engine C47 cargo plane in Vietnam while his son flies an F4 Phantom fighter from the same airfield.

To meet pilot needs, especially for the multiple engine cargo planes, the Air Force reportedly has striped its middle-management echelon of nearly all men who once held a pilot rating and who can still pass a flight physical.

This had left the support of air operations in many instances in the hands of nonfliers with little Air Force experience. Some of these new managers, the spokesman said, are first lieutenants.

In 1963 as part of its career management program, the Pentagon set up the so-called 45-22 club. Members of this club could at age 45, and after 22 years of jockeying aircraft, step into desk jobs and still retain their flight pay.

Whether the Navy is to get an increased pilot training program still is uncertain. Navy sources have reported the training of only 279 carrier qualified pilots annually, but say the need is around 730.

The subject of pilot shortages is to be investigated by the Senate preparedness subcommittee, headed by Sen. C. John Stennis, D-Miss., shortly after Congress reconvenes.

10th Satellite of Saturn Discovered

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Astronomers have discovered a 10th satellite circling Saturn just outside the rings that are its trademark.

The satellite apparently is the closest to the planet and the rings, collections of particles that reflect light.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, a clearing house for information about celestial discoveries, confirmed the discovery Tuesday night.

A spokesman said the satellite is between 100 and 200 miles in diameter, but not visible to the naked eye on earth.

Governor Knowles Again

Gov. Knowles' address accompanying the taking of his oath of office as the chief executive officer of the Wisconsin state government in a second term was a simple but earnest acknowledgment that the problems of modern governmental leadership are difficult and complex, with a pledge to devote his utmost energy and will to managing those that have been entrusted to him.

As Wisconsin governors go, Mr. Knowles is one of the most experienced in state affairs who has ever occupied the east wing of the state capitol. Perhaps there will be few men following him who will accumulate a record of nearly three decades of service in legislative and executive capacities. Many of the governor's friends and associates believe that there will be other political prizes in his future. Such speculation must remain academic, of course, pending the recording of his second term performance.

The governorship is one of the most difficult offices in American politics to occupy successfully. As the late President Kennedy once observed in a Wisconsin appearance, the governor is a peculiarly expendable fellow. The problems of states and the responsibilities of their executives account for a curiously more intensive popular scrutiny of governors than of nearly any other important public leader.

Considered dispassionately, Gov. Knowles is of a line of statehouse leaders of progressive inclinations that has distinguished this state in the family of states in the union. Because he is not given to hoopla in his work, or theatrics on the stump, because he has shown a certain caution in his career, and because his earlier legislative record tended to reflect the conservative posture of a remote and rural district, the essentially liberal flavor of his first gubernatorial term has not always been recognized by professional commentators.

Yet it must be clear that there is no other explanation for his startling penetration — from the viewpoint of the opposition party — of some of the traditionally firm Democratic voting districts last November. When the voters reflected upon the positions of the Knowles administration and the Democratic nominee, they found comparatively few vital distinctions. They tended to choose the man they knew, whose record was before them, over the risk of the unknown as represented by the untried candidate.

In his brief recital of his first term accomplishments, the governor put major emphasis upon new educational legislation and the significant enlargement of educational opportunities beyond the high school. No doubt this was his most satisfying experience. It is also a remarkable one, when the troubles of other states are examined. Wisconsin has yet to deny admission to college and university of any academically qualified student, in spite of the immense flow of new enrollments. Few other states can claim as much.

'I merely said your future looks brighter. I didn't say you should start writing an inaugural speech.'

Kraft Writes

Now We Have the Economic Data, But What About a Social Report?

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — With one notable exception, practically everything Americans do gets officially measured at this time of year. The exception, the thing that is not measured, is the social effect or impact on daily life of all the other things that are measured.

Kraft

But probably nowhere else is there a more pressing need to take regular readings. And, accordingly, some of the most perceptive men inside and outside the government have begun to work for a social counterpart to the annual economic report made to the President and the Congress by the Council of Economic Advisers.

The economic report is a good example of the staggering number of things Americans do that are regularly reported and tabulated. Among other things it sets forth every year: gross national product; sources of personal income; volume of industrial production; wholesale and consumer price indices; corporate profits and farm income.

STILL DON'T AGREE

No one can assert with confidence the consequence of having all this information readily and regularly available. Certainly it does not make men agree any more than they used to about such things as taxes, wages and profits.

But at a minimum the statistics act as warning signals. When things are not going well, when growth slows or unemployment rises, people know about it. Indeed, because of the insistent message of the numbers they cannot fail to know about it.

In that situation, the groups of men called institutions lean against the wind; make corrections: slow down what is going too fast; right balances that are off center. The economic numbers, in other words, have helped this country avoid economic disaster. They have worked to keep options open, to assure that the great opportunities if they are missed, get re-opened or retrieved.

An almost exactly opposite condition prevails in the social field. Information of all sorts lies about profusely in bits and pieces. But it is rarely put together in a regular and comprehensive fashion.

Lack of regular information fosters an innocence and irresponsibility that is positively terrifying. City after city launches urban renewal drives only to discover — belatedly and with surprise — that poor people are being driven from their homes. County after county launches drives for new industry only to learn — also belatedly and with surprise — that it is polluting the atmosphere. State after state pushes highway projects, only to realize — with astonishment — that the result is impossible congestion in city streets.

CONGRESSIONAL EFFORT

On the federal level, the executive branch, not forced to pay attention by a steady flow of organized data, virtually ignores consumer protection. As studies by Congressman Benjamin Rosenthal of New York indicate, what little progress has been made in auto safety, fair packaging and lending, is the result almost exclusively of congressional efforts — some of them against the executive branch.

This terrible innocence, this unappreciation of social consequences has already brought about one awful, and now irrevocable, error in the post-war period. Almost without knowing it, this country has allowed the whole post-war generation of urban poor Negroes to grow up hostile to American society.

To be sure, an annual social report is not going to end congested streets, air pollution, and the short-changing of the consumer interest. But it can create a climate of continuous self-correction: a barrier against irrevocable mistakes, not to say disasters, such as the loss of a Negro generation. And that it seems to me is perhaps the most important domestic business now before the nation.

Wisconsin Report

Urban Affairs Office In State Government Likely Knowles' Pitch

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Creation of an office or division of local affairs within the state government appears likely to be one of the key recommendations of Gov. Knowles in the field of administrative organization when he delivers his first message to the new legislature later this month.

Wyngaard

Not only is the head of the Republican state administration committed to such action by several speeches during his re-election campaign, but the Republican platform convention explicitly outlined such a proposal when it composed a statutory platform for its state office nominees last October. Republicans on the whole tend to avoid explicit commitments in their platforms. They generally do not regard platform declarations as sanctified covenants, as many of the party-lining Democrats do. Yet in this instance the pledge is clear enough. The platform talked about legislation "already being prepared" for such a new agency of the state that would labor for the express benefit of local government, and especially for the relief of the swelling problems of urbanized localities, as a manifestation of "a creative partnership of local initiative and control and state planning."

RAPID GROWTH CITED

As the party put it in its formal address to the electorate, the rapid growth of the state's urban areas have brought problems too great and costly and complex for ready solution within the resources of local governments.

Such urban problems were listed as including polluted water and air, blighted housing, lack of adequate mass transit, inadequate open space and recreational areas, traffic congestion, jurisdictional confusion among overlapping municipalities and authorities in metropolitan communities, inadequate extension of utility services to growing subdivisions, and declining or rigid tax bases.

Although the legislature has shown some modifications of attitude as a result of redistricting, a majority of the members of the new session about to convene will probably think of Milwaukee when they reread such a listing of local government problem worries. Yet the realignment of the voting pattern in November, with the significant inroads of the Republican Party in such urban communities as Milwaukee, Madison, Racine, Kenosha and a few others heretofore thought to be lost irrevocably to the Democratic foe, may persuade the non-urban oriented Republican majorities in both houses to tread more carefully and react more sympathetically on such matters.

WHAT KIND OF HELP?

No informed person can doubt that a well-led state agency directly assigned to counsel local governments can be highly useful, especially to smaller communities with skinny staff resources. But there will be a thin line between assistance and intervention, as several incidents have already shown.

In general, local governments are eager enough for direct help — as in state aids and subsidies. But they are deeply sensitive to transgressions of the home rule principle. Thus there will be some suspicious curiosity toward the platform talk about "achieving greater economy and efficiency through the modernization of local government" and "using our financial resources where they are most needed."

Gov. Knowles, perhaps unwittingly, provided an example of potential coercion, rather than help, when he suggested the other day that one of his aides prepare a plan that would require localities to use the available services of the state's purchasing bureau in buying their own equipment and supplies. The penalty could be a forfeiture of state aids, he suggested in the informality of a budget hearing interrogation. To many sensitive local officials, acting on procedures for purchasing that appear adequate to them, that will be received with the same resentment that Gov. Knowles, head of the proud Wisconsin state government, would surely show if President Johnson offered a federal purchasing bureau for the required use of the states.

Strictly Personal

Need New Language Of Political Thought

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

My speaking of the "falsely conservative" position yesterday reminded me that many readers have asked for a column dealing with such slippery words as "conservative," "liberal," and "radical." These words have not only changed their meanings in the last 100 years; they have also come to be used as terms of derogation by their opponents.

Harris

Thirty years ago, in a memorable speech at the Lotus Club in New York, the late Dorothy Thompson discussed these words and their lost meanings. "We are living," she began, "in the midst of lost words." Radical, conservative, and liberal were "glorious words originally," for each represented some necessary element, some essential strand, in the fabric of civilization.

"Radical" meant "going to the roots" and treating the causes of problems, rather than their symptoms; "conservative" meant "holding to that which is good and has stood the test of time," while "liberal" meant "being generous in our judgments, and giving men a break."

The ideal to aim at, she said, was to be "a radical as a thinker, a conservative as to program, and a liberal as to temper." But, of course, not one person in a thousand can achieve this harmony, this balance of thought, action and inclination.

Most of us tend to adopt one monolithic position and stick with it for the reason of consistency, even though there is little that is consistent about human affairs. I think it could be demonstrated that the classical conservative, liberal and radical attitudes of a generation ago are outmoded — but most people who represent those viewpoints are still fighting on battlegrounds that have been evacuated by history.

The radical, for instance, is still fighting a kind of "capitalism" that exists only in left-wing cartoon — strips; the conservative, likewise, is still opposing a "socialism" that bears no relation to reality; while the liberal is still repeating the tired slogans that were fashionable a generation ago, but have lost much of their relevance today.

The world is simply changing much faster than our ideologies and attitudes; much of what we believe is obsolete; and there is a tremendous "reality gap" between what is actually taking place in our social organization and the ways we interpret these developments.

We need a whole new language of political discourse, one that is descriptive of modern reality, rather than the old jargon that is so overloaded with emotional connotations that it impedes communication more than conveying it. Our dictionaries are revised every few decades, because the language keeps changing, but our lexicon of politics lags pathetically far behind the astonishing transformations of modern society.

would seem that parents should at least want to know where their children are going to spend the evening — then make sure the children get there and home afterward.

In the cases of the 13- and 14-year-olds, their roaming of the city at night cannot be justified.

Some of the youngsters tell police they hear their parents brag about how much they drank "last night" and how bad their hangover is "today." These same parents then are, as one policeman put it, "in a state of shock" when they are called to the police station and see their son or daughter passed out on the floor.

Maybe it's about time children receive some facts about alcohol along with the low-down about the birds and the bees, because many of the youngsters, police find, are drinking straight liquor — from the bottle — until the bottle is empty or they pass out.

These are immature boys and girls not yet old enough or wise enough to realize the physical effects of liquor or beer on the body.

Maybe parents will snap out of their complacency only after a youngster who has drank himself into a stupor is found frozen stiff in a woods, or a field or inside a vacant building.

We hope not. We would rather think that the mother or the father of a teen-age boy or girl will begin asking, "Where are you going tonight?"

wagon bridge from Appleton Street.

They substitute projects such as "a cataramen" from Prospect Avenue across to the narrow and winding alleyway "Menasha and Kaukauna Plank Road," but in reality, they oppose everything practical because they desire to continue their old business of shaving city and county orders, which they cannot long do if the city continues to increase in business and population as it has in the past two years, as it surely will if the public improvements keep pace with the public wants of a publicly spirited people.

The fogies dislike to pay taxes: that explains the whole matter.

They dislike crowded streets, or largely increased business, because other and more stirring and liberal-minded men will come in and jostle them aside.

The Opposition to the Kellett Plan Organizes

The Kellett Committee's draft of a reorganization plan for the executive and administrative branch of state government will be exposed to a series of four public hearings this week, including one at Green Bay Thursday. And already a number of private interest groups are mobilizing their forces to oppose the plan.

The Izaak Walton League, spurred on by conservation commissioners and other professional conservationists, is calling on all its local chapters to appear at the hearings in opposition. Other conservation groups can be expected to join the campaign. The American Legion in its official newspaper has called for strong opposition to the plan.

The Conservation Department and the Department of Veterans Affairs are two of the influential present departments which would be consolidated into departments of broader scope in the Kellett Plan. As a concrete example, the Conservation Department and the Department of Resource Development would be combined into a new Department of Natural Resources.

What would be the real effect of such a merger?

In the first place it would put all of the state's efforts in the broad field of natural resource management for the good of its citizens, including but not limited to those who fish for trout or shoot deer, under one policy board instead of two independent ones.

That board would consist of nine citizens appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate, serving on a part-time basis. Initially three members would be present conservation commissioners, three would be present members of the board of resource development and three would be citizens-at-large.

And therein lies the rub. Three present conservation commissioners would lose their jobs.

The resource development board consists of 15 members but is advisory only and the members are appointed by the governor and serve not for stated terms but at his pleasure. Thus far there hasn't been any flack heard from these board members.

One of the charges being made by conservationists is that the plan would inject "politics" into conservation management, whatever that means. The present commissioners are appointed by the governor, as the new board would be. And after all our representative form of government in America is a political system. What would the Izaak Walton League substitute?

The Department of Veterans Affairs would be consolidated with the Department of Public Welfare and the Department of Health into a new Department of Social Services. The American Legion charges that it would be a tragedy if war veterans were placed in the same category as other persons requiring public assistance.

But how great a tragedy would this really be? Is it likely that the new board of nine citizens would be any less mindful of the services these veterans have rendered their country and their state than is the present board?

The Kellett plan seeks to consolidate 88 present administrative agencies of state government, largely independent and autonomous, into 13 departments which would be responsible to the governor. To describe the present as a hodgepodge is mild comment. But we can well expect each of the 88 present agencies to fight the new structure. And that fight is now out in the open.

What the Visitor Wants

After years of speculative and often wishful thinking among state officials and private businessmen concerned with the development of the Wisconsin vacation industry, the state government at long last is building a file of statistical evidence about the likes and dislikes of the tourist visitor and vacationer.

The latest publication by Prof. I. V. Fine of the University of Wisconsin School of Commerce on behalf of the State Department of Resource Development tends to verify what this researcher has concluded on the basis of earlier studies.

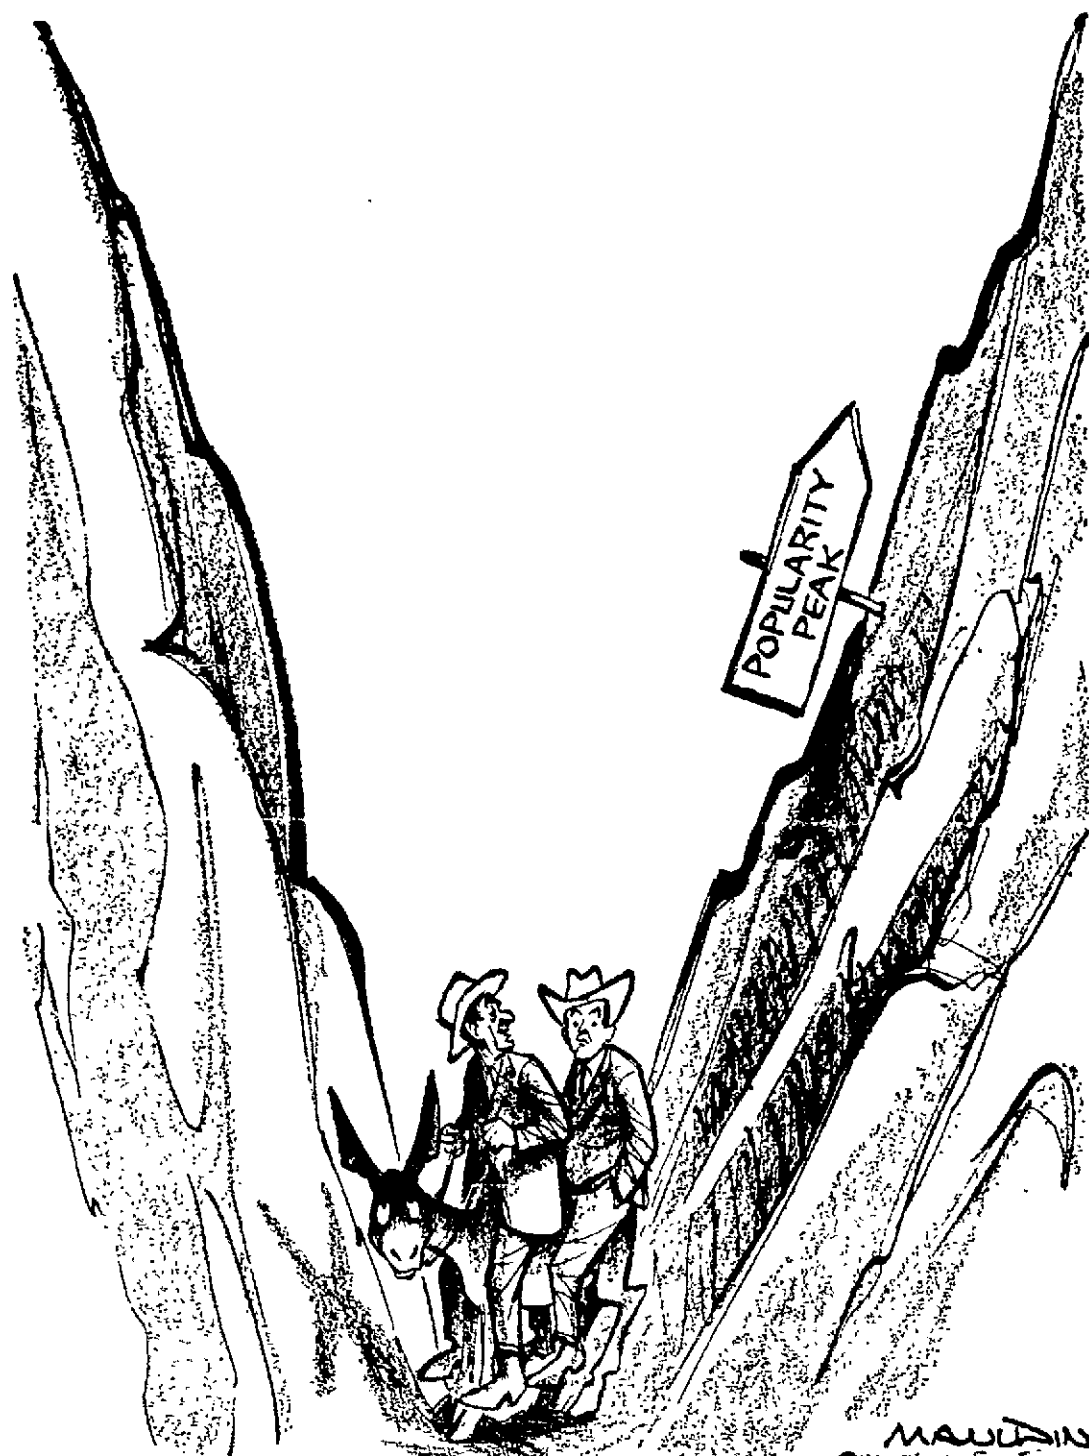

It may be hateful to some of the proprietors of our fishing resorts and some of our publicity men who have been singing the same tune for so long, but the major attraction in Wisconsin is not the muskellunge, or even the elusive trout, or the humble perch or the tasty walleye.

Scenery and sightseeing are more important than any other single attraction to the visitor in a Wisconsin locality. Wisconsin residents and nonresidents alike, and are nearly as important as attractions as all other measurable factors taken together. The latest study shows that they account for 44 per cent of the motivation of Wisconsin holiday trips undertaken by the selected persons polled by Prof. Fine's project. If such nominations as "parks and waysides" and such comments as "nice place" and "good roads" are added to the scenery and sightseeing desire, the contrast with the 15 per cent who related that fishing is what they like best about Wisconsin is even more telling.

This is not to dismiss altogether fishing opportunities as an attraction to the visitor from other parts of the country, and especially the big cities of the Middle West. It remains an important attraction, without doubt. But the predominant testimony about the value of the Wisconsin landscape should have the careful notice of our legislators and other public officials, nevertheless, and persuade them to support beautification and scenic resource protection programs even more zealously. For it is possible to restock an over-exploited trout stream. It is possible to rehabilitate the fishing resource in our lakes, in most circumstances. The hillside denuded, the roadside rendered treeless, the highway view obliterated by ugly billboards, are damages that are more costly to repair and are often irreparable.

We note that the State Conservation Department has gradually adjusted its own promotion techniques to the documentation of the desires of the visitors and those resources they enjoy. Currently, for example, it has embarked upon a campaign to tell millions of Middlewesterners about the scenic wonders of Wisconsin in the winter, and the multiplicity of winter recreational opportunities. In many other ways our official salesmen can diversify their appeals to attract even more visitors and their holiday budgets to our communities.

Taylor Writes

Oswald a Dedicated Communist; Thought He'd Become a Red Hero

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

DALLAS — The articles I wrote from New Orleans, detailing Lee Harvey Oswald's career there, reveal a self-portrait of a Red. His New Orleans Communist record continues to the end here, equally documented not by instantly whenever cornered."

Oswald was never just some "crackpot" wandering around for two and a half years in the Soviet Union, nor was this possible. He was protected by Moscow's identity document (No. 311479). He was immediately given a certificate to marry (April 30, 1961) his Russian wife, Marina Nikolayevna Prusakova, introduced to him March 17. She lived in Minsk with her uncle, himself a high-ranking official of the MVD, the Soviet Intelligence service.

Oswald's key MVD contact was a Colonel Nikolay Aksenov. He was supplied a suitable salary and an attractive apartment, rent free, and a $70-per-month subsidy from the MVD section of the Soviet "Red Cross," a worldwide intelligence front. The Alek in his U.S. alias — Alek J. Hindell — was Oswald's nickname in Russia. The "Comrade Kostin" at the Soviet Mexico City Embassy was MVD officer Valeriy Vladimirovich Kostikov.

Oswald's preferential treatment is undeniable and so is his affiliation with the Communist cause and its personnel up to the very moment he died.

COMMUNIST HERO

On July 26, 1963, and again September 8, Castro had castigated the President of the United States over Radio Havana as a "ruffian," "bar," "imperialist," "my enemy," etc. It is essential to point out again and again that surely Oswald knew that, whether Castro ordered it or not, if he killed the President of the United States (a secret the Reds most certainly would keep) he would be an inside hero in Castro's Havana hierarchy, and a hero for the first time in his life.

Oswald's undated letter to his wife, written here and found secreted in his personal effects by the Dallas police, includes: "Certain of my documents are in the small blue valise... The Embassy (i.e., Soviet Embassy) will come quickly to your assistance on learning everything... The 'Red Cross' will also help you... we have friends here." He wrote these instructions in Russian and enclosed the key to a P.O. mailbox under his alias at the Ervay Street Substation.

Trapped by her own cover-ups, Marina Oswald finally stated that Oswald had, in fact, laid plans to reach Cuba by returning to New Orleans and hijacking an airliner flying to Havana from there. But he abandoned this exit method. Instead, Oswald prepared the way by going (September 25) to Castro's Embassy in Mexico City. U.S. State Department and Warren Commission investigators, in turn, found that "he intended to remain in Cuba."

Postmarked Dallas, November 1, a letter Oswald wrote to the Communist party, U.S.A., New York headquarters, reported his return here. Headquarters executive Arnold S. Johnson had the gall to claim this "information" was not received in the mail until after the assassination on November 22. And, thanks to the diversions, the Communists duck the whole monolith of the affair.

Few Bogus Bills Bounced on Nags in Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — Counterfeit money passed at Chicago race tracks was only $625 during 1955.

The Illinois Bureau of Race Track Police Inc., a department of the Illinois Racing Board, said this is an infinitesimal figure when compared with the year's total parimutuel handle of $416,414,657, for 429 racing days and nights.

The Secret Service Office in Chicago is immediately notified of the number of the bill and the bank upon which it is supposedly drawn. This gives the service a lead as to where the "batch" originated. The word then is passed to other localities to watch for the passers.

Nationally, about $3,363,000 in counterfeit bills was recovered the fiscal year ending June 30, 1955.

Wisconsin Report

Jack Olson Again Back in Office of Lieutenant Governor

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The return of Jack B. Olson of Wisconsin Dells to the office of lieutenant governor will be regarded by incumbent first in line to the succession to the governorship in the event of the death, retirement or incapacitation of the elected executive.

Almost all recent lieutenant governors of Wisconsin sought the place for that reason. The recent examples of Knowles and Lucey illustrate. The aspiration of Mr. Olson is equally well known. Succession through death of incumbent governors is not common but it happens frequently enough to be a factor in the deliberations of men who run for the place. Only two decades ago, when a very old man held the office of governor, there were so many aspirants for the lieutenant governorship on his ticket that some irreverent critics publicly talked about the palbearers' club.

Yet when the lieutenant governor does succeed, as he so often does, he comes into the executive department with some legislative experience and understanding, but very little about the nature and scope of his new executive responsibilities. It is for that reason that there is now some serious discussions among academic critics of governmental affairs about upgrading the duties and the prestige of the lieutenant governor.

SOME EXECUTIVE DUTY?

Occupying the presiding platform in the Senate is essentially irrelevant to the lieutenant governor's function in politics. The Senate could choose its own president, even as the Assembly has always chosen its own speaker as presiding officer. The Senate, in fact, has a rule providing for the election of a president, who takes over when the lieutenant governor misses a roll call or otherwise chooses to be absent.

In the expanding role of state government, the lieutenant governor could be more effective and useful as a kind of chief aide of the governor, as his deputy at some of the many board and commission functions in which he is involved, as a ceremonial assistant, and as a helper in the executive office proper. Thus the office would square with the implications of its name and the assumptions of citizens. Thus he would get some useful training in the duties for which he is obviously preparing politically. It may be that the pending constitutional amendment to provide for the election of the governor on a single ballot will pave the way for such an alignment of reality with appearance.

Strictly Personal

Exaggeration Often Weakens Argument

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

In most private arguments, we tend to weaken our own case by pushing it too far, by claiming more than should be rightfully claimed. When we do the same in public argument, it just breaks down any risk. It does not stop us from smoking; it simply warns us of the health hazard.

Business and conservative elements in America have continually injured their own cause by shouting "Wolf!" too long and too often, so that the general public no longer believes it when the wolf really begins lurking on the landscape. The constant cries have made it easier, not harder, for government to encroach on private activities.

The way to win the public is by an intelligent discrimination between those government policies which are needed to protect the consumer from his own ignorance, and those which do not interfere with freedom of choice and purchase. By indiscriminately labeling everything the government does as "big brotherism," private enterprise has conditioned the public to accept, rather than reject, statism.

If social security is called "socialism," as it was 30 years ago, and if Medicare is called "socialism," as it was last year, then the public will say, "if this is socialism, then we're for it" — and if thorough-going socialism is ever proposed by the government, it will find a ready audience.

Indian Soldiers Face Waves of Propaganda

GANGTOK, Sikkim (AP) — Chinese troops facing Indian soldiers on the frontier of this Indian protectorate high in the Himalayas are asking, with loudspeakers, a disturbing question. "Why are you here?" they shout.

Indian officials say this is disturbing because it implies a Chinese claim to territory India has pledged to protect and is reminiscent of Chinese propaganda that preceded the 1962 China-India border war.

Can Sports Cross Boundary Lines?

Sports enthusiasts like to suggest that sport, like science and music, is a means of cutting across national boundaries and increasing the chances for international cooperation. But that isn't the way it is working in Asia.

The Asian Games, as reported in Sports Illustrated, were a combination of appallingly poor sportsmanship, punches and elbows behind the scenes and the umpires' backs and protests of decisions.

In the first place not all Asian nations were represented and some of the participants had to stretch things a bit. Red China, Cambodia, North Vietnam and North Korea had their own Little Asian Games. This year Israel and Taiwan were part of the larger group although they hadn't participated last year because the games were held in Indonesia and Sukarno refused to invite them. India and Pakistan both took part in what Sports Illustrated says was "a bruising game in which Kashmir as well as a gold medal seemed to be at stake." Iranian sportsmen threatened to withdraw because they were placed behind the Israelis in the opening ceremonies. And a Filipino sprinter refused to take a sex test and clobbered all the women athletes.

Japan, however, and apparently by fair means and firm attention to duty, went back to Tokyo with most of the medals. But there is some grumbling about that as well because it was Japan which refused to let the Australians and Russians participate on the grounds that the one is in Oceania, not Asia, and the other is in Europe.

Despite all the conflict, it would still be something of a triumph if sporting events could replace wars as a means to national honor and supremacy. The victories might be achieved by fair means or foul but the casualties would be smaller.

How to be a Better Public Official

The role of governments — local, state and national — influences our daily lives whether we like it or not, and with New Year resolutions now in style, it might be well for elected and appointed officials to reflect on making the good still better.

Recently the New Hampshire Municipal Association printed a list of suggestions on "How to Be a Better Public Official," and we pass it on for the betterment of communities, such as Appleton and many others caught in the throes of accelerated urbanization.

In the spirit of objectivity and the best interest of good government, we offer the association's suggestions that public officials:

"Don't act as a committee of one. Remember that your only authority lies in your membership on the board or council.

Don't use your official position for personal gain or to promote your own interests. Disqualify yourself if your board or council is considering a matter in which you have a personal interest.

Don't let honest differences of opinion degenerate into personality conflicts.

Visit other communities, particularly those that have the reputation of being well-run. If your community is about to undertake a special project, inspect similar projects in other communities.

Keep the public informed. Issue frequent reports, accept invitations to speak before local groups, hold open meetings, issue an annual report.

"Never accept gifts or favors from individuals or firms doing business with your city.

Represent all the people in your community, not just your friends, neighbors, or business associates.

Express your honest convictions, although you are in the minority, but support major decisions.

Don't be misled by the vocal demands of special interest groups. When in doubt, ask yourself: "Is this in the best interests of the whole community?"

Remember that there are at least two sides to each question. Listen politely, but reserve making a decision until you have all the facts.

Don't try to be an expert on all phases of local government. Seek the advice of real experts.

Cooperate with other public agencies and with all citizen groups working in the best interests of your community.

Work for and insist that the affairs of your city be conducted on a sound, business-like basis.

Don't be content just to "hold office." Use your office to provide the kind of dedicated, creative, forceful leadership that your citizens have a right to expect."

Labor's Power Weakened by Events in '66

Wages Continued Climb, but Strength in Politics Faded

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor triumphed over the White House and business in its fight for higher wages in 1966 but lost ground in prices and politics.

The result spells trouble for the unions in the new Congress and in the coming year's major bargaining table collisions with industry.

Labor victories in breaching White House wage guidelines in the past year's biggest contract settlements had a somewhat empty ring in light of the sharp rise in living costs in a decade.

Cost-of-living wage escalators — the workers' insurance policy against inflation — became a prime union demand again after years of decline.

And after many of their candidates went down to defeat in the November elections, labor leaders became increasingly apprehensive about possible hostile legislation in Congress in 1967.

Compulsory Arbitration

AFL-CIO President George Meany foresaw the possibility of a compulsory arbitration law to prevent walkouts like last summer's airlines strike, and may be even wage-price controls.

"We don't look forward to that with any great feeling of delight," Meany said in behalf of the big labor federation's 13.5 million members in 129 unions.

Some 35,000 machinists won the annual wage and fringe benefit increases of five per cent or more after a six-week strike that grounded five major airlines. In the process, they handed President Johnson his first defeat in major labor cases by rejecting one contract proposal negotiated in the White House.

Later, about 180,000 members of 11 unions won a similar size contract increase from the giants of the electrical industry, General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Labor did get a new minimum wage law, hiking the present $1.25 an hour minimum to $1.40 next February and to $1.60 in February 1968.

Guideline Failure

The five per cent contract gains, and the emphasis on cost-of-living protection against inflation, set a trend that put in limbo the government's efforts to hold wage hikes to 3.2 per cent a year under White House economic guidelines.

The government also increasingly warned of threats to the Vietnam war effort in coping with a rash of strikes involving defense products ranging from electronic tubes to jet aircraft engines.

The questions of national interest, vital defense production, and the economic argument over inflation are sure to heighten in the series of major contract negotiations coming up in 1967.

These involve several million workers in trucking, auto manufacturing, rubber, clothing, telephone, paper, leather, food processing and other industries.

In politics the AFL-CIO started off the year irked at the Democratic administration for what it termed failure to deliver past campaign promises to labor, but returned to the fold in time to share the party's re-

Seek State Aid on Port Runway

The Oulagamie County Board's airport committee Tuesday instructed Corp. Counsel A. W. Ponath to draft a petition to the Wisconsin State Aeronautics Commission, seeking a hearing on aid for an 1,800-foot extension on the new runway now under construction.

The county board last July authorized the airport committee to petition the state agency for state and federal aid in financing the airport improvement.

County officials said the nature of traffic at the new airport will make it feasible to extend the new 5,200-foot north-east to southwest runway, being built with county, state and federal funds. Cost of the new runway is about $1 million.

The extension would provide sufficient length for jet airplane takeoffs and landings, county officials feel.

morse at the big Democratic losses to the Republicans at election time.

Meany wanted that labor must work to prevent "strangulation" of recently enacted programs for medical care, education, antipoverty and other Great Society legislation.

Labor was unable to win repeal of Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, legalize construction site picketing, or improve unemployment compensation in the heavily Democratic 89th Congress, and chances for the proposals in the new 90th appeared poor.

"Pretty dim," Meany said glumly of the chances of reviving the bill to repeal Section 14B, which now sanctions state laws prohibiting union shop contracts under which all employees must join the union.

In another labor event of the past year, James R. Hoffa was re-elected president of the independent Teamsters Union despite 13 years in pending prison sentences. His jury-tampering and mail fraud convictions are under appeal.

Meany and Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, the principal architects of the 11-year-old AFL-CIO, clashed bitterly in a dispute over the federation's hard-line foreign policy.

Reuther accused Meany of undermining President Johnson's "bridge-building" efforts to ease tensions with the Communist world.

"We don't believe you can build bridges to countries that oppress workers," said Meany.

Public Workers Strike

A rash of strikes and strike threats grew from a relatively new quarter — public employees such as firemen, policemen, teachers, hospital workers and transit employees.

These labor troubles raised anew the question of whether city and state employees should have the right to strike.

In one case, a garbage-men's strike in a well-to-do Maryland suburb near Washington raised a stink around the homes of many prominent federal officials, including Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

The surprise retirement of David D. Dubinsky, 74, after 34 years as president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union added to the list of old line labor leaders removed from the active scene.

The diminutive, pixie-like Dubinsky had enlivened many a labor meeting with his puckish sense of humor. When Meany was demanding a $2 minimum wage, Dubinsky said he'd settle for $1.98.

Emergency Oil Reserve Hoarded in California

TAFT, Calif. (AP) — For 54 years the federal government has been hoarding a $3 billion property in Elk Hills, Calif., hoping it may never have to use it.

It is a 98-square-mile reserve rich in oil deposits—one of Uncle Sam's most valuable pieces of real estate. Scattered across the brush-covered hills, 10 miles from Taft, are 1,032 wells ready to produce 230,000 barrels of oil a day.

But aside from periodic checks on functioning—and a short period in World War II—the wells are little used. They are America's standby oil pool for national emergencies. Probably only an all-out war would get the wells into production.

Standing on top of this oil pool is a $5 million gas plant built in 1952. It is really a ghost refinery. Every morning, five days a week, one man reports for work there. He changes oil in the pumps, checks more than 5,000 valves and sprays preservatives.

Repair Insulation

Also, insulation may have to be repaired. Roadrunners and other birds peck at it and take it away for nesting material.

The reserve is administered by the U.S. Navy and is overseen by Navy Commander Justin D. Denman, a veteran of battleship, carrier and cruiser duty.

Assisting Denman is another Navy officer and 16 civilians. Then there are about a 100 persons employed by the Standard Oil Co.

Of the 46,095 acres in the reserve, Standard Oil owns about 20 per cent. It owned all the land prior to Sept. 12, 1912 when Congress set it aside. Standard Oil is cooperating with the plan and draws only enough oil to pay taxes and operating expenses.

Growing Obsolete

Obsolescence is catching up with the refinery. But Denman says the refinery should be operable many years from today.

It will just be less efficient than modern refineries.

There are other problems. A constant battle is being waged to prevent salt water from seeping underground into the field from the North.

So rich is the field that during a period following World War II, 200 wells were drilled without hitting a dry hole.

In fact, the oil workers produce $10 million worth of oil a year just in periodic tests of well equipment and in restricting losses from movement. It all flows into the U.S. Treasury.

The field figured in the 1923 Teapot Dome scandal that shook the administration of President Warren G. Harding. A senate investigation disclosed that Albert B. Fall, then secretary of the interior, had persuaded the secretary of the navy to transfer the Elk Hills and Teapot Dome Wyo., oil reserves to Fall's department.

Private Producers

Fall leased the reserves to private oil producers without competitive bidding. Fall said the government should get all the royalties it could before the field was drained by wells in the adjoining Salt Creek field.

Fall was convicted of accepting a $100,000 bribe from his former prospecting partner, Edward L. Doheny. Doheny was acquitted in the same court and before the same judge of giving Fall the bribe.

The litigation involved Harry

F. Sinclair and Henry M. Blackmer and resulted in cancellation of the private leases. Blackmer fled to Europe in 1924. It was disclosed in U.S. District Court at Cheyenne, Wyo., that the Continental Trading Co., of which Blackmer was a director, made $2 million through paper transactions and the money invested in Liberty Bonds. The government said some of those bonds were traced to Fall. Sinclair was accused of passing the bonds to Fall, but was acquitted of the charge.

Rubys' Body Returned for Chicago Burial decide that he was guilty of nothing more than murder without malice, a crime that carries a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment."

Won't Affect Report
In Los Angeles, Joseph A. Ball, who was senior staff counsel to the Warren Commission, said he did not see how Ruby's death could have any effect on the validity of the commission's report on Kennedy's assassination.

Ruby had been moved to Parkland Hospital Dec. 9 from the Dallas County jail, where he spent more than three years after killing Oswald before a nationwide television audience. It was the same hospital where Oswald succumbed shortly after Ruby shoved through a crowd and fired as police escorted Oswald through the City Hall basement Nov. 24, 1963.

Oswald, a malcontent ex-Marine, subsequently was named by the Warren Commission as the assassin whose rifle shots fatally wounded President Kennedy two days earlier on a Dallas street.

'Jovial' Mood
Doctors said Ruby woke up Tuesday in a "jovial" mood, had a bath, and ordered eggs for breakfast. He suffered a "generalized convulsive seizure" at 9:10 a.m. and was dead by 10:30, said Dr. Eugene Frenkel.

Ruby made a clandestine recording at the hospital only days before his death in which he said it was an accident of timing that he had a chance to shoot Oswald as police officers were escorting the handcuffed, 24-year-old suspect to a waiting car in the basement of the city jail, in a routine transfer to the county jail.

Ruby said in the recording that he had understood that Oswald was to be transferred about 10 a.m.

'Illegal Turn'
Ruby made a trip from his apartment to the Western Union, half a block from the police station, to telegraph a $25 money order to a Fort Worth stripper who needed rent money.

Evidence was produced at Ruby's 1964 Dallas murder trial that the money order was stamped at the Western Union at 11:17 a.m.

Police said Ruby shot Oswald at 11:21 a.m.

The recording said, in Ruby's words:

"The ironic part of this business is that I made an illegal turn behind a bus at the parking lot. Had I gone the way I was supposed to go — straight down Main Street — I would never — I would never have met this fate because the difference of meeting this fate was 30 seconds one way or the other."

mentary was published in local papers today with additional comments attributed to Thai officials incorporated in it.

An unnamed high military officer was quoted as saying the government was "making preparations" to send a combat force to South Vietnam. But he added "As to when we will send our team, this will depend upon consultations with the authorities of South Vietnam and the United States." He said a formal request from the Saigon government for Thai troops was awaited.

Praphas said the National Security Council is considering whether it would be better to concentrate on preventing Communist insurgency from spreading within Thailand or help put down a Communist uprising outside the country before it reaches Thailand's borders.

Drink, Drive, Die Has Become Epidemic

Wisconsin against mixing drinking and driving.

Motor Vehicle Department records tick off these facts:

—More motorists are dying each year because of drinking.

—The number of drunken driving convictions, however, is going down.

—More drunken driving charges are being reduced to lesser charges; more motorists are balking at taking alcohol tests.

—The number of young people involved in drunken driving is going up.

The toll of 3-D accidents—drink, drive and die—is triple that of the previous year as increased tests disclose how epidemic they have become.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles, starting his second term, promises his highway safety package for the 1967 Legislature will have some hard-hitting plans to curb adult drinkers and make it more difficult for young drivers to take on alcohol as a companion.

The package will have some new ideas carrying high hopes. It will also include some proposals that have been broached before and have been met by bored yawns.

The Republican chief executive and his aides are convinced there is now growing support for action that has been lacking in the past.

Knowles says, "think of the number of persons who have been touched by an accident... not just by a fatality, but a relative who's been injured and hospitalized.

"These people ought sometime to wake up to the fact that there is something that can be done about it."

Neither Knowles, those helping him, or Dan Schutz, the State Motor Vehicle Department safety director, accept the oft-quoted theory that more accidents and more deaths must naturally accompany an era of more drivers and faster cars.

"The ratio of drinking accidents is growing faster than the number of drivers," Schutz notes.

"There's no problem of congested and crowded highways because most of the drunken driving accidents take place on lesser traveled or isolated roads," he says.

Knowles adds, "this isn't a condition we have to live with I'm thoroughly convinced we can cope with it."

He goes on, "we have to take some severe steps in the area of drunken driving. No one can justify the guy who's driving drunk..."

State officials have what

Capital's Fire Calls Mostly False Alarms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Firemen in the nation's capital responded to 9,595 alarms in 1966. More than half — 5,353 — were false, officials said today.

The old record for such acts, which occur largely in areas of low-cost housing with heavy concentrations of children, was 4,237, set in 1965.

drive to impose tougher regulations.

Arguments for reversing the losing movement and getting tough include:

—For the last period for which figures are available—23 months—six out of 10 persons killed in single car accidents were intoxicated by the standards which guide coroner investigations.

—One of every 10 drivers suspected of drunken driving in 1963 refused to take an alcohol test. By 1965 the refusal rate was one of three.

—In 1965, one of each three refusing to undergo a test was able to have a drunken driving charge dismissed or amended to a less serious violation.

—The highest accident rate among drinking 19 to 26-year-olds occurs between 11 p.m. and 2 a.m. with the highest accident incidence of 18 and 19-year-olds in periods of beer tavern operations.

—Eighteen to 20-year-olds make up seven per cent of all Wisconsin drivers and are involved in 14 per cent of all fatal accidents.

Both Knowles and Schutz put a 21-year-old drinking age limit on a list of urgent needs, noting that Wisconsin is virtually a "beer island" because it permits buying at the age of 18.

"Studies show that these other states had a marked decrease in all types of accidents after the beer drinkers age was increased," Schutz said.

Alive Despite Throwing Himself on a live enemy hand grenade is Army Capt. Charles J. Banks, 36, Holland, Mich., sitting here at the controls of his spotter plane at Can Tho in South Vietnam. "The only way I can look at it is that on Dec. 21 I died," Banks said. "It's really hard to realize I'm still walking around." On Dec. 21, Banks threw himself on the Viet Cong grenade while five of his men dived for cover. When they were safe, he threw the grenade into a field where it exploded. The four-second grenade took 12 seconds to explode. Banks has been awarded a Bronze Star and is recommended for the Medal of Honor. (AP Wirephoto)

The Viet Cong radio announced Tuesday night that Scales and Monahan would be released. They disappeared May 27, 1966, while driving to Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon. Their Jeep was found later.

Asked for Leniency

The Red broadcast said the Americans had asked for leniency and that the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong, had granted their request as a New Year's present.

In other developments, Air Force long-range B52 bombers struck twice today at Communist positions in South Vietnam.

Before dawn, the heavy bombers swept in from Guam to hammer a suspected troop concentration 32 miles northwest of Saigon.

Soon after daybreak, a second wave of B52s pounded another suspected troop concentration eight miles west-northwest of Bong Son near the central coast.

Pilots claimed they destroyed 13 barges and 3 junks and damaged 64 barges and 31 junks, scoring hits on more than half of the 200 watercraft attacked.

Navy Phantom jet pilots attacked a North Vietnamese torpedo boat 23 miles east of Haiphong and reported their rockets left the PT boat with two fires burning on it.

Other carrier pilots used rockets to strike at a missile radar site southeast of Thanh Hoa and reported damaging the site.

54 Missions

In all, U.S. Navy pilots flew 54 strike missions over North Vietnam Tuesday. Air Force pilots added another 26 missions, hitting at oil depots, staging areas and roads in the southern panhandle.

Only one Communist MIG21 ventured forth during Tuesday's forays, a U. S. spokesman said. He said the MIG "scotched away" when a flight of F4 Phantom jets closed in and there was no contact.

The spokesman disclosed that one of the Phantom fighters involved in Monday's big air battle sustained light damage. Previously, U. S. officials announced that all the U. S. planes escaped unscathed when they shot down seven MIG21s for the biggest single day's bag of the war.

Ruby Felt He Was Slum-Born Nobody

Oswald Slayer Wanted to Save Mrs. Kennedy Anguish of Trial

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, a product of the Chicago slums, was little known outside of Dallas police and entertainment circles until he stepped to the center of the world stage Nov. 24, 1963, and shot Lee Harvey Oswald.

Oswald, himself an obscure man until he had been accused of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy two days earlier, died in Parkland Hospital several hours after he was shot in police custody.

Ruby, 52, was a semisuccessful girlie show opera when he darted between officers and newsmen in the basement of the Dallas City Hall and shot Oswald during a transfer from the city to the county jail.

He said he did it to spare the President's widow the anguish of having to come back to Dallas for Oswald's murder trial. He maintained he had not known Oswald, and that he was part of no conspiracy.

The Warren Commission, appointed by President Johnson to tell the world the truth about the assassination, said Ruby had acted alone.

Doubt Lingers

There was lingering doubt, however, in the minds of many on this point Ruby was aware that his version was not universally believed, and he asked to the end to be given a lie detector test so that the world would believe him.

A Dallas jury sentenced him to death after a stormy month-long trial in March 1964, but a state appellate court overturned the conviction only two months before his cancer was discovered Dec. 9.

A new trial was tentatively scheduled for Wichita Falls in February but all plans were ety of odd jobs, from scalping tickets at sporting events to vending pennants and the like.

He and some friends moved to San Francisco in 1933. They earned a living mainly by selling newspaper subscriptions from door to door.

In 1937, he moved back to Chicago, to help old friend Leon R. Cooke organize junk yard workers. But Cooke died in 1939, and after two more years of selling this and that, Ruby was drafted.

He was trained as an Air Force mechanic, got a "very satisfactory" rating, and was mustered out in 1946 without having left the country.

Eva Grant asked him to join her in Dallas, and he did in 1947. They opened two night clubs and Ruby devoted most of his time to the downtown strip joint called the Carousel, which he managed until it was closed after the assassination.

Never Married

He legally changed his name from Jake Rubenstein to Jack Leon Ruby in 1948. He was soon known in Dallas as a man who wanted class. He remained a bachelor.

"He wanted to be liked, and he was," said an acquaintance. "Jack didn't like hecklers," said one of his strippers. He got a reputation as a manager who would beat up a drunk and toss him down the stairs at his club.

Police liked him because he would tip them off when he felt they needed to know something. It was this image, as a sharp dresser and a tough customer, that he carried with him as his path crossed Oswald's two days after Kennedy was slain.

Ruby did not take the witness stand at his trial. But Chief Justice Earl Warren provided a lie detector test for him in jail in the summer of 1964, and he swore he did not know Oswald. He also said he did not want Mrs. Kennedy to have to come back to Dallas.

One of his lawyers, Joe Tona-hill of Jasper, Tex., said Ruby told him more than once: "I'm just a nobody from the ghettos of Chicago."

End Adv for use only in the event of the death of Jack Ruby.

Bit of Texas Abroad

South-Loving Briton Runs Confederate Pub

By EDDY GILMORE

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Geographically, the Southern Hotel is appropriately down south—way down yonder in south Manchester.

High above the hotel flies a tattered Confederate flag. In the main ballroom is the Lone Star flag of Texas. A miniature Confederate flag decorates every table in the dining room. Above the bar is another burgee with the stars and bars of the Confederacy.

Why? "I'm probably the only middle-aged, South-loving, frustrated English cowboy you've ever met," explained John Ridley 45, "and I'm the proprietor of the Southern Hotel."

"I like the South. I like the Southwest. I've been fascinated by everything Southern and Southwestern since I was a child. But, it was just pure luck when I got the Southern Hotel. You see, it had been named that before I got it. I suppose it's because it's in south Manchester."

Wrote to Johnson

Ridley emphasized that he brought in the Confederate theme.

"I wrote to President Lyndon Johnson asking him for permission to fly the flag," he said. "I don't know what happened, but I received a reply from Gov. John Connally of Texas."

"Gov. Connally sent us the large flag and some smaller ones and a tremendous amount of literature on Texas and the South in general. Let me tell you, sir, I'm proud to fly the Southern flag."

The man was all but talking with a Southern accent. In addition to being the proprietor of the Southern Hotel, Ridley is also an official of the Quick-Draw Club in Blackpool.

"We started the club four years ago," he said. "I practice in my cellar, get through about 1,000 rounds of ammunition every week."

Guns, Horses

Then the members own guns?

"Loads of them. I've got a single-hand rig and a twin-rig. The twin-rig is for the two-gun man. I confess, I'm a two-gun English cowboy."

And horses?

"Oh, yes, we've got horses. Not only do most of us have horses, but we have rifles, real American Western rifles and for that matter, handmade leather holsters."

But isn't all this very costly? "You're right it is. Just ask my wife. She's giving me hell about it, pardner."

Ridley said he wanted to get one thing definitely understood. "I like all Americans," he insisted. "I just happen to favor the South."

"During the war in Italy, I was in a hospital in Caserta. It was my birthday and they let me out on crutches."

"I met up with some of your boys in a little cafe and got to talking and I said I'd met American men, but I'd never even seen an American girl."

"A big sergeant said, 'We'll fix that.' Do you know, those American soldiers picked up my crutches and they picked me up too and they took me to a place where your WACs were stationed."

Birthday Party

"Well, sir, those soldiers knocked on a door and we all went in and sat around for a few minutes being entertained by two delightful American girls." "The sergeant was a fellow named McDonnell from Texas. Well, he disappeared and after a while I began to get embarrassed at taking up so much of these girls' time."

"Just then some sliding doors opened and I saw about 20 or 30 of these American girls. They were standing around their dining table and on the table was a

21-Day Rule Decision Will Affect Legislation

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision that could vitally affect the course of legislation in the 90th Congress will be made next Monday when House Democrats hold their pre-session caucus. They will decide whether to try to retain the 21-day rule or discard it.

The rule puts a limit of 21 days on the time the Rules Committee may block House action on legislation approved by other committees. It was adopted originally at the insistence of Speaker Sam Rayburn to protect President John F. Kennedy's legislative program from strangulation by the Rules Committee then dominated by conservatives. It has been retained at the insistence of the Democratic leadership.

But last year's election results made the rule less appealing to its original sponsors. Among other things, the elections vacated the seats of Rules Chairman Howard W. Smith, a conservative Virginia Democrat, and James W. Trimble, an Arkansas moderate.

Democrats held 10 seats on the Rules Committee last year and Republicans 5. The ideological division was 8 to 7 in favor of the liberals, although there was true, and the 21-day rule was used on several occasions.

The lineup in the new Congress will be 10 Democrats and 5 Republicans. Democrats plan to fill their two vacancies with liberals. Theoretically that would give the Democratic leadership a 9-6 voting edge on most legislation, or at worst 8 to 7. The new chairman, Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., has voted in the past with the 5 Republicans and probably will continue to do so.

Force Votes

With that strong grip on the committee, the leadership sees no point in retaining the 21-day rule. It could be used to force House votes on legislation the leaders want bottled up by the Rules Committee.

Conservatives will be in the merical control of some committees this year and might kick over the traces and approve bills the administration doesn't want. In that event, an unfettered Rules Committee could serve as a graveyard for the administration.

Rep. Richard M. Bolling, D-Mo., one of the original champions of the 21-day rule and a leading spokesman for the liberals, sees no reason to retain the rule.

"We don't need it and we don't want it if we get a strong grip on the Rules Committee," Bolling said.

Speaker John W. McCormack and Democratic Leader Carl Albert reportedly agree with Bolling, although they have made no formal statements to that effect. Next Monday's caucus probably will bow to the wishes of McCormack and Albert.

Whether the rule is retained or junked is up to the House itself. It will make the final decision when the new rules are adopted at next Tuesday's opening session.

Conservatives who opposed the rule in the past now see some merit in it if it is changed. They would like to remove the speaker's arbitrary authority to call up or hold back legislation sidetracked by the Rules Committee for 21 days. The speaker now has sole power to decide when the rule shall be used.

Free Funeral Offer Goes Uncollected

The newspaper said 15 persons signed up for the period from 10 p.m. Christmas Eve to 6 a.m. New Year's Day, bringing the six-year total for the offer to 141.

Appleton Man Sentenced for Five Forgeries

William Ward Given Indeterminate Term in State Prison

William A. Ward, 39, 225 E. Murray Ave., whose preliminary hearing on five forgery counts was to have continued Tuesday afternoon, pleaded no contest, was found guilty, and was sentenced to an indeterminate term of not more than one year in the state prison at Waupun.

Ward's court-appointed attorney asked for waiver of the remainder of the preliminary hearing which had been continued to allow for testimony by a handwriting expert. Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer was going to ask for another continuance because he said the witness was not available Tuesday.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller bound Ward over to the felony branch of County Court before taking the no contest pleas. In sentencing the Appleton man, Judge Keller pointed out that Ward has spent much of his life in prison. He said he felt Ward needs special help that he could receive only at an institution like the state prison.

Police Investigation
Ward was charged, following investigation by Appleton police, with issuing forged $68 checks June 3 at the Park 'N' Market Store, Kroger Co., Shop 'N' Save, and the Alko Super Market. He also pleaded no contest to attempting to forge a $4 check June 3 at Schaefer's, Inc.

The district attorney asked that $156 found on Ward's person be pro-rated to the business places where Ward cashed checks. Schaefer contended the money was obtained by the forged checks. Judge Keller granted the request.

Ward spent considerable time in Central State Hospital at Waupun before he appeared in court for a preliminary hearing and the entering of pleas.

Appleton Hopes to Cut Down on Telephone Bill

The City of Appleton is going to take steps to cut down its telephone bill.

Members of the council's finance committee gave the town Tuesday night.

They reaffirmed their position that a communications survey be conducted of all departments, boards, agencies and commissions within city government.

"There is no doubt that economies can be arrived at even if we do not change the present system," Finance Director Henry Schreve told the committee.

The board of education has a switchboard system, but other departments, including those at city hall, do not.

Tight Controls Sought for Appleton CATV Licenses

Proposed Ordinance Review Conducted by Two Committees

Tight control of community antenna television (CATV) by ordinance and licensing was advocated Tuesday at a joint meeting of two Appleton city council committees.

A proposed CATV ordinance, prepared by City Atty. David Geenen at the request of the council, was reviewed by members of the street-sanitation and public safety committees, and others.

One prediction — by Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd) — was that Appleton may get a television station before CATV if plans for a fourth national TV network materialize. Under the CATV system, the operator builds a tower with which he picks up signals of stations far and near, charging the TV set owner a monthly fee for receiving the service.

Protection Sought
Aldermen felt if Appleton is going to get CATV, the city should have an ordinance which would provide complete protection and give the community the best system possible.

There are 15 firms that have indicated interest in obtaining an exclusive CATV franchise here.

The committees and Geenen were in agreement that CATV operators should not be awarded a franchise, but rather license CATV operators who would use poles and other facilities of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. and Wisconsin Telephone Co.

Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), council president and street-sanitation committee chairman, said it was hoped to have an acceptable ordinance ready for presentation to the council sometime in February.

Documented Recommendation
Kalata, associated with Radio Station WAPL, documented recommendations which he thought would be of aid to the committee and city attorney in firming up an ordinance.

He warned the city should be on guard against so-called "trafficking" in CATV franchises or licenses — the term given when operators receive a commitment from a community and then eventually sell or transfer the franchise or license at a profit.

V. I. Minahan, president of the Appleton-based and owned Post Corporation which has newspaper, radio and television holdings, said the tentative ordinance had some loopholes which should be plugged for the good of the city and viewing public.

His suggestions included, among other things, that the city:

Full Service
— Require any CATV operator to serve the entire city, rather than just provide the service to more lucrative areas, and ruling others out.

— Stipulate that once a license is granted, actual CATV service be provided within "a reasonable time." The rough draft of the ordinance does not set a starting time.

— Control any origination of local programming which in the strict sense is not CATV and could discourage the location of a television station in Appleton at some future time.

— Provide program non-duplication protection for the regional television stations at Green Bay which serve the entire area with programs from all the major networks.

Higher Rate Advocated
Kalata's brief, distributed to council committee chairmen, also had many of the above recommendations. However, the near eastside alderman also advocated charging a higher Missing the Boat?

Finance Group Ponders Federal Aid in Appleton

Has Appleton been missing the boat on available state and federal aids?

The question was pondered Tuesday night by the council's finance committee.

And, earlier in the day the members of the street-sanitation committee also wondered what could be done, or what wasn't done in the past, to enable Appleton to receive federal assistance.

Recently, the City of Oshkosh received a grant of more than $1 million to assist it with a major sewer construction program. It was recalled that Appleton carried out a municipal sewer replacement program in recent years without the benefit of any aid.

Appleton Pays
In most instances it was necessary to float bond issues, loans and boost taxes to cover the heavy cost of revamping the city's storm and sanitary sewer systems.

"There should be someone in government in charge of keeping abreast of the various aid programs under which Appleton might be eligible," commented Ald. John MacDonald (7th).

Seidl was arrested after an incident at the scene of a traffic accident Nov. 6 at the intersection of Oneida and Calumet Streets. He appeared before Judge Gustave J. Keller Nov. 19 and pleaded innocent.

The judge today ordered Seidl to pay court costs from a $50 bond posted during the November court appearance.

Most of the money, $127.35, was collected by five youngsters between the ages of 11 and 15.

Abduction Count Filed Against Man

Charge Marvin Barth With Detaining 17-Year-Old Girl

A 27-year-old Appleton man this morning was arraigned in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on a felony charge of abduction involving a 17-year-old rural Black Creek girl.

Marvin Barth, 721 N. Morrison St., was jailed in lieu of posting $3,000 bond levied by County Judge Gustave J. Keller. The charge against Barth alleges he used force to detain the girl last Saturday night.

Barth was arraigned following an investigation by Outagamie County Sheriff's, Department investigators. Police allege Barth abducted the girl after an auto accident near her home on a town road.

Police said Barth was driving a car which struck the side of an auto driven by another 17-year-old girl. The accident reportedly occurred at about 9 p.m. Saturday.

Barth allegedly dragged the girl, who was a passenger, from the car and forced her to get into the car which he was driving. Investigators said Barth held the girl in his car until 3 a.m. Sunday when she was driven to her home in a taxi.

Barth this morning told the court that Atty. Allen Cain, Appleton, would act as defense counsel. No plea was entered by Barth. Judge Keller continued the case to 2 p.m. today.

State's Mayors Confer

New Taxes Won't End Revenue Gap, Meier Tells Cities

BY TIM WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Milwaukee Mayor Henry Meier warned Wisconsin city officials today not to expect new forms of taxation from the 1967 legislature to close the mushrooming local revenue gap.

Speaking at a novel meeting of state mayors here, Meier said that the anti-tax attitudes of Wisconsin legislative leaders forecloses the possibility of any new forms of revenue raising which could be used to supply state-shared money.

He placed the blame squarely on the shoulders of Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, (R-Appleton) and co-chairman of the legislative joint committee Walter Hollander (R-Rosendale), Assemblyman Byron Wackett (R-Watertown) and the Legislative Council, all of whom, according to Meier, have created an anti-local tax atmosphere for the coming session.

Improve Efficiency
The council recently declined to recommend proposed bills which would levy a local gross income tax, a wheel tax and a transient room tax, all to finance growing municipal expenditures. It recommended instead that studies be made of means to improve local government efficiency before any such sweeping changes are made.

Meier proposed — and said that bills will be entered in the coming session to create — three major tax changes within existing finance structures. —A redistribution of state utility taxes on the basis of the existing property tax relief formula. Meier also said that in such considerations more emphasis must be placed on the areas in which the utility does business rather than on where its plant is located.

Share Increase
—A 50-50 sharing with the state of the increase in revenue obtained from the selective sales tax. Again he endorsed distribution according to the property tax relief formula with emphasis on high-tax communities.

Halts After Warning Shot

Parolee Captured After Chase in Post-Crescent

A 23-year-old alleged parole

violinist from Minnesota was taken into custody by Outagamie County Sheriff's investigators at noon today in the parking lot at The Post-Crescent after he attempted to escape and was halted after police fired a warning shot.

Arrested following a chase that started in the news room of The Post-Crescent, was Howard F. Capener, 700 S. Memorial Drive, a Post-Crescent employee since Dec. 19. Sheriff's investigators said Capener "absconded from supervision of Minnesota authorities."

Investigators Russell Bowers and George Hanlon came to The Post-Crescent with papers for Capener's arrest about noon. They conferred with Capener in a private office.

Accompanied to Desk

About five minutes later, after investigators read the summons to Capener, they came out. One investigator stood near the main entrance and the other accompanied Capener to his desk in the city room.

Capener fumbled around his desk for a short time, went to get his coat and hat, then came back to his desk. Hanlon stood near Capener when suddenly the man shoved the investigator and fled out a door leading to the composing room.

Two composing room employees, Mrs. Edith Schmieg (widow of the late Judge Oscar Schmieg) and Clarence (Willy) Bentle, were knocked to the floor just inside the composing room when Capener slammed into them. Mrs. Schmieg suffered a bruised knee and wrist.

Torch Causes Fire In Building

A torch used for plumbing work was blamed for a fire Tuesday night that extensively damaged a large two-story apartment house being constructed at 2710 N. Drew St.

Appleton firemen who were called at 6:58 p.m. said the fire started in the first floor ceiling near the rear of the unoccupied building. Damaged were second floor joists, flooring, partitions, and the marina will be ex-wiring and plumbing. Flames burned through a small portion of the east side of the building.

Fire officials, who completed their investigation this morning, said workmen had been at the building until about 4:30 p.m. Tuesday. The building is owned by Victor Mueller, 1825 N. Division St.

Firemen, who brought the blaze under control shortly after they arrived, remained at the scene about an hour.

See Okay For Project At High Cliff

CHILTON — Members of the Calumet County Park and Zoning Commission Tuesday night held over until Jan. 20 a final decision on rezoning 26 acres of land near High Cliff State Park which would clear the way for initial construction of a $5 million to $6 million "recreation project."

A battery of planners revealed details for the multi-million dollar resort complex being proposed on 450 acres of property owned by Francis J. Schneider, route 1, Menasha, a farmer, and president of the resort firm.

The rezoning petition asks for a change from agricultural to commercial of only 26 acres of the total project. The 26-acre plot, however, would be the site of the resort's convenience center which would include a large hotel and retail stores.

Reactions Favorable
Commission members said they needed time to give the matter further consideration. Their reactions, however, were generally favorable and it is expected that rezoning will be approved.

G. J. Hipke, chairman of the county board and vice president of the park commission, said the seven-man commission will meet in executive session at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 20 to make a final decision. The decision will be referred to the county board for final action sometime in February.

Max Anderson, land use planner from Madison, said the "recreation village" will provide golf, swimming, riding, and fishing as well as a 250-unit resort hotel and 280 single residence home sites.

The first nine holes of an 18-hole golf course already have been roughed in and should be playable in 1968, according to William D. Engler Jr., Chilton attorney and treasurer of the firm.

Interweave Homes

"The estate homes will be interwoven within the fabric of the golf course," Anderson said. A par three course also is planned.

A series of man-made lakes already dot the area and will be used as hazards on the golf course as well as for fishing and swimming.

The commercial hub of the resort will be a "convenience center," Anderson said. The center will be southwest of the golf course and constructed to bridge two man-made lakes.

Anderson said $600,000 to $1 million in retail sales are anticipated yearly at the convenience center's retail facilities.

Included in the plans are a motel, supper club and a resort lodge. The lodge will be near a marina on Lake Winnebago and the marina will be ex-wiring and plumbing. Included in the plans are a motel, supper club and a resort lodge. The lodge will be near a marina on Lake Winnebago and the marina will be ex-

Holmes Wants 'Box Score' on Federal Aids

Aldermen Asked To Tally Progress; Raps New Review

MENASHA — Apparently in frustration at the city's battle against federal red tape entangling its plea for master planning aid, Mayor Kenneth Holmes has called for a "box score" on progress and objectives, and for other steps to expedite the project.

In a report to the common council Tuesday night, Holmes said he believed the two aldermen who are also members of the Menasha Redevelopment Authority (MRA) should prepare the "box score."

The mayor also distributed copies of a letter from the state Department of Resource Development stating the city's application for federal aid, which had been sent to regional officials in Chicago, is to be returned to the state agency for re-evaluation according to new federal guidelines.

"At Standstill"

"Until this has been done, we are at a standstill" on the planning program, Holmes commented.

In addition, Holmes released copies of letters today, written Tuesday to Walter K. Johnson, planning director for the state agency, and to Victor Gruen Associates, the city's planning consultant.

Holmes told Johnson he hoped the state officials could meet soon with city representatives to give further information on the status of the application for federal aid. The mayor also repeated an earlier query about whether the state agency will charge the city for its services, and if so what the fee might be.

The mayor asked the Gruen consultants to send a copy of a map presented by Gruen planner Jerry Pollak at an MRA meeting recently at which the progress of the preliminary studies was outlined. Holmes said the map and related information would make it possible to inform the common council of the study's progress.

Change in Terms

The council was also asked by the mayor to change the terms served by members of the MRA so they expire after the April municipal

Expand Neenah Redevelopment Committee to 10

NEENAH — The seven-man Neenah Redevelopment Study Committee will be upped to 10 members tonight as three city officials will take their "ex-officio" status into the group as voting members.

After considerable discussion on naming Mayor Carl Loehning, Public Works Director Wayne Bryan and Clerk-Comptroller R. V. Hauser as ex-officio members of the study group, members decided the trio were already ex-officio "by virtue of their offices."

The council is expected to confirm the appointment of Loehning, Bryan and Hauser at tonight's meeting bringing about an even division of city officials elections, rather than on Dec. 21 as currently established.

The mayor pointed out that if one of the council members appointed to the MRA is named to a new term in December, then is defeated in April, it would be "unfair" to the alderman and MRA.

Santa Also Wins Big

Green Bay Packers Win 9-0 On Floor of Menasha Council

MENASHA — The Green Bay Packers won, 9-0, Tuesday night as the common council's unanimous choice to win the world championship in Los Angeles on Jan. 15. Another pre-election resolution gave Santa Claus a pat on the back.

In a resolution that, even in an election year, stood no chance of becoming a political football, the mayor and council went on record as cheering the New Year's Day win in Dallas making the Packers again NFL champions, and praising other recent accomplishments of the team.

Ald. William Erickson, who faces a re-election race in April if he wants to keep his council seat, introduced the locally acceptable substitute for baby-kissing.

Citing the placement of several Packers on all-star teams and the selection of quarterback Bart Starr as most valuable player, the resolution pointed out that Menasha "is peculiarly within the environs of Packerland" as the home of the 1,000 Yard Club. He lauded coach-manager Vincent Lombardi and the team as "a credit to Menasha and all Packerland."

An autographed copy of the resolution is to be delivered to Lombardi.

Having seen to the Packer vote, the council went after the Santa Claus bloc, passing another resolution introduced by Erickson praising the Neenah Fire Department for touring the city with its annual Christmas float prior to the holiday.

Mayor Kenneth Holmes made sure that the Menasha Fire Department wasn't slighted, declaring they did an "exceptionally fine job" with their annual children's Christmas party in the Brin Theater, and promising to send the fire chief a letter praising the department.

Park Purchase Okayed for Winnebago

OSHKOSH — Authorization to proceed with the acquisition of the R. M. Brainard property on Lake Winnebago for a county park will be asked of the county board next Tuesday by the Conservation, Park and Recreation committee.

The committee will ask the board to release $75,000 of the funds set aside for land acquisition to acquire the Brainard property "by the best means possible." This would include going to condemnation if a sale price cannot be agreed upon.

The committee's action Tuesday night was made possible by a "letter of consent" received from the office of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Could Proceed

The letter told the county, in effect, they could proceed with the purchase of the land without endangering their application for federal funds. However, it was stressed the latter was not to imply the county's application for federal funds is rejected and the county has to pay the full amount.

Randy Benjamin, 14, of rural Sandstone, Minn., an uncle of the victims, walked 15 miles before reaching help. He was taken to a hospital at Frederic, Wis., for treatment of apparently frostbitten feet.

Shawano County Driver Becomes State's 10th Fatality

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin's traffic toll for the new year reached 10 today, only one less than on this day in 1966 when the state recorded 1,118 highway deaths for an all-time mark.

A 29-year-old truck driver, Ronald O. Dinse of Gresham in Shawano County, was killed about 5 a.m. today in a Dodge County accident. Authorities said his truck struck a bridge abutment on State 151 two miles north of Juneau.

Anthony J. Orsoni, 48, of Pence, was injured fatally Monday in the collision on State 77 west of Iron Belt, Iron County.

Paul Simoneau, 20, of West Bend was killed Tuesday in the collision of his car and a truck on Highway 60 near Hartford, Washington County.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Glenn Ford is packing his fatigues for a 30-day hitch in Vietnam.

The Marine Corps announced Tuesday that Naval Reserve Cmdr. Ford had been ordered to active duty for 30 days.

When the actor expressed a preference to serve his active duty obligation in Vietnam, the Corps assigned him to the 3rd Marine Amphibious Force there.

Ford served as an enlisted man in the Marine Corps from 1942-1945 and joined the Naval Reserve as an officer after World War II.

Construction Hits $5 Million In Neenah

NEENAH — Building activity in Neenah, which boomed in the first half of 1966 and then slowed down considerably in the last six months, ended up with a $4 million increase on the tax base.

Although housing starts dropped behind the 1965 figures, industrial expansion more than made up for that decline as construction hit $5,282,649.

Some 108 new homes were built in 1966, compared to 120 in 1965. Last year's new homes were valued at $1,545,750, about $15,000 less than the year before, indicating the rising costs of building.

The total construction costs of $5,282,649 are almost half again the 1965 figure of $3,723,043.

Conant School

The 1965 totals included a permit for Conant Junior High School at $1,039,580 which was not included on the tax rolls.

The construction starts in 1965 which were added to the tax rolls amounted to $2,683,000. Last year's tax base increase was around $4,097,000.

Some 539 permits were issued last year, with 108 going for new homes and another 197 for residential remodeling ($202,026).

Fifty permits were granted for non-residential remodeling, amounting to $775,825.

The large projects included last year are the $800,000 YWCA building, which is tax exempt along with two church remodeling projects totaling $287,850.

Post Office

The permit for the post office was valued at $175,000; Super Valu Market, $68,178; five service stations, $124,000; a clay and starch building for Bergstrom Paper Co., $58,500; two Stop 'N Go Markets, $36,000; Neenah Foundry's Plant No. 3, $652,000; one bakery shop, $27,500; office building for Professional Plaza, $100,000 and Schmitt's Discount Store, $120,000.

The Second Ward led the city with new building amounting to $1.4 million. The Sixth Ward was next with $1.2 million. Some 54 new homes were built in the Sixth Ward and 27 in the Second Ward.

Avenue Project Data Supplied With Assessments

Seek to Provide Information Prior to Jan. 18 Public Hearing

When special assessment notices are sent to an estimated 185 College Avenue property owners they will also receive a letter detailing the reconstruction program.

Public Works Director Frank Keuler made the announcement today, commenting, "We want to provide the owners with as much information possible prior to the public hearing Jan. 18."

An informal meeting of city officials and avenue property owners has been set for Jan. 10 to answer questions about the downtown rejuvenation project.

College Avenue reconstruction is scheduled to start in April. The council expects to award contracts within the next 10 days. The city received good bids on the proposed work.

New Development

At Tuesday's board of public works meeting it was disclosed an Appleton firm may not be the apparent low bidder for supplying electrical equipment for the new avenue lighting system.

When bids were opened a few weeks ago, GE Supply of Appleton was believed to be low with a $26,625.70 quote on new lights, standards and equipment today, which will give the downtown district greater illumination.

However, a representative of the Graybar Co., Green Bay, wrote city officials and appeared before the board to explain his firm had not listed a discount figure in the normal place and wanted to advise the city of the error.

Applying the discount would make the bid of Graybar $26,570. The firm's spokesman asked the board to give consideration to the bid although there had been an oversight on the bidding form.

Identical Equipment

Both bidders would be obtaining equipment from the same street lamp manufacturer.

The board said it would consider the bids again next week.

In other action, the board indicated the city would like to consider opening N. Drew Street to Northland Avenue but could not do so because of apparent differences between two property owners on right-of-way. It suggested that the property owners, Percy Menning and Foremost Dairies, work out an agreement.

Tight Controls Sought for CATV Licensing rate to the operator for having a CATV license granted him here.

"This CATV is a real money-maker and I see no reason why the city shouldn't get its share," Kalata declared. He told city officials there are many individuals and groups "trafficking" in franchises.

"Any ordinance we have should not be broad," Kalata said, "it should be specific and airtight because we are dealing with the future of television in this area."

He suggested a five-year, instead of 10-year license period, and said it was his personal opinion financial statements of the CATV operators be public record.

Other Recommendations

Kalata made several other recommendations for consideration by the committee which agreed to take them under advisement.

Ald. Clifford Radder (16th) said he was not prepared to act on any ordinance and felt a subcommittee should be appointed to come up with one which would be acceptable.

Geenen said the incorporation of some of the clauses in Madison and Janesville CATV ordinances would meet some of the void in the tentative draft here.

Pointer noted that if Appleton did not adopt an ordinance, there was nothing to prevent a CATV operator from moving in and setting up a system which would be regulated by the Federal Communications System in part but not the city.

Ald. John Ayers (12th), public safety committee chairman, said he had questioned the original draft and thought if any franchise is to be awarded by Appleton it should go to the highest bidder. He also posed other questions.

The confab concluded with the committee indicating that interested parties meet with Geenen and work out a suitable ordinance.

local share of individual state income tax distribution at $85 million and the distribution of the increase of the local share over that amount on the basis of the same property tax relief structure.

The final point, he said, would insure that all communities would continue to receive aids at their present levels but that larger cities would gain more from any future increase. He said conservative estimates indicate that the amount to be added to property tax relief funds under his proposals would increase by $10 million a year.

The meeting here was called by Madison Mayor Otto Festge in an effort to consolidate support by larger Wisconsin municipalities for changes in tax aid systems. It is being attended by more than 30 city officials from 19 of the state's largest communities, including Appleton and Green Bay.

Alderman Asks Clarification of Park Project

Ayers Says Bellaire Park Improvement Project 'Hanging'

An alderman on Appleton's near northeast side expressed concern Tuesday over when the Bellaire Park improvement project will be completed by the park-recreation commission.

Ald. John Ayers (12th) told the board of public works during its meeting at city hall that he wanted to know what the next step would be in carrying out the park plan.

Ayers noted the city graded the area for a wider road through the park and it is apparently scheduled to be paved this summer.

However, Ayers said he was curious as to whether the new park-recreation commission had changed its mind or continued to follow one of three park improvement plans reportedly prepared by Harland Bartholomew and Associates, St. Louis.

"The former park board only made public the one plan for a recreation-play area," Ayers said. "Maybe the other two plans should be explored further. I don't know."

Ayers said he was interested in getting the park fixed up no matter what plan is followed.

"This project has been hanging for quite sometime now," Ayers remarked.

The cost of opening the park up to the general public will be underwritten by a bequest in the Peabody estate.

Apparently adding confusion to the proposed park development was a communication before the board in which some property owners questioned whether the city or private individuals owned the land to the far north end of the Bellaire Park area.

City officials said they thought the dispute had been settled some time ago — that the land was owned by the city.

Calumet Board to Study New High Cliff Project

tended from its present site to the north, Anderson said.

"It is really a combination of developments," the planner said. "It will be a resort of unparalleled magnitude in the state and the Midwest."

Most of the work is planned for completion by April, 1970. Kenneth Zinzow, Elkhorn, is the firm's executive vice president. Zinzow is the builder and general partner of the Abbey on Lake Geneva, a convention center, and of the Pioneer in Oshkosh. The High Cliff resort would cost an estimated $5 or $6 million, Zinzow said. The Pioneer total project outlay was about $3½ million.

Architectural planning for the resort hotel and convenience center is being done by Law, Pottier and Nyström, Madison. The firm designed the Pioneer and the Dane County Memorial Coliseum, which is under construction.

Includes Pools

The hotel will have indoor, outdoor and hydro-therapy pools, Zinzow said. "You will be able to stick a pole out of the hotel windows and fish for trout in one of the lakes," he said.

Ski slopes will have a total drop of 230 feet. A riding stable, exercise ring and bridle paths are in the plans. The convenience center will have gift and novelty shops, delicatessens and drug stores, which will be leased to store operators.

The resort would have its own sanitary sewer system, well water supply and reservoir.

Edward Faber, supervisor of lands of the State Parks and Recreation Commission said the firm has filed plans with the state.

State Easements

The state will maintain scenic easements on 11 land parcels totaling 122 acres. The easements allow the state to have certain controls over land use. Building heights, neon signs, and other construction will be watched over by the state, Faber said. "to preserve the natural beauty."

Scenic easements reserve the rights for the general public, but the property involved re-zoning should be given "favorable consideration" and the complex "would be a great asset to the town and county."

Architectural plans for the hotel and convenience center have not yet been drawn up. Final zoning approval by the Calumet County Board is necessary before preliminary sketches can be made.

LBJ's Meeting With Governors Unsatisfactory

Nothing Done to Strengthen National Committee's Position

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — President Johnson failed to satisfy critics of the Democratic National Committee in his much-publicized summit meeting with Democratic governors at the LBJ ranch 10 days ago.
"Frankly," said one governor later in a private conversation, "I don't think the President has the slightest intention to strengthen the national committee and give it the leadership, staff and money that it needs to do its job."
This feeling was shared by other Democratic governors. However else the President may have mollified his critics, he failed to give them any assurance whatsoever about the future of the national committee, now headed by the able, but powerless, John M. Bailey of Connecticut.

Instead, Mr. Johnson told the governors that if they didn't like the way the national committee was performing, they ought to take it up with their own Democratic national committeemen, or perhaps replace them with better men.
The implication of that advice is that the national committee responds to the desires of its 100-plus members — two each from the states, the territories, and the District of Columbia. But in fact with a couple of exceptions, the members of the committee have no real influence over the committee's activities. The heart of the committee is not its members, but its chairman and staff.
Bailey has been chairman since 1961, but has never been given power to make important decisions. His staff was deciated before the 1966 election on the orders of White House Aide W. Marvin Watson, Jr., who is President Johnson's real political agent.

Thus the gloomy prospect, as glimpsed by the governors who visited the President, is for more of the same at the DNC. They are not happy about it.
Brown's Pique
During the afternoon of election day last November, the Kennedy brothers each put in separate calls to Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown to wish him well. Around 9 p.m. on election day, when Brown's landslide defeat was assured, Mrs. John F. Kennedy called Brown with condolences.
The next caller was Vice President Hubert Humphrey. Humphrey commiserated with Brown for half an hour in a long, tearful telephone call that was an emotional catharsis for plain-spoken Pat Brown, knocked out of the ring by the new Republican glamor-boy, Ronald Reagan.
Brown waited late that night for another call that never came. It didn't come the next day. In fact, President Johnson never did call Pat Brown.
Miffed at this oversight, Pat Brown has made no secret of it. On his first visit to Washington since the election, President Johnson invited him to drop in to the oval office for a chat. Brown informed Mr. Johnson with relish about the friends who had remembered to telephone him on election day.
Daley Snubs Shriver
The story in the Chicago Sun-Times on Dec. 2 seemed at first blush to be little more than a repeat of Sargent Shriver's oft-stated hope to get into elective politics some day in the state of Illinois.
In fact, however, it touched a raw nerve in the thick skin of Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, one of the last remaining big-city Democratic bosses. Daley rules the Democratic Party not only in Chicago but in Illinois, and Shriver's hint to the Sun-Times that he'd be a candidate for governor in 1968 — and that a lot of things needed doing in Illinois — infuriated him. Shriver hadn't discussed it with Daley in advance.
Reacting with uncommon speed, Daley praised Democratic Governor Otto Kerner the next day, by inference bestowing on Kerner the Daley blessing for an unprecedented third term as governor. Intimates of Daley described him as absolutely determined to close the door to any Shriver race in Illinois.
Taken aback at Daley's wrath, and at what had the appearance of a premature endorsement of Gov. Kerner for a third term, Shriver telephoned Daley to calm him down. But then, however, the damage was done.

'Simplified' Tax Form Going Out This Week

BY SYLVIA PORTER

This week, about 60,000 taxpayers out of the millions of us receiving our 1966 income tax forms are getting an experimental tax form 1040Q — representing a dramatically new approach by the Internal Revenue Service toward simplification of our income tax forms.
The "simplified" 1040Q runs to seven pages in contrast to the familiar two pages of "long form" 1040 and the stripped-down "card form" of 1040A.
It is in the form of a questionnaire, in contrast to the straight directions on the forms to which 68 million of us have become accustomed over the years.
It is interlarded with instructions designed to make answering the questions more convenient, in contrast to form 1040 which demands frequent reference to the instruction pamphlet.
'A' for Effort
It is, without doubt, a major attempt on the part of IRS Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen to obey President Johnson's order to make our tax forms "less ominous" — and for this the least the IRS deserves is an "A" for effort.
But after an objective study of the handsome blue ink-on-white 1040Q ("Q" stands for questionnaire), I think Cohen is eminently correct in saying "nobody knows, yet" whether it is simpler.
The very seven-page length of 1040Q could be a psychological deterrent. And this is so even though the phrasing of some of the questions does clarify the bafflegab of income tax instructions.
If adopted for the nation in 1968, 1040Q would be just another optional return added to the ones we already have, and millions of us wouldn't be able to use it even if we wanted to. For instance, you couldn't use it if you own and operate a business, a farm, or are a member of a partnership. You would have to continue using form 1040. Nor could you file it if you use "income averaging." You also would have to continue filing 1040. A "simplification" which complicates the very choice of the right form surely leaves much to be desired.
It still would demand frequent references to the IRS's instruction pamphlet. On several pages of 1040Q, in fact, the IRS tells the taxpayer to consult specified pages in the instruction booklet.
Must Use Extra Pages
It would not eliminate the need for millions of us to fill out and attach separate pages to our regular tax form.
You still would have to fill out and attach Schedule B if you get annuities, rents, royalties, the like . . . Or Schedule D if you have capital gains or losses . . . Or Form 2440 if you receive Sick Pay . . . Or Form 3903 if you have moving expenses . . . Etc. . . .
The fundamental fact is that our tax forms must remain appallingly complex as long as our tax laws are so loaded with special treatments, special benefits, special considerations.

As just one illustration, study this 1040Q section on moving expenses — which affects millions of us each year.
Q. 42: Did you move your home because of a new job or job location which would have increased the distance from your old home to your new job or job location by 20 or more miles if you hadn't moved?
43: If your answer to question 42 is "Yes," fill out and attach Form 3903 and enter the deduction . . .
44: If your employer's allowances for moving expenses were for the exact amount of your allowable expenses, enter "O".
Simpler?????
The 60,000 who are getting 1040Q are being told they may use the regular 1040 if they prefer.
The results of the experiment with 1040Q — which, incidentally, is the official form for taxpayers who file it by Apr. 15 — will be compiled this fall. Whatever the responses, they should help improve our future income tax forms.
But the IRS reveals its own skepticism by pledging to "continue unabated" efforts to simplify the forms. "Unabated" in this context means until our tax laws are drastically simplified. When this will happen is anybody's guess.

Nuclear Ban Treaty

High Hopes Held for '67 Foreign Relations

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the exception of Vietnam, the Johnson administration is generally optimistic about America's foreign relations in the new year.

Washington policymakers hope for notable progress in the negotiations with the Soviets for a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

They figure the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has survived the initial shock of its military divorce from France and, from its new headquarters in Belgium, will reshape its policies to meet new realities.

They expect that the years of Kennedy Round tariff talks will wind up in mid-1967 in agreement on a significant reduction of trade barriers.

Trip to Uruguay
They find the Latin-American scene so heartening that President Johnson plans to journey to Uruguay for a summit meeting in mid-April.

Good progress reports are coming in from most of America's friends in Asia.

Red China's potential threat to the outside world is still submerged in her internal turmoil. Prospects from African and Middle East areas are mixed, but there is no great power crisis.

The biggest blot in the picture, from the U.S. diplomatic standpoint, is Vietnam. And it could cloud prospects elsewhere.

Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk both view the inability to achieve peace in Vietnam as a prime failure in 1966. They blame this on the Communists.

No Prediction

Without a diplomatic settlement, the Vietnam conflict promises to go on far beyond this year. Neither the U.S. military commander there, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, nor the top civilian, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, is predicting by what year the Reds will be quelled.

Very cautiously, Lodge forecasts enough headway on the military, political, economic and pacification programs in South Vietnam during 1967 to see "light at the end of the tunnel."

In the meantime U.S. strategists admit an ever-present danger that the impact of the war could spread, despite their attempts to localize it.

Deals Delayed

The Soviets are far more likely to put East-West deals in a deep freeze while the United States is fighting a Communist colleague, even if Moscow stays out of direct involvement in the shooting.

Washington's foreign policy will take more pounding from non-Communist critics who disapprove of U.S. actions in Vietnam.

American diplomats freely acknowledge that they must focus on the continuing Vietnam question, until peace comes. It is much effort that they would rather devote to furthering U.S. policy in other areas of the world.

Why Are You At A Loss For Words?

A noted publisher in Chicago reveals a remarkably effective method for building a working knowledge of over 2,000 powerful, expressive words quickly and easily.

People unable to express themselves effectively often lose many business and social opportunities. Others who use words improperly, subject themselves to ridicule and cause others to misunderstand what they mean.

We need good words, say the publisher, to understand more clearly what we read and hear, to think with greater clarity and logic and to express ourselves more effectively when we speak or write. A good command of words instills confidence in our ability to speak convincingly and impress others with our knowledge and understanding.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing a large vocabulary, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a new booklet, "Adventure in Vocabulary," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Send your name, address, and zip code to: Vocabulary Studies, 835 Diversey Parkway, Dept. 472-011, Chicago, Ill. 60614. A postcard will do.

Words, Definitions You Probably Should Know

BY SYLVIA PORTER

To be "with it" in the world of economics, circa '67, you'll have to be able to debate with a semblance of authority this year's batch of bafflegab. Specifically, in what state is the U. S. economy now? A healthy other industries kept expanding more than enough to offset the slump in housing and the economy overall grew substantially. If 1966's rolling readjustments lead to neither a general advance nor a general decline — a neither-nor pattern — the situation would be far more serious. Then you could "show you're cool" by saying it's a "tall" or an "enigmatic balance."

Breather. This would be a temporary pause — or leveling out — in a broad expansion. The implication would be that the pause would be short and would not call for drastic stimulants.

Routine satisfactory prosperity. This would be good times — but not that good. As for satisfactory, if you remember your school report cards, "satisfactory" meant you had a better than passing grade but you weren't top-notch.

Danger Signals. Equilibrium at a very high level. This would be bafflegab de luxe, for according to the dictionary, equilibrium is a state of balance between opposing forces. . . whose resultant is zero. In our dynamic economy this would be the equivalent of falling back. The same goes for "plateau," which is defined as a "flat thing." To employ our ever-growing labor force and to absorb our own output, we must keep growing. Either "equilibrium" or a "plateau" would be a significant danger signal.

Recession. This would be a general business decline, reflected in declining production, fading profits, rising joblessness, soaring business failures, etc. It would demand major doses of economic stimulants, but it would be nothing like a severe break in production, plunging profits. The last slump in our economy was in 1937-38 — almost a generation ago — when production crashed 38 per cent in one year. A slump is definitely not on the horizon and a depression is unthinkable. The last depression we had was 1929-33.

As the key presidential messages come out this month, watch for one or more of these phrases: almost surely they will be included along with some fancy technical dressing. Whatever the White House's choices, this translation will help you join the debate of any bafflegab group and show how "in" you are.

Healthy slowdown. This would suggest a 4 per cent rate of "real" growth in our economy, in 1967 — "real" meaning the rise in the value of all we produce after elimination of the effect of price changes. This would be solid, sustainable growth and would keep our unemployment rate low. It almost a generation ago — would again bring our economy to all-time peaks, but the pace of rise would be much slower than that of the first half of the 1960s. It would be "healthy" because the feverish pace of early 1966 strained our resources and fueled inflation. But it also would seem dull compared with our powerful advances in 1964-65.

Rolling readjustment. This would mean some industries were going up while others were going down, but the advances would add up to more than the declines. In 1966, for instance, housing was really "rolled" but slowdown? A rolling readjustment? A breather? Routine, satisfactory prosperity? Equilibrium at a very high level? A plateau? A recession?

To which comment of mine you well might retort, "How can I debate the words unless I know what the words mean?"

Not since the start of the decade have the bafflegab boys been as busy as they are now. They've even reached the point of saying you need bifocals to see the economy because one sector of it (public spending) is booming while the other sector (private spending) is slowing. The implication is that you must examine each sector through a different lens to see the overall trend 20-20. Clear?

Some Distractions. Okay. With the full knowledge that my little dictionary will infuriate the bafflegabbers, here's my attempt to point out the distractions.

Glue Sniffing Causes Damage to Liver, Habit

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: We have just discovered that our son has been indulging in "glue sniffing," and also that many teenagers are doing it.

Does it cause brain damage? Does it do physical harm?

Dr. Molner

Is it habit-forming? If not, then why is it almost impossible to get him to stop?

Who could tell me what damage he may have done to himself already? — Mrs. R. K.

The effect of sniffing as well as the damage is from the volatile hydrocarbons used as solvents in "airplane glue" and similar cements. Some cleaning fluids have the same effect.

Eventual brain damage, perhaps indirectly, cannot be ruled out. The direct physical damage is of a different type.

These hydrocarbon fumes are highly toxic, and permanent damage to the liver is one consequence. Changes also occur in the blood.

This is in addition to the young people who are hurt and even killed because of accidents resulting from their glue-intoxication. There are some shocking cases on record, young people falling from roof-tops, or getting in automobile accidents.

Glue-sniffing is actually intoxication, but with toxic fumes instead of alcohol. The youth of the sniffers, their bravado and lack of mature judgment all contribute to the number of accidents and other kinds of trouble which result.

It appears to be habit-forming. I do not mean it causes an addiction, like narcotics. It just becomes a habit. Too often, I am told, glue-sniffers, in search of stronger "kicks," progress to taking narcotics.

Sniffing is a thoroughly dangerous practice, and the solvents involved are the same ones which require warnings on various products. When the directions say, "Use only in a well ventilated place," the warning is meant to avoid poisonous effects. Yet the glue-sniffers breathe the stuff full strength into their lungs.

I've warned before about this. So have others. It hasn't stopped the foolhardy practice. Blood tests and liver function tests may give an indication of how much harm your son has incurred. That does not mean that the damage can be corrected.

If the liver has been damaged, it cannot be "cured." As with cirrhosis from any other cause, the important thing is to avoid any further poisoning, and then get adequate rest, and a sound diet.

Confirmed alcoholics who have ruined their livers by drinking too often refuse to accept the one truly useful piece of advice: Quit drinking. I hope the young glue-sniffers will have more sense.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have arthritis and several people have told me I should never drink tea. Is this true? — Mrs. L. Z.

No, it is not true.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a problem with my hands. They are rough and red and cracked open most of the time, just as if they had been cut. Nothing I try seems to help them. — L.J.C.

I suggest getting a dermatologist's advice. Do not be surprised if he says it may be sensitivity to soap or detergents. He can give you medications to help, but he may also tell you to keep your hands out of water with soap or detergent until the skin heals entirely.

Cotton-lined rubber gloves, or cotton gloves worn under rubber gloves, may be part of the answer.

Texas GOP Is Searching for Likely Winner

Won't Commit Itself Until Reasonably Certain of Success

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

DALLAS — The most revealing fact about the Texas Republican Party is the advice now handed out privately to the party's rank-and-file by State Chairman Peter O'Donnell.

O'Donnell's suggestion: Keep the door wide open for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968 and, most important, don't bar the door to anybody. Invariably, that is

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three persons died and 10 others were injured in a fire which swept through a five-story hotel, catering mainly to older persons, authorities report.

City firemen said the blaze apparently started on the second floor Monday night and quickly swept upward.

Ten persons were hospitalized and nearly 90 residents were left homeless.

prominent Dallas party leader told us, "But is he a winner? I don't think so, and neither do most of my friends. I'm more interested in Romney."

Such interest in Romney is spurred partly by hopes that Tower, whose impressive reelection enlarged his stature as a party leader, might land on the national ticket as a running mate for Romney but nobody else.

However, there is no Romney boom running here. The fact that some perennial Republican renegades have set up a wildcat Romney-for-President organization in Dallas has done him no good here. Nor has published speculation linking him with Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, still a red flag for even the newly pragmatic Texas Republicans. Some prominent Republicans here went out of their way with us to describe Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois as preferable to Romney as a candidate in Texas.

The point is that Texas, committed years in advance to Goldwater, in 1964, may be uncommitted right down to convention time in 1968. Present plans are for the party to invite all presidential possibilities to speak in Texas in 1967 but to stick to Tower as a favorite son.

To make sure of this, the state executive committee meeting in Austin this month probably will decide against a presidential primary in 1968.

Nor is there much grass roots pressure against this. Some ultra-conservatives talk about Gov. Ronald Reagan of California for president, but the Tower-O'Donnell leadership is not listening to radical rightists. Indeed, they generally backed Democratic conservatives against Republican moderates in the 1966 Texas election.

In Dallas, for example, the Republican Party and the far right no longer are synonymous. Rather, John Birch legions of Gen. Erwin Walker backed right wing Democratic Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas in his narrow victory against Republican James Colliers last month. With the extremists deserting the Republicans, the new pragmatism of Tower and O'Donnell is all the easier.

"We all like Dick," one

Novak

interpreted as meaning that Gov. George Romney of Michigan should not be rejected solely because of his non-support of Barry Goldwater as the party nominee in 1964.

This stand by O'Donnell, fully supported by Sen. John Tower and other Republican leaders, is more than merely a repudiation of Goldwater's verdict that Romney, as a 1964 apostate, is unfit for the presidential nomination. It is dramatic evidence of how well Texas Republicans learned the lesson of 1964 when the Goldwater debacle instantly destroyed a decade of careful growth toward a two-party Texas.

For Texas in 1964 was not just another rider on Goldwater's pre-convention bandwagon. Texas was the firm center of the Goldwater movement with Tower and O'Donnell among its founders and leaders. To even suggest another candidate in those days was grounds for being read out of the party.

Changed Reference

There has been no internal party revolt since then. The O'Donnell-Tower leadership, so deeply committed for Goldwater in 1964, is still firmly in command. Nor have they renounced conservatism. What has changed is their frame of reference. They have transformed themselves from ideologues to pragmatists.

In short, Texas Republicans are looking for a winner, not an ideological leader. Almost any Republican who can win (providing, that is, he is not from New York) is their candidate. Accordingly, Richard M. Nixon, the favorite of the party regulars in most places and probably Goldwater's own choice, is by no means assured of Texas' rich harvest of delegates at this early date.

Certainly, Nixon is well-known and well-liked among the Texas Republicans. The Texas regulars were properly impressed by his ability to fill an 800-seat banquet hall at $100 dollars a plate in Dallas in 1965. But that isn't enough.

Memorable Main Dishes

Lillian Mackesy POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR

Informality keynotes much of the entertaining in the Fox Cities. When a hostess wants to have an especially attractive party, she often turns to a buffet menu for inspiration. This way, the gathering can converse leisurely . . . get acquainted with any newcomers and still enjoy the food with each guest helping himself from a table on which party foods can be displayed so temptingly.

Buffet suppers certainly demand just as carefully a planned menu as the formal meal. One home economist friend has pointed out that the secret of any hostess' success when a buffet supper is planned is to make it a "special feature." "One truly superb main dish will make the meal. . . one everyone will remember with pleasure," she writes. The rest of the menu can be as simple or as elaborate as time and the budget permit, she wisely points out.

For instance, with a one big main dish the extras can include no more than a crisp green . . . but well-dressed . . . salad teamed with hot buttered rolls and coffee. To this may be added a pasta or vegetable dish, a fragrant hot bread instead of the rolls, perhaps a chilled fruit dessert or ice cream compote topped with fruits. If guests are seated at tables, a good wine compatible with the main course makes an excellent party flourish.

One of the nicest ways to serve a buffet in a home that can take the plan, is to scatter cheerfully decorated and impeccably set card tables throughout the house. Use the dining room, the living room and don't overlook hallways that might serve as convenient, conversational hideaways. No guest ever leaves this hostess' home without really having a fine time . . . couples always say they had a chance to really talk . . . conversation always flows from table to table and there never is any sign of awkward stiffness even when guests are meeting each other for the first time. Such an informal arrangement centered around the buffet supper theme . . . with decorations in season and in good taste . . . seems to promote good fellowship and a happy dinner hour.

Protesting Housewives Agree Food Prices to Stay Up in '67

By SALLY RYAN

AP Business News Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Despite boycotts and picketing, the government and housewives are agreed on one thing: Food prices will climb higher in 1967.

Housewives in Phoenix set off a nationwide protest movement last fall when they banded together in an attempt to force down food prices. They even baked their own bread.

In Denver, the Housewives for Lower Food Prices boycotted major chain supermarkets, then called off pickets after prices fell.

In Dallas, they formed a Women on the Warpath committee and soon all across the country there were housewives against rising prices and mad mothers and fighting fathers boycotting food stores.

(In the Fox Cities, women organized a unit of Housewives for Lower Food Prices. Ready to boycott food stores in their last fall when they banded together in an attempt to force down food prices. They even decided to turn into a study group, yet say vigilant, according to their leaders, before renewing any action.)

Price wars broke out in Portland, Ore., and Chicago.

The reasons were obvious. In January, pork was the highest in 17 years and bacon was $1.09 a pound. In February, a blizzard cut supplies and raised prices in the East and Midwest.

In April Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman predicted prices might decline as much as 10 per cent by fall. In June flour prices went up and suddenly bread cost 7.5 per cent more than it did in January. Milk went up 7.8 per cent. In July heat and the airline strike shriveled supplies of fruits and vegetables. And in August food prices were the highest since 1954.

The New York City markets commissioner blamed the U.S. Department of Agriculture for higher prices. Freeman blamed the middleman. Grocery stores blamed bakers. Bakers blamed flour millers. Flour millers as the wheat growers. And 1966, wheat growers blamed the weather.

A trade group, the American Institute of Food Distribution, Inc., blamed inflation. "We don't like to feel we're being taken to the cleaners and we're tired of hearing about some rich, invisible middleman who's causing prices to go up," said Mrs. Jay S. Threlkeld, a spokeswoman for the Denver women.

"The housewife is wrong," said the president of Campbell Soup Co., W. B. Murphy, a native of Appleton. "The food store is a handy goat for the housewife. The guilty party is the economy, with its rising cost pressures."

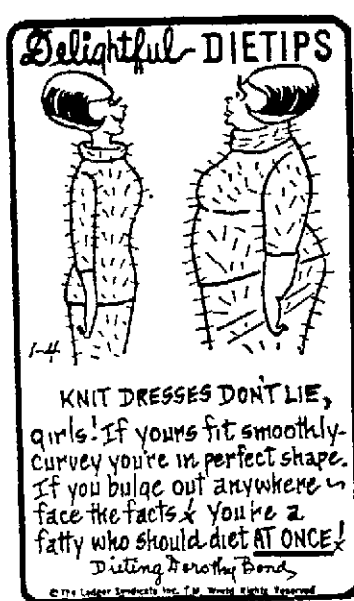

In February, wholesale food prices were 14.9 per cent higher than the previous year. In December they were 4 per cent lower than in the holiday season of 1965, when meat prices were beginning to soar.

The Agriculture Department maintains food bills will be up again in 1967, but not as much as the 6 per cent increase for 1966.

Beef, pork and veal prices are expected to begin rising again next spring.

The cost of processing, transporting and marketing food is expected to go up, too, pushed by wage increases.

Campaign Publicises Human Need

Slums, Over-Crowded Apartments Home for 3 Million British Families

By GODFREY ANDERSON
LONDON (AP) — By the standards of Charles Dickens' day, Britain today is an affluent society where the combination of private enterprise and the welfare state provide for most needs. Yet three million families live in slums, near-slums or grossly overcrowded conditions. Social workers call them the hidden homeless — families crowded into single rooms, in damp basements, often sharing a toilet and cold water faucet with up to 20 other people, threatened by imminent family breakup because of the tensions under which they live — but still paying high rents. These families have a roof, however leaky. Their children are not barefoot or in rags as the poor were a few decades ago. They are not underfed, though diehard say they are often undernourished.

National Emergency
A dedicated group, headed by a Scottish Presbyterian minister and his Boston-born wife, has decided the plight of the hidden homeless adds up to a national emergency. Three million families, they point out, mean at least 10 million people. All political parties agree it will take at least 10 years to meet their needs if existing slum clearance programs are fulfilled. By that time, with normal population increase, there will be more seeking aid. The Rev. Bruce Kenrick, at 46, knows what living in slum conditions is like. A wartime paratroop officer, he is a graduate of Edinburgh University and Princeton Theological Seminary. While in America he married Isabel Howland Witty of Cambridge, Mass., and together they worked weekends in an East Harlem N.Y., Protestant parish in what he calls "the muck and dirt of God's world." The result was a book, "Come Out of the Wilderness."

Worked in India
After returning to be ordained in the Church of Scotland, he went to work in India but was brought home with typhoid. When he recovered, the Kenricks cast around for a place where they could be useful. They picked the drab West London section of Notting Hill, then notorious for race riots. There the Kenricks made a home. "I didn't ask permission from the Church to go there," The Rev. Mr. Kenrick says. "If I had, it might have taken five years to get it. So we just went."

He says he wants to find new ways of making Christianity visible. Organized Church
"There are millions of people who don't give two hoots for the organized church and I can well understand that," he says. "But nevertheless they want a way to express their Christian convictions."

He started his Notting Hill housing trust on a shoestring but within a year it had $140,000 gifts and raised five times that in loans and grants from authorities. Today it owns 54 houses and has rehoused 800 people.

The minister and his growing family — they now have four children — lived on a grant from the Gulbenkian Foundation, supplemented by his earnings from writing and teaching.

But Notting Hill was too small to contain people like the Kenricks for long. This month he announced a national campaign for the homeless to be called Shelter.

Chinese Economy, Trade May Suffer

Speculators Point to Possible Effects of 'Great Revolution'

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP) — Communist national housing associations — China's "great proletarian cultural revolution" launched during Housing Aid Society, Housing the Homeless Central Fund, the range effect on internal economics and foreign trade. But it has not yet been deeply felt. This is the conclusion of economists watching developments on the mainland. If harvests continue good and the young Red Guards keep their hands off agriculture and industry, 1967 should see the same steady if unspectacular progress which has marked the mainland economy since its recovery from the crippling 1959-61 "Great Leap Forward." During the past year the economy showed signs of moderate advances over 1965. But the pace was slowing down. Exports Drop In the first half of the year, the rate of growth of Chinese exports and imports from eight major customers — Japan, Hong Kong, Australia, Canada, West Germany, France, Britain and Italy — showed an overall drop, according to the well-informed Far Eastern Economic Review. The upward surge which marked the closing months of 1965 was not expected to be as pronounced in late 1966 because of the business confusion created by the cultural revolution. China's imports from these eight indicator countries, which account for two-thirds of all its trade with non-Communist nations, increased by less than $100 million compared with an increase of $200 million in 1965 over the previous year for the same six-month period. Exports increased $90 million compared with about $190 million.

Healthy Growth
Though the rate of growth is smaller, the Economic Review points out it still is healthy in terms of volume, totaling $2.5 billion both ways for all non-Communist countries. No figures are available for trade with the Soviet bloc but it is expected to show a slight rise by the end of 1966. Domestically, the Chinese have embarked on their third delayed five-year plan but have published no figures on the 11 months of its operation. Premier Chou En-lai has reported three successive good harvests and an excellent one for 1966. The New China News Agency late in September reported that for the first eight months of the year the total value of industrial and agricultural products bought by the state totalled 12.5 per cent more than the previous year for the same time. It gave no figures, however. Again, without specifying, the agency said that the country's industrial output was more than 20 per cent higher than for the first eight months of 1965. Chemical fertilizers, insecticides and tractors rose from 40 per cent to over 200 per cent, it said. Collapse of "Leap"

These general percentages indicated that China is, as it has since the collapse of the industrial "Great Leap Forward," continuing to place its greatest emphasis on agriculture and light industry which serves the farmers. Late in September, China unveiled a new passenger car, a three-seater capable of carrying nine persons, named "Red Flag." In general, the standard of living appeared to have risen somewhat, with food available in greater quantities in the city markets.

Chaplain Delivers Tragic News of Death in Vietnam

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — When a Marine chaplain arrived at his home, Daniel W. Davis thought it was because of the death of his wife a few hours earlier. But the chaplain delivered a message informing him that his only child, Pfc. Edward D. Davis, 19, had been killed in action in Vietnam. Davis had thought the chaplain would discuss an emergency leave for the boy after the death earlier Friday of Davis' wife, Katherine Elizabeth Davis, 57. The father learned instead that his son died Wednesday from multiple wounds suffered when an enemy explosive device detonated near Quang Tri. He had been in Vietnam two months.

Generosity Should be in Resolution

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

There is still time to make a resolution for the New Year: Be generous to your opponents. Give them a trick they don't expect to win.

If you played this sort of hand last year you ruffed the second club, drew trumps and tried to develop the spades. East got in with a high spade to lead the queen of diamonds through your king. The defenders got one club, one spade and two diamonds, defeating your contract.

Of course you gloated quietly and modestly about this triumph because the opponents could have made a slam in diamonds or clubs if you hadn't shut them out by bidding four hearts.

This year give yourself a real chance to goal by making your contract. Let West take the second trick with the ace of clubs. Throw away a spade instead of trumping the second round of clubs.

Only Exchange

This looks very generous, but it is really just an exchange of tricks. You have given up a club trick instead of a spade. A little string is tied to your gift.

If West leads a trump at the third trick (his best defense), you win, take the ace of spades, and ruff a spade. You lead a trump to dummy's nine to ruff another spade and lead another trump to dummy's ten to ruff still another spade.

By this time dummy's spade is good. You lead a trump to dummy's ace and throw a diamond on that good spade. Now you lose only one diamond trick, and you therefore make four hearts. A good way to start the year.

His degrees, he says, came from Duke, Illinois and USC. He also found time to get a pilot's license.

This Thanksgiving, Dr. Bryan says, he hypnotized his turkey before giving it the ax.

Lulled into a false sense of security, he explained, the bird fails to pour its usual adrenal juices into the blood stream and thus ends up tastier.

Protein Foods Subject to Higher Bacteria Counts

People engaged in the food business need to give particular attention to the handling of protein-rich foods such as meat, sea food, and beans. This is because protein foods are more likely to support greater numbers of microorganisms than other kinds of food, according to Dorothy H. Strong, food scientist at the University of Wisconsin.

The same precaution may carry over to handling of foods at home.

Interested in taking a comparative bacterial count of different kinds of prepared food sold at different kinds of stores, Mrs. Strong in recent research bought various kinds of delicatessen items from food shops in the Madison area. She then took samples of the food and subjected these to bacteriological tests.

Protein-rich foods generally had higher bacterial counts than other food types. The protein-rich food group included tuna salads, ham, shrimp, chicken, eggs and beans.

Some Not Harmful

Not all bacteria are harmful to health. But high bacterial counts present an added food hazard.

In this study, the staphylococci count for most food groups was lower than might have been expected. This was perhaps due to the competition of other types of bacteria present. In other words, one type of bacteria controls another.

One possible exception to the low bacterial count is the protein-rich foods. Here, the researchers found the bacterial count to be rather high. This could pose a problem to food handlers and public health officials, the researchers said.

The study therefore suggests that the handling of protein-rich foods deserves careful sanitary measures.

Macaroni Main Dish Useful to Dieter

This is the week for resolutions and a serious look-see into the future . . . say about as far ahead as spring. Seriously, though, this is the time when all figure-conscious women turn their attention to dieting.

Slimming wisely takes a little time for good health. Poundage should never melt away rapidly, but disappear about two pounds worth every week. How to do it? Eat wisely . . . make that resolution and make it stick.

Actually, most people think such things as macaroni are only fattening. That's not true, counters the National Macaroni Institute whose best nutritionists have put their heads together and come up with a menu pattern based on calorie count.

Future Hotel Rooms Siress Convenience

By 1976, all hotel rooms will be equipped with washer-dryer combinations, and all wardrobe items will be durable press and machine-washable — so that irons will have become obsolete collector items. The hotel equipment will make it possible for travelers to get along with an absolutely minimum wardrobe.

Through laundering their wearables in a matter of minutes. This forecast, made by a textile merchandiser, may seem far-fetched right now. However, so was the first suggestion that hotels provide a bath with every room!

Keeping in mind all those recommended food allowances for excellent nutrition, a good daily plan is advised which includes fruits and vegetables, dairy products, meats and other products. These include macaroni, spaghetti and egg noodles. Each of these food groups is important; each has something special to offer in the way of essential nutrients for health.

The menu plan includes a shrimp cocktail (eight to nine medium canned shrimp with two tablespoons chili sauce for 85 calories. With this goes the main dish, Macaroni Diet Platter for the big 177 calorie count. Sponge cake (1½ inch piece) tallies 90 calories and black coffee has none. The grand total for this meal is 352 calories, more or less, depending on servings.

Here is the recipe for the macaroni dish.

MACARONI DIET PLATTER

- ¾ cup low calorie Italian salad dressing
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- ¼ cup water
- 1 cup chopped parsley
- 1 tablespoon capers
- ½ teaspoon oregano
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Freshly ground pepper

- 3 cooked artichokes, halved and chokes removed
- 3 medium tomatoes, sliced
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 3 quarts boiling water
- 2 cups elbow macaroni (8 ounces)

Combine salad dressing, lemon juice, one-fourth cup water, parsley, capers, oregano, one-half teaspoon salt and pepper. Pour over artichokes and tomatoes; marinate several hours.

Add one tablespoon salt to three quarts rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water; drain again.

Remove artichokes and tomatoes from marinade and arrange around edge of platter. Toss macaroni with the marinade and place in center. Recipe makes six servings.

Actors, Politicians Top 'Best Dressed'

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson, a Democrat, and two Republicans, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York have been selected on an annual list of best-dressed men.

Johnson was selected Monday for the fourth time by the Fashion Foundation of America under the category of statesman. Romney and Lindsay were chosen under the respective designations of government and civic affairs.

Comedian Jackie Gleason was named best-dressed in the field of television.

Others selected included the Duke of Windsor, international society; George Sanders, stage; Dean Martin, movies; O. Wayne Rollins of Wilmington, Del., chairman and president of Rollins, Inc., industry; Leonard Gardner of New York, president of British Industries, Inc., marketing.

Expert Says Best Wives Are Ones Who Wear Hats

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
NEW YORK (AP) — A man who wants to be boss at home should choose a wife who wears hats. He should beware of those determinedly independent lassies with hair fluttering unfettered to their shoulders.

That is the advice of Dr. William Jennings Bryan Jr., a California doctor, lawyer, and hypnotist who makes instant personality appraisals by taking into account the clothes people wear.

This talent has been of particular value to F. Lee Bailey, the famous defense lawyer who has never lost a case. Although Bailey does not need any help in choosing a wife — he has a lovely one who wears hats — he has called upon Dr. Bryan on several occasions to help him select prospective jurors.

Dr. Bryan was with Bailey in Cleveland, Ohio, for the Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard trial and in Freehold, N.J., recently to assist in picking the jury which eventually acquitted Dr. Carl Coppolino of charges of having murdered a neighbor.

Next Time

The portly 40-year-old doctor, who directs the American Institute of Hypnotism in Los Angeles, says that, if Bailey asks, he will also go to Silver Springs, Fla., for his next case in February. Dr. Coppolino is charged there with murdering his first wife.

As for his jury appraisal system, Dr. Bryan believes that, although clothes do not make the man, they reveal almost unfailingly what the man is like.

"Suspect a person of having very little self-confidence if his dress is not characteristic of his profession," says the doctor.

In Trouble

"If a man is a banker and doesn't dress like the average one — expensive and conservative — then I conclude he doesn't really think of himself as a banker, or at least not a good one. He probably secretly believes he ought to be something else. He has problems."

"There is, for example, all the difference in the world in the apparel of a criminal lawyer and a bank teller. A teller conforms. A defense lawyer expresses his aggressiveness by failing to conform. Look at Clarence Darrow and his loud shirts and suspenders."

The psychology of dress philosophy used in the comedy routine of Bob Newhart is also adhered to by Dr. Ryan. A buttoned-down collar indicates a buttoned-down mind. A wide open collar suggests a wide open mind.

As for women, he says, "The exhibitionist, the girl who flaunts her sex on the outside is covering up for a lack of fire on the inside."

The really sexy woman, he claims, is tastefully dressed, very well-groomed, a real Patri-cian. "She has confidence, self-knowledge, and with good reason."

That girl with free flowing hair and little use for hats is, in the doctor's opinion, young, in-

Prompted by requests for informal party fare, our home economist friend went searching for main dishes to support her theory. She sent back three marvelous ones . . . each proves its worth . . . "actually its weight in gold" is the way she puts it . . . to the hostess trying it out.

All of these dishes owe their distinctive good taste to the use of a relative newcomer among culinary staples. It's a rich, convenient-to-use powdered, non-dairy creamer. Both the casseroles may be assembled early in the day, then be popped in the oven so as to be freshly baked and piping hot at serving time. The elegantly rich Swedish Liver Loaf should be baked a day ahead so that it has a chance to chill overnight.

SWEDISH LIVER LOAF

Milk
3/4 pound pork fat
1 medium onion
8 anchovy fillets
3 eggs, separated
1/4 cup non-dairy creamer
1/2 cup boiling chicken broth
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon ginger

Wash calf's liver and remove membrane. Soak in milk to cover for several hours.

Wipe dry. Put through meat grinder four times with pork fat, peeled onion and anchovies. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Blend in remaining ingredients, mixing well.

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form, fold into meat mixture.

Grease two loaf pans, then line with waxed paper and grease paper. Pour in liver mixture. Cover with greased waxed paper. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in 300-degree oven one to one and one-quarter hours or until firm. Cool and chill overnight. Recipe makes two loaves.

SWEDISH MEATBALLS

3 pounds ground beef
2 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
1/4 cup non-dairy creamer
1/4 cup flour

1/2 cup butter
6 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups non-dairy creamer
1 1/2 cups boiling water
2 beef bouillon cubes, crumbled
1 teaspoon meat extract paste
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Mix ground beef with two teaspoons of the salt, one teaspoon of pepper, Worcestershire and thyme.

Gently shape mixture into approximately 48 meatballs. Roll balls in mixture of 1/4 cup powdered creamer, 1/4 cup flour and remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Heat butter in a large skillet. Sauté meatballs until browned on all sides. Remove skillet from heat and transfer meatballs to a two-quart casserole. Remove all but three tablespoons drippings from skillet. Blend in six tablespoons flour with wire whip. Cook and stir one minute.

Add one and one-half cups creamer, then boiling water all at once and beat with wire whip to blend. Bring to a boil stirring constantly. Add bouillon cubes, meat extract and one-half teaspoon pepper.

Simmer, uncovered three minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour sauce over meatballs. Cover casserole and bake in a moderate 350-degree oven 30 minutes, or until meatballs are tender. Recipe makes eight servings.

VEAL CUTLETS
MOZZARELLA

5 boneless veal cutlets, each 1/2-inch thick (about 1 1/2 pounds)
1/2 cup non-dairy creamer
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons butter

1/2 cup non-dairy creamer
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup dry white wine
1 tablespoon cognac
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
8 ounces sliced Mozzarella cheese
3 tablespoons chopped parsley

Cut each cutlet in half cross-wise, and dip in mixture of 1/2 cup non-dairy creamer, flour, salt and pepper.

Heat butter in a large skillet. Brown cutlets on both sides,

JoAnn Jakubek Engagement of Miss Jakubek Announced

MENASHA — A June 17 wedding is planned by Miss JoAnn Jakubek and her fiancé, Robert I. Mys. Their engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jakubek, 726 London St. The bridegroom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William I. Mys, 2407 S. Oneida St., Appleton.

Miss Jakubek is employed at George Banta Co., Inc. Her fiancé is serving with the Army at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Without Precedent Queen in a Quandary

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II was caught up in a crisis of conscience today over her first cousin's desire to marry the mother of his illegitimate son after his wife divorces him.

An announcement Monday by attorneys for the Earl of Harewood, 43 and 18th in line of succession to the throne, came as a bombshell to the British public and uncovered one of the best-kept royal secrets.

The statement said Harewood's Austrian-born countess is suing him for divorce on grounds of adultery with Patricia Tuckwell, a dark-haired Australian divorcee who once worked as his secretary.

The attorneys said the earl would not defend his wife's suit, that "he and Miss Tuckwell would wish to marry if and when they are legally free to do so," and that Miss Tuckwell had a son by him in July 1964.

That put the queen in a predicament.

Under the Royal Marriages Act of 1772, all members of the royal family descended from King George II must have the monarch's permission to marry. And the Church of England — of which the queen is temporal head and "Defender of the Faith" — is opposed to the divorces him.

Lady Harewood, Lord Harewood's first wife, died in 1955. Her partner is still living, the key factor in Princess Margaret's decision in 1955 not to marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

Sources close to the court believe church leaders may advise the queen against consenting to her cousin's remarriage.

"This situation seems to be without precedent," said Cyril Hankinson, former editor of DeBrett's Peerage. "As far as I know, nobody so closely related to the sovereign has been divorced and I cannot think of any person within the party."

Date in 'Doghouse' With Girl; Should 'Bone Up' on Manners

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My boy friend is a graduate student at a well-known university here on the West Coast. He is very bright and has won many honors. I'm telling you this not to brag but to let you know that he's really not a moron — which is what you will probably think after I tell you my problem.

My little poodle, Nicole, is very dear to me. My boy friend has an alreale. The last three times my boy friend has come to see me he has yelled from the porch, "Put your dog in the basement. I brought Scotty along." I have done as he asked. It so happens I don't like to put Nicole in the basement, and I don't see why he should bring his mutt over and make demands on me.

Yesterday he pulled this stunt again and I told him to take Scotty home and come back alone. Would you believe that he and that dumb hound sat outside in the car for one solid hour? Finally he drove off in a huff and called me from his place to say I was a spoiled brat.

I say he is the spoiled brat and he owes me an apology. What do you say? — Still Sizzling

Loophole Lets Couple Wed In Maryland

WASHINGTON (AP) — A young graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and his bride leave today for Kansas, on a honeymoon made possible by their last-minute scramble through a loophole in Maryland's law against racially mixed marriages.

Ens. Manuel R. Lopez of West Hyattsville, Md., and Sally Smayling of Wichita, Kan., were refused a marriage license last Friday because Lopez' father, Cornelio Lopez, a Washington lawyer, is Filipino.

The younger Lopez was informed he "does not qualify for a marriage license" under a Maryland statute which bars marriage between whites and Negroes "or persons of Negro blood" or persons of Negro blood in the third generation inclusive, and between whites and "members of the Malay race."

No Choice

"I hated to do it," said Deputy Court Clerk William Clay, who issued the denial of license, "but I only work here."

But attorney Frank Flury, at the request of Lopez' father, appealed to the state attorney general's office and to senior Circuit Judge Ralph W. Powers.

All three agreed that Ens. Lopez, because of his mixed blood, is only second-generation Malay and the law, though barring third-generation Negroes, didn't say anything about second-generation Malays.

Clay, directed by the judge for Asst. Atty. Gen. Thomas Garland, opened the courthouse Saturday and issued the license.

Lopez and his bride were married Sunday.

Lopez, on leave from sea duty off Vietnam, will join his ship, the USS Wiltzie, in San Diego. Mrs. Lopez will remain in Wichita, where she has one more semester of college.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Mom passed away several months ago and Dad and I miss her very much. Dad tries to cheer up both himself and me by taking me places Friday and Saturday evenings.

Last Friday we went to a cocktail lounge where there was dancing. Several fellows I knew from school (I'm a junior) were there tagging it. Not one fellow asked me to dance. This made me very depressed.

Do you think they were afraid of my father? Please answer as I am really in the dumps over this. — A.P.

Dear A.P.: I'm sure your hunch is correct and I hope your dad will think of another way to cheer up both himself and you. Taking a teenage daughter to a cocktail lounge is not my idea of a solution to any problem.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I fell in love with a married man. I didn't realize until later that I was not his first affair. His wife realized it, however, and decided she had had enough of his playing around. She divorced him.

Now his sons want nothing to do with him. He is not permitted to see his grandchildren. His business associates no longer include him in their social plans. At dinner tonight he looked at me through eyes of hate — as if it was all my fault.

Let this letter be a warning to all single girls who are coying up to married men with hopes for the future. I wish to heaven I had never seen this character and I'm sure he wishes he had never seen me. — Ashes In My Mouth

Dear Ashes: Your story is such a common one that I am printing it only because some people have to see or hear something four dozen times before they get the idea.

Kaukauna Shows Interest In Metropolitan Area Plan

Authorizes Study of Benefits of Joint Valley Governmental Units

KAUKAUNA — The council Tuesday night authorized their planning commission to investigate the possibility of the city joining a metropolitan area, as recommended by Eugene Franchett, executive director of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

The council also will request Franchett to appear before them to explain advantages of the metropolitan area. Franchett already has told how governmental units in the Fox Cities region would be able to increase Federal grant participation 20 per cent if they were members of a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area.

Ald. William Rogers (5th) presented a motion asking the Fox Valley Planning Commission to take steps to form such a metropolitan area and make Kaukauna a part of the area, but other aldermen felt the plan should be given additional study before taking action.

Mayor Gilbert Anderson made the recommendation on forming a metropolitan area in the Fox Cities and felt the regional planning commission should make a thorough study as soon as possible and report advantages to all municipalities in the area.

Aid Pending

Word was received from the State Department of Resource Development that the city's application for federal aid for development of a master plan for the city was still being held, pending changes in the grant program. The application was neither approved nor denied, but no funds are forthcoming at present.

Sylvester Esler, chairman of the county board, asked the city to be represented at a joint meeting at 7 p.m. Jan. 11 in the

Three Seek Seat In Second Ward; Other Contests Loom

KAUKAUNA — A 3-way race for the Second Ward aldermanic post is taking shape as three candidates have taken out nomination papers at the city clerk's office.

Earl Luedtke, 160 McKinley St., incumbent, is seeking re-election to the post he held from 1956 to 1960, and again from 1962 to 1964. He was elected by the council to fill the post with the resignation of David Specht in 1966. Married and the father of two children, he is employed at the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co.

Richard Gerrits, 137 Tobacco St., a former policeman and now a teacher in the Kimberly school system is also seeking the post. He is married and has one child. This is his first try for public office.

Third candidate is Frank Merckx, 157 Arthur St., who has tried unsuccessfully for the post on two other occasions. Married and the father of three, he is employed at the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co.

A race for First Ward alderman is likely as Robert Vondracek, 807 Blackwell St., is circulating papers to run against Arnold Vander Loop, incumbent. Vondracek is married, the father of three children and is employed at the Giddings and Lewis Machine Tool Co., Kaukauna division.

11 Students Given Parts In 2 Operas

French Musicals Bring Comedy to Lawrence Theatre

Eleven Lawrence University students have been named by John Koopman, assistant professor of music and opera theater director, to the casts of "The Incomplete Education" and "The Spanish Hour," a pair of French comic operas to be presented by the Lawrence Opera Theatre from Jan. 26 through 28.

Named to the cast of "The Incomplete Education" by Chabrier, were: Mary Lee Huber, Ellsworth; Frederik Schuetze, Monroe; Paul Bauck, Hammond, Ind.; Wallace Haver, Scotia, N. Y.; Hugh Gray-Hyman, Colon, Republic of Panama; Dean Whiteway, La Crosse; David Varnum, Rockford, Ill.; and Norman Holman, Edgerton.

Kathleen Link, Michigan City, Ind., will play the piano accompaniment.

"The Spanish Hour," by Ravel, will be sung by Karen Hicks, Western Springs, Ill.; Kort Ploshay, Hinsdale, Ill.; and Jane Westendorf, Withee.

Jeannette Joiner, Polo, Ill., is the accompanist.

The two operas represent comic musical styles of the late 19th and early 20th century. "The Incomplete Education," which premiered in Paris in 1879, is an hilarious romp by a pair of timid newlyweds. "The Spanish Hour," first heard in Paris in 1911, is a melodic farce concerning an absent-minded clockmaker, his too-amorous wife, and a number of also-amorous visitors.

Curtain time for the operas is 8 p.m. in Harper Hall. Tickets go on sale at the Lawrence box office at noon Thursday. Box office hours are from noon to 6 p.m. daily, except Sunday, and from 6 p.m. to one-half past the curtain on performance nights.

Construction Lag Hits Kaukauna During 1966

Building Costs Drop $127,530 During Year; Few Non-Taxable Projects Included in List

KAUKAUNA — Total estimated cost of construction in seven industrial buildings were, the city during 1966 was set at a cost of $1,057,500. $2,056,300, down $127,530 from one addition costing $33,500 in 1965, according to the annual building report.

Despite the building total being lower, the picture is brighter for the city as the 1966 report included $1,306,000 for construction of public buildings such as a new church, school and school additions, none of which increase the tax base.

The 1966 report lists no non-taxable building construction although two utility projects, one an elevated water tower, accounted for $121,500 of the total.

There were 36 new homes built at a cost of $558,300 in 1966 compared to 25 costing $395,000 in 1965. Additions, alterations and repair permits numbered 44 in 1966 with total cost set at $46,200 compared to 41 with a cost of $44,485 in 1965. Garages, garage additions and sheds numbered 54 in 1965 at a total cost of $46,935 compared to 50 costing $46,600 in 1966. Total residential construction in 1965 was $486,425 compared to $652,100 in 1966.

One commercial building costing $10,000 was built in 1965 whereas the 1966 report shows three new buildings costing a total of $93,870. Additions, alterations and repairs increased from 10 in 1965 to 15 in 1966, cost increasing from $32,995 to $96,830. The 1966 report shows one commercial construction, other than a building, built at a cost of $1,000. Total commercial construction in 1966 was set at $191,700 compared to $42,995 in 1965.

Industrial construction during the past year showed a gain estimated at $1,091,000 compar-dropped from 12 to eight, street excavation permits dropped from 17 to 12, sign permits dropped from 12 to 11, wrecking permits dropped from 12 to two, moving permits increased from five to six, gas permits increased from 123 to 127 and gas license renewals decreased from 26 to 18.

Total number of permits issued in 1966 was 471 compared to 418 the previous year and fees collected increased from $2,907.43 to $3,819.69.

Kaukauna Man Wins Suit for Divorce

Norman Propson, 27, Kaukauna, has been granted a divorce from Janice Propson, 23, Kiel, on grounds of adultery. The divorce was granted in Outagamie County Court first four weeks and $10 weekly thereafter. A property settlement also was approved.

John L. Hartsworm, 30, 107 High St., Waupaca, began serving a 15-day jail sentence Tuesday after he pleaded guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 of driving after his license was revoked.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller also assessed Hartsworm $5 court costs.

Hartsworm was arrested by state police Dec. 15 on U.S. 10 in the Town of Dale.

Daily Struggle
Booby Traps Part Of Peril of Vietnam

By JOHN LENGEL
DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP)—Snipers, a coconut booby-trapped with explosive, the 3 a.m. mortar attack—it is all part of the daily struggle, along with the battles, pacification and logistics.

Da Nang is on the fertile coast of the 1st Corps Area, the five northernmost provinces of South Vietnam which has cool highlands wrinkling into Laos.

A senior Air Force officer who flies from the Da Nang base talked about the day-to-day struggle.

"One day there are 20 fuel trucks 20 miles north of the demilitarized zone, but we can't find them from the air," he said.

"A couple of days later the same trucks are 20 miles south of the zone in Laos. We know they're the same trucks because we have people out there counting them."

Bomb Convoys
"We bomb their convoys, the bridges, and we hurt them. Little things add up, too."

"For instance, the North Vietnamese have to drive at night without lights. That means in the north that the supplies and reinforcements move at 20 miles an hour instead of 50, and not as much before we started bombing."

"Where some bridges are bombed out, we've found fords just under the water, built of rocks. Now we bomb the rocks. If we don't it's the same as leaving a bridge standing."

There are 61,000 U.S. Marines throughout the corps area. Their swelling enclaves now include 2,700 of the area's 10,000 square miles. Navy Seabees have added permanence, building barracks, roads, warehouses and piers.

11,500 Dead
The Marines run an average 300 patrols a day, setting up about 150 ambushes in the process. In 20 months, the Leathernecks officially claim 11,500 enemy dead.

Combined enemy strength—North Vietnamese regulars, main-force Viet Cong and local guerrillas—is estimated at 48,000.

The government has 34,000 regulars in the area, 32,000 militiamen who guard bridges and villages.

But the area assassination rate is one a day. Five persons are abducted by the Viet Cong every two days. Terror incidents average half a dozen daily.

Giant Air Force B52s, acting on intelligence and infrared detection devices, bomb suspected enemy concentrations regularly.

The Marines' new A6 intruder can detect and destroy moving trucks or boats at night.

However the main highway, Route 1, was cut in six places by recent Viet Cong attacks.

Day's Firing
Marine artillerymen fire thousands of rounds a day in support of patrols or to harass the enemy, to keep him moving. Gunners at the Dong Ha batteries near the demilitarized zone recently fired 14,000 rounds in 24 hours.

A Marine officer said major operations — battalion-scale fighting which ceased in early October — "pretty well bloodied the nose of the hard-core enemy units."

"Now we're going after the infrastructure, the guy who picks up his rifle when he sees something to shoot at," he said.

In an area 30 miles southwest of Da Nang, 60 per cent of all Marine casualties are attributed to booby traps, compared with less than 5 per cent near the contested demilitarized zone.

"The VC pay old men and boys to put out booby traps like they were delivering papers," a Marine colonel said.

The booby traps may be grenades tied to trip wires, hollowed out coconuts, or American beer cans chocked with TNT or chemical explosive drained from dud U.S. bombs.

Marinette Death Ruled Accidental
MARINETTE (AP) — Marinette County Coroner Richard Matty ruled Monday that the fatal shooting of a Sheboygan youth was accidental.

Ronald Sheve, 19, of Sheboygan died Sunday shortly after admission to a Marinette hospital.

Matty said Sheve was hunting with a brother and two companions on a relative's farm near White Potato Lake when he walked into the path of a 22 caliber bullet fired from a rifle by one of the others.

French Song Stylist To Marry Model
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—French song stylist Charles Aznavour and Swedish model Ulla Thorssell say they will be married in Las Vegas Jan. 11.

Aznavour, 43, is appearing at the Flamingo Hotel on the Las Vegas strip. He has asked permission to cancel the third week of his singing engagement so that he could show his fiancée the city.

U. S. Tries To Stop Deal With Castro

LONDON (AP) — The British government is reported ready to guarantee the sale of a $28 million fertilizer plant to Cuba despite pressure from Washington.

Official sources said U. S. authorities had asked London to stop the sale by refusing Fidel Castro's government the five-year credit it needs for the deal.

But the sale is expected to go through despite hints that it might lessen American support for economic sanctions against Britain's rebellious colony, Rhodesia.

A Foreign Office spokesman said: "The government's policy on trade with Cuba is to allow it to proceed normally, free of government interference, except as concerns the export of strategic goods."

Asked about the attitude of the U. S. government to the deal, the spokesman said: "The countries with Cuba — and specifically toward the granting of government-insured credits for such trade."

Some Postmasters Aren't Putting ZIP In All Their Mail

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department, trying hard to get everybody to use ZIP code, has disclosed that some of its own postmasters aren't doing so.

And what's more, it was the Customs Bureau that tattled on the postmasters.

The post office, in its weekly postal bulletin, said "the Bureau of Customs has advised that some postmasters are failing to enter the ZIP code on official correspondence with that bureau."

The bulletin directed each postmaster to "ensure that his ZIP code is entered on all correspondence directed to the regional Commissioner of Customs at New York or to the Bureau of Customs."

Kaukauna still holds the top offensive average in the league — 80.0 points per game. The Ghosts tallied 81 in their start against Neenah, but succumbed to a 95-point spurge by the Rockets. Menasha, despite a 1-3 record, has limited foes to 49.5 points per tilt.

Dan Jankowski, a 6-3 junior center who has paced Neenah in rebounding, tops the circuit's elite with 75 points for an 18.8 average. Ron Jesse, of Shawano, has flipped in more points, 78, but in five games for a 15.6 mark.

Boasting the only remaining unbeaten mark in the league, the Neenah High School Rockets lead Mid-Eastern Conference teams back into action Friday night when they journey to cellar-dwelling Two Rivers as part of a full slate.

Coach Doug Martin's quintet will be a heavy favorite to maintain its edge on the rest of the circuit for at least another week. The most interesting contest of the night shapes up at Kaukauna, where the run-and-shoot Ghosts meet Clintonville in a struggle for second place. Each has a 3-1 league mark, and each has suffered the same fate — a loss at the hands of front-running Neenah.

Shawano will test the slow-down tactics of Menasha on the Bluejays' home court, and New London travels to Kimberly, as

Ben Kerner Puts Hawks Up for Sale

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ben Kerner, one of two individual owners of a National Basketball Association club, says he's putting his St. Louis Hawks on sale.

An attorney for Kerner made the announcement Tuesday at a news conference which the 50-year-old owner did not attend and Kerner suffers from arthritis, and his health was given as a primary reason for the decision.

"The operation of a team in the NBA now demands more than just one man," said Michael J. Aubuchon, the attorney, for the club. Aubuchon denied the falling attendance precipitated Kerner's decision.

"There has been a profit every year since the club moved here in 1955. Last year the Hawks made a profit of $243,975 and a comparable profit is expected this season," said Aubuchon.

Chiefs Have to Match Green Bay's Poise in Super Bowl

Packers Experience Factor, Lemm Says

By MURRAY CHASS

NEW YORK (AP) — Kansas City may have super personnel, but the outcome of pro football's world championship game very likely could depend on how superbly the Chiefs match the Green Bay Packers in poise.

That's the opinion of Wally Lemm, one of only three active head coaches who have served in both the American and National Leagues.

Lemm coached the Houston Oilers of the AFL in 1961, then left for the NFL and four years with the St. Louis Cardinals before returning to the Oilers this past season.

"Kansas City has fine personnel, which many consider the finest personnel in pro football," Lemm said Tuesday night in a telephone conversation from his home in suburban Chicago.

Has The Savvy

"But Green Bay has the savvy — just like the old New York Yankees. They have that championship game experience. That's a definite advantage. If

Call Money Secondary in Super Bowl

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers were putting their pride before their pocketbooks today as they began getting ready for the Jan. 15 Super Bowl clash with the Kansas City Chiefs.

The first meeting between the champions of the National and American Football Leagues will earn each member of the winning team $15,000 with the losers having to settle for a mere $7,500.

The money is nothing to sneeze at even for the prosperous Packers, who have collected winners' shares in four of the past six National Football League championship games.

But the Packers have loftier goals. "The money is really secondary," said quarterback Bart Starr, the NFL's Most Valuable Player. "A lot of people will find that hard to believe but it's really true."

"There's more than money in this particular game," said tackle Henry Jordan.

"The money means something, of course," said halfback Elijah Pitts, "but it's secondary."

Starr put it this way: "The biggest thing we've got going for us is to represent our league well. As we look at it right now, the things we worked for all year came down to these two games — the championship game (with Dallas) and the right to represent our league in the Super Bowl, and the Super Bowl."

Feels Pride

"The pride of the whole thing," said Pitts, "is what you feel, being part of a ball club in the Super Bowl and representing the National Football League. It's an exciting thing for me."

The Packers are already installed as eight-point favorites, but Green Bay isn't taking the American Football League representatives lightly.

"You've got to respect any team that's won its division and gone on to win its league's championship," said Starr. "I know they have real fine football players."

"I certainly don't think so," Starr replied when asked if the Super Bowl could become a super mismatch. "I think it's going to be a real fine game."

"I'm kind of anxious to see what they look like," said Jordan, who like other Packers has on rare occasions seen AFL teams play via television.

Jordan said he did see Chiefs' quarterback Len Dawson play. "He has a pretty cool head," Jordan said. "They've got some real good personnel."

"We're not trying to sell anyone short," said Pitts. "You know all the guys are professionals and they came from the same colleges we came from."

Pitts came from Philander Smith. Did he ever dream back there that someday he would be playing in a Super Bowl? "It's not exactly what I thought about back in school," he replied.

CONISTON, England (AP) — however, as he got set for his record attempt.

He was the son of Sir Malcolm Campbell, who gained fame in the 1930s for his racing exploits on land and water. The younger Campbell took pride in being known as one of the "fanatical Campbells."

Sensed Disaster

Shore observers said that Campbell's last words "I'm going" could have meant that he sensed disaster or that he was going all out in trying for the record.

An explosion was reported as the boat went down. Wreckage strewn to the surface but there was no sign of Campbell.

Campbell's shoes, helmet, and oxygen mask were recovered. An eyewitness on the shore said:

"The boat appeared to become airborne before somersaulting. A rescue boat circled the spot but appeared to find no sign of life. As the boat hit the water there appeared to be an explosion."

Waited 9 Weeks

Campbell had been waiting for nearly nine weeks for suitable conditions to break his own water speed record of 276 miles an hour.

Pete Predicts Sellout for Super Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle predicts the first Super Bowl football game will be a sellout.

In Los Angeles Tuesday to complete arrangements for the Jan. 15 game between NFL champion Green Bay and American Football League titlist Kansas City, Rozelle said ticket sales jumped as soon as the identity of two Super Bowl opponents was known.

By last week, 26,000 of the 93,000 seats had been sold.

No Lift

Rozelle said the television blackout of the game in Los Angeles will not be lifted. Televising the contest would have hurt ticket sales, and lifting of the blackout would make ticketholders feel they had been misled, he explained.

Rozelle and Los Angeles Rams' owner Dan Reeves were expected to appear in U.S. District Court today to answer a Los Angeles suit for injunction against the blackout.

Rozelle noted that the Pro Bowl Jan. 22 in the Coliseum also will be blacked out in Los Angeles, and said he expects that game will eventually become an all-star game between the NFL and the AFL.

Korth, Tiedt Score 16 Points Apiece in 61-49 Triumph

FREEDOM — Opening the second half with a burst of speed, the Fox Valley Lutheran Foxes outdistanced the Freedom Irish, 61-49, here Tuesday night.

The visitors were down, 24-23, at the close of the first two periods, but netted 10 straight points at the start of the third stanza to take a 33-24 margin.

The difference proved to be at the freethrow line, since both squads netted 22 baskets from the floor. FVL hit on 17 of 23 free throws, while Freedom garnered only five points via the charity line.

The keynote of the Foxes attack was balanced. Four men hit in the double figure column. Howie Korth and Dave Tiedt each netted 16, while Paul Mueller and Jerry Depner added 13 apiece to the attack. Bud Trembl led Freedom with 14, and Rick Garvey added 10.

Not only did Fox Lutheran come alive at the opening of the second half, but likewise came on strong at the close of the contest. At the start of the final period, Bud Trembl hit on a jumper to bring Freedom within one point, but the visitors proceeded to hit 15 of the game's final 19 points.

The scrappy Freedom squad was at a definite height disadvantage. The Foxes hauled in 39 rebounds, against 26 for Freedom. FVL hit 22 of 61 for 36 per cent, while the Irish made 22 of 55, for 40 per cent.

The win evened the Fox Lutheran record at 4-4, while the Irish are now 0-7 in over-all action.

Stram 'Didn't Say' Chiefs Would Tear Bays Apart

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City Coach Hank Stram termed "ridiculous" a published statement quoting him as saying his club would tear Green Bay apart in the pro football world title game.

"I didn't say that to anyone," said Stram, who pointed out that when he was interviewed in the dressing room the Green Bay-Dallas NFL title game was just getting under way.

"Obviously, I would never say a thing, not even in jest, not on the record, not off the record," Stram said.

The Kansas City squad leaves today to train at Long Beach, Calif.

'Fuzzy' Says Packers Will Play Their Finest Game in Super Bowl

Post-Crescent News Service

Will the Packers possibly find the upcoming Super Bowl slightly anti-climactic in the wake of their dramatic duel with the Dallas Cowboys for the National Football League crown?

Massive Fuzzy Thurston, one of the principals in that hectic 34-27 victory over the talented and tenacious Cowboys last weekend, responds with an emphatic negative.

The 32-year-old restaurateur, a proud athlete beneath that devil-may-care facade, declared, "No, not at all. We're carrying the prestige of the National Football League in that game, we're pretty proud of what it has done over the last 40 years."

"We know what we do in this game will reflect upon the entire league. I know every team in the NFL is counting on us to represent them well. And a bird while traveling at over 200 miles an hour.

A north westerly wind was blowing as the 45-year-old racer started his run today.

His father, Sir Malcolm Campbell, was a noted racer on both land and water. His son took over from his father, who died in November, 1948.

The younger Campbell was the first man to set up land and water speed records in the same year.

In 1964 he achieved 403.1 miles per hour in his gas turbine car Bluebird and 276.33 miles per hour on water in his jet hydroplane speed boat of the same name.

Would Retire

Campbell said then he hoped to do 400 miles an hour on land and 300 on water and if he attained these speeds he would retire.

"They say we're half mad to do it," Campbell said once while waiting for his record attempt on the water. "Perhaps they're right. We've never really grown up, any of us, you know. God help us, the day we do."

A militant patriot, he said recently, "I want to show the rest of the world what we can do. The British are the salt of the earth. For 15 years we've been going to the dogs. 'Get up and stop moping' — that's what I would say to my countrymen. We've had too much of the long-haired intelligentsia. It's been all pop and pleasure."

Campbell came near death six years ago when his Bluebird car crashed at more than 300 miles an hour. He later told of being afraid — "but not because of the crash — because it made me realize how close to death we always are. While I am sitting here talking to you, I can get frightened just thinking that I might have a heart attack or get lung cancer."

Campbell inspired a messianic faith in his team of engineers and helpers.

"They work with me — not for me," he said. "It's the cause that counts."

A short, dark man with boundless energy and blue eyes, Campbell habitually wore cream shirts with navy blue birds on the chest.

His third wife was Tonia Bern, a Belgian model and entertainer who married him in 1958 and who recently returned to night club singing. He had a daughter by his first marriage.

I know George Halas, for one, would turn over if we didn't win this game, it means so much to him."

"I believe our finest game we'll ever play," Fuzzy appended by way of emphasis, "we'll play in the Super Bowl."

"The Same Way"

"We'll approach this game the same way we approached our final game in Los Angeles, the one in Baltimore before it and the NFL championship game in Dallas, because that's the type of team we are — we have pride in ourselves."

We're going to play the best football we can," the former Valparaiso luminary summed up, "because we're the champions and we wear the crown proudly."

Does he know anything about the Pack's opponents, the Kansas City Chiefs? "No, nothing at all," Thurston replied, then typically, added with a chuckle, "I don't even know where it's located... Is that in Alaska?"

Serious again, he added, "But I'll know all about 'em by next week. That is, I'll know all about their defensive linemen and linebackers, because we'll start studying them later this week."

How did he react to this latest title, the fourth NFL championship for the Pack during his 8-year tenure? "I don't think you can say one means more to you than any other," he replied.

"There's something about each and every one that is very meaningful in its own way."

"Of course, with the Super Bowl, there was little more motive this time."

Had the Packers' 34-point splurge surprised him? "Very much," was the unhesitating reply, "especially scoring five touchdowns. . . . The most amazing thing is we had to score five to win it."

"It was an entirely different game than I expected," he continued. "I figured it would be a low-scoring game, something like 17-14, 14-10, 13-10."

"Extremely Sharp"

Essaying an explanation, he pointed out, "Our offense was extremely sharp, especially Bart (Starr) and the receivers. And our physical timing was good, which pleased me, considering the weather we had had to practice in Tulsa last week."

Further evaluating the Pack's 10th NFL title triumph, Thurston said, "Mistakes, we didn't have any. There were no offensive penalties and Bart didn't make any mistakes, physically or mentally. . . . And we only had one fumble."

"Our defense played well, too. It was just that the Cowboys executed so well — they played their hearts out. And, when you think of it, 27 points is not a great amount. It seems like a lot of points because our defense usually doesn't give up that many. I think a team should score 24 to 27 points per game, so a defense can allow 17 to 20 and win."

Fuzzy found it a highly intriguing afternoon, playing against all-pro defensive tackle Bob Lilly he confided. "He's a very difficult person to play against because he's so big and so quick," he said. "He's by far the quickest man I've played against."

Cites Experience

"The biggest thing I had going for me was my experience. Offensive Coach Ray Wietecha did a marvelous job of scouting him and had it set up real well. I thought I played a pretty intelligent game against him — when you play against a man as big and as quick as he is, you've got to outsmart him or you're beat before you start."

Although he has hinted at the possibility in the past two or three seasons, the former all-pro guard says, "I definitely haven't made up my mind about retiring, one way or another."

"I hope, after the season is over, to discuss the situation with Coach Lombardi and see what his plans are. Then I'll study the whole thing and decide."

4 Starters Among Group

Wave of Suspensions Hits Duke Cage Squad

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

"A position of leadership," said Vic Bubas, Duke's basketball coach, "is a lonely one and I have been lonely for the last couple of days."

Bubas got lonelier later.

That was after he had temporarily suspended nine players including four starters for training violations and left himself with only seven players — two on the bench and five on the floor — for Tuesday night's game against Penn State at Durham, N.C.

Fortunately for Duke, one of the clean sweep survivors was sharp shooting Bob Verga. He fired 38 points and led what was left of the Blue Devils to an 89-84 victory over Penn State.

Bubas would give no details on the suspensions which hit starters Mike Lewis, Bob Reidy, Dave Golden and Tim Kolodziej and reserves Tony Barone, Warren Chapman, Ron Wendelin, Jim Liccardo and Joe Kennedy.

'Privilege, Not Right'

The coach would say only, "it is a privilege, not a right to play college basketball."

Fred Lind, C.B. Claiborne, Steve Vandenberg and Stu McKaig joined Verga in Duke's starting line-up. Lind and Claiborne never had scored a point before for Duke but produced 22 between them with Claiborne getting 13.

Vandenberg, who had been averaging 3.4 points per game, led the sub-turned-starters with 16 points. McKaig scored eight. Bob Francis, who had never played a varsity minute for Duke before, came off the sparsely populated bench and scored five points.

Louisville, ranked second in The Associated Press' Top Ten, overcame a strong individual performance by Tulsa's Eldridge Webb and beat the Hurricanes 76-62 in a Missouri Valley Conference game refereed by high school officials.

Explosive Brillion High School will be out to maintain its perfect Little Nine Conference record Friday night when the Lions meet defensively-minded Shiocton on the Brillion court.

Brillion currently has a 4-0 record and carries an impressive average of 89.0 points per game. The Lions have held foes to an average of 67 per cent.

Other games Friday night are Wrightstown at Omro, Hilbert at Freedom, Reedsville at Winneconne and Denmark will be at Hortonville.

Brillion's offensive attack is paced by Russ Rohrdanz and Russ Hansen who rank second and third in the conference scoring race. Rohrdanz has 89 points for a 22.2 average and Hansen has 82 points for a 20.5 mark.

Beats Reedsville

In its latest league game, Brillion rolled past Reedsville, 82-63 with Hansen hitting 28 points on 12 field goals and four free throws.

Shiocton, Brillion's Friday foe, has a 2-2 league record and will be out to break a 2-game losing streak. Shiocton lost to Omro in its last conference game and bowed to Bear Creek in a non-loop tilt during the holiday season, 61-50. In the loss to Omro, Jeff Stang, of the Foxes hit 50 points on 20 field goals and 10 free throws. Stang is the scoring leader in the circuit with a 25.2 average.

Hilbert, Omro, Reedsville and Winneconne also will be struggling to stay in the thick of the race for conference laurels. Each is only one game behind Brillion.

13 Dual Wins in Row

Lawrence Wrestlers To Meet St. Norbert

Lawrence University wrestlers will begin their dual meet schedule at 10 a.m. Saturday at DePere when they face the St. Norbert College squad. Last year, Lawrence outpointed St. Norbert, 23-19.

The Vikes bring a record of 13 straight dual-meet wins to the contest, all won during the 1965-66 season. Only one quadrangular figured on the Lawrence schedule before the Christmas vacation; in it, Lawrence placed second to North Park College after four days of organized practice. Quadrangular scores were North Park 100; Lawrence 73, Carthage 70, and Ripon 20.

Lawrence has a squad of 26 wrestlers being coached by Ron Roberts this season — three seniors, 9 juniors and 11 sophomores. Nine are lettermen.

Squad Listed The squad consists of: Seniors — Richard Agness, captain, 177 pounds, Northlake, Ill.; Jerry Gatzke, 191 pounds or heavy-weight, St. Paul, Minn.; and Howard Yoshiura, 123 pounds, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Juniors — John Biolo, 191 pounds, Green Bay, Jerry Clif-ford, 152, Winnetka, Ill.; Mark Hoskins, 160, Lancaster; Bill Mittlefehdt, 191, Downers Grove, Ill.; Jerry Nightingale, 145, Chicago, Ill.; Neil Russell, 123, Elmhurst, Ill.; Harvey Takemoto, 130, Honolulu, Hawaii; Earl Tryon, 132, Morgantown, W.Va.; Oliver Wood, 115, Middlebury, Vt.

denville, Okla.; Gar Kellom, 167, Beaver Dam; A. Richard Martin, 152, Kenosha; John Oppenheim, 167, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Bill Pearlman, 130, Highland Park, Ill.; Joe Patterson, heavyweight, Cleveland, Ohio; Dale Schuparra, 160, Wauwatosa; Dave Toyen, 137, New Auburn, Miles Turner, 191, Roselle, Ill.

In the St. Norbert contest, there will be no competition in the 115 or 191 pound classes, because St. Norbert has no contenders in those weights.

Richard Agness, captain of the 1966-67 wrestling team at Lawrence, was also captain of the 1966 football squad which tied three ways for the Midwest Conference championship under Coach Ron Roberts.

While a student at West Leyden High School in Northlake, Ill., Agness took a third in the state wrestling tournament and was voted his high school's outstanding athlete. At Lawrence, he was named the outstanding freshman athlete on the basis of his fine play from the end position in football and his second place finish in the state AAU wrestling tournament.

On the varsity level Agness has compiled a 28-3 record and two second places in the Midwest Conference wrestling tournament.

Agness is president of Delta Tau Delta social fraternity, is a member of the Homecoming Committee, the Lettermen's Club and the Interfraternity Council. He has maintained a B-average as an art major.

Offensive Line Confident of Victory

KC's 'Forgotten Six' Has Fierce Pride

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG Associated Press Sports Writer KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Forgotten Six, offensive line of Kansas City's AFL champions, has fierce pride in its ability to do the job against Green Bay's NFL kings for the world football title Jan. 15.

"I couldn't be more proud of the men on my team—they were just great," said Jim Tyrer, 292-pound All-AFL tackle, of his team's convincing 31-7 victory over Buffalo. Does the lack of publicity bother the offensive line?

Learn to Accept "Naw, it's just something you learn to accept," he said. "We get our recognition from the points on the scoreboard."

Curt Merz, 267-pound guard, put it this way: "I don't want to hear anyone talking about who won the game. There were 40 men out there and they were all great."

Fred Arbanas, 214-pound All-AFL tight end with almost no sight in his left eye, is eager for a shot at the NFL champs. "I think we can beat Green Bay," Arbanas said. "My shoulder will be fine by then, I'll guarantee you."

Reynebeau's 627 Set Tops Couples' Loop

Joe Reynebeau boomed a 627 threesome in the Bird Couples League at Little Chute Recreation Lanes Tuesday night.

Reggie Hermsten fired a 587, including a 227 line, for runner-up honors. Vin Jansen and Glen Jansen hit 567 and 552, respectively, and Eva Jansen had a 203 and a 506 aggregate. Carol Wildenberg came in with a 204 game.

The Beer Couples League at 41 Bowl saw John Koessler lead the pack with a 570, while Wayne Lemberger and Earl Mentzel were close behind with 565 and 563, respectively.

Fred Plamann topped the Baseball Couples circuit at Village Lanes in Little Chute with a 570, and Jim Landerman had a 552.

Bud Wegner got the best trio in the TV Sparemakers loop at Sabre Lanes, a 556, while Joan Kolosso's 530 paced the women's efforts. Ann Chervey added a 211, and Jean Swick hit a 195 line.

In the Lutheran Couples League, Gerry Bellile socked a 194 and a 510, and Millie Hedtke had a 197.

key to the game. Johnny Sample New York Jets' cornerback who played for three NFL clubs had this to say after the Chiefs beat New York:

Defensive Line "They could beat many of the teams in the National League, but Green Bay's defensive line would eat them up."

Hank Stram, Kansas City headman who was voted AFL Coach of the Year, makes it clear he doesn't want to get into the comparison game. "The War of Words," as he terms it, "It's still a war on grass."

Stram said, "And the war is won up front. The fact we have scored more points 479 in 15 games than any team in pro football is a direct compliment to the blocking of our offensive line. They are big, strong and mobile and they have great pride."

Underrated Tackle Dave Hill, termed by Stram "the most underrated tackle in the AFL," started calling the offensive line the Forgotten Five in mid-season. Arbanas quickly corrected him, saying "I make six."

Ed Budde, 6-foot-5, 260-pound guard who was an All-AFL choice for the first time, said "I know we can keep 'em (the

The center is Wayne Frazier, 246, obtained from Houston in a trade after Jon Gilliam hurt his knee in a preseason game. His play has been a surprise. Gilliam, a quick, smart veteran, can play in a pinch.

Ed Schroeder Hits 656 in Tavern League

Erv Hooyman and Ed Schroeder came through with big series to share honors in the Tavern League at Hahn's Lanes last Friday and Gordy Heffernon belted a booming 267 game in the American Legion League at the 41 Bowl last week to highlight recent bowling action.

Hooyman had a 243 game and 655 series while Schroeder blasted games of 232 and 227 for a 656 series in the Tavern Loop.

Other honor scores in the Tavern circuit included Chuck McGinnis 589; Jim Viotto 581; Milt Drier 575; Frank DeJong 572; "Kat" Kassube 569; Jerry Plamann 240-468; Dave Laux 558; Mickey McGuire 561; Ed Flood 556; Ray Sears 554; Les Brockman 552; "Curly" Ludwig 225-552; Jerry Ellenbecker Jr. 550, Al Gast 550.

Heffernon's 267 game was followed by a 577 series and top set in the Legion loop was a 627 by Glen Utschig. Utschig also had a 229 game and Gordy Simon posted a 573 series.

Two Youths From Neenah Plead Guilty

4 Charges Involve Minor Girls, Beer, Concealed Weapon

Two 16-year-old Neenah youths, whom Outagamie County police found in a parked car with two 15-year-old girls Monday night were ordered to jail without bond to await sentencing on a total of four charges to which they pleaded guilty Tuesday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Gary R. Johnson, 873 Betty Ave., whose parents appeared with him in court, pleaded guilty of contributing to the delinquency of minors, being armed with a concealed, dangerous weapon, and transporting beer in the same car with minors.

A companion, Arlyn W. Westphal, 677 Grove St., pleaded guilty of contributing to the delinquency of minors. County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered Westphal to have his parents in court for the sentencing at 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Both boys were in jail since their arrest Monday. County police said they found the two boys and two girls about 8 p.m. in Johnson's car which was parked on Two Mile Road, near the airport.

The youths had a six pack and a quart of beer. A search of the car turned up an uncased, sawed-off shotgun owned by Johnson. The two girls were turned over to their parents, police said.

Circuit Judges Delay Action on Code of Ethics

OSHKOSH (AP)—A majority of circuit judges attending the annual State Judicial Conference voted Tuesday to postpone until June action on a proposed code of ethics for jurists.

Some said the proposal did not say specifically who would administer the code or what the penalties were for violations.

The State Supreme Court, which made the proposal, had requested the judges present a recommendation on the rules in time for a public hearing in March.

Judge Edwin M. Wilke, of Madison, said he would call for a vote of reconsideration today if the postponement is not agreeable to Chief Justice George R. Currie.

No Schedule Announced for Giant Airliner

Awarding Contracts Not Go Signal for Supersonic Plane

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The awards of contracts for the U.S. supersonic airliner were not all they seemed.

Although the government designated Boeing as contractor for the craft and General Electric as the supplier of engines, no announcement was made of a schedule for the project.

As it stands now, the supersonic contracts do not even lift the project off the drawing boards. President Johnson said he could not even predict when construction would begin.

Some observers still are disturbed by the fact that the tremendous thunderclap that will trail the supersonic may make it almost useless for domestic flight.

Problem Remains
Despite years of work on how to eliminate the boom that accompanies the smashing of the sound barrier, the problem remains. The supersonic, if it were used on domestic flights, would shake up millions of people and send shivers through hundreds of square miles of landscape.

A question, then, that conservative members of Congress will be asking is whether the nation should commit enormous sums of money to build this craft while also pushing a costly space program and a war in Vietnam.

Any project of this size, especially one which involves innovations that have been proven only on paper or in the laboratory, is wide open to criticism. And the critics aren't silent.

Among the chief criticisms is that the supersonic airliner is not needed. Another is that it is unproven technologically. And still another is the method and cost of financing.

$5 Billion Cost
Present indications are that development costs will come close to $5 billion. The government is committed to pay at least 75 per cent of this amount — a sum that has been growing, as seems always to be the case in financing large projects.

Some feeling also exists that one company should not be entrusted with sole responsibility for such a project. And the fact that the thunderclap problem has not been solved, and won't be until a prototype is built, lends credence to suggestions that Lockheed still might be in the picture.

The reasoning here is that most of Boeing's supersonics might initially be used for transoceanic flight. The noise factor isn't so important over water. The big plane could cruise from its take off city at subsonic speed, reaching sound-breaking speed out over the ocean.

If the Boeing supersonic is used only across oceans, it is possible that a smaller, slower supersonic might be built for domestic use. The assumption is that a small plane would be less of an aural nuisance.

Balanced against these negatives is one overriding positive aspect: the demands of the U.S. balance of payments situation.

Trade Balance
A supersonic airliner could make a tremendous difference in our trade balance. If we exported supersonic planes our trade balance would improve by billions of dollars. Without a supersonic we would have to import, and our trade deficit would deepen.

Beloit Man Held in Slaying in Illinois

SOUTH BELOIT, Ill. (AP)—Isiah Washington, 43, of Beloit, Wis., was held Tuesday on a murder charge in connection with the gunshot slaying Monday of his friend, Frank P. Harris, 37, of South Beloit.

Police said Washington turned himself in shortly after Harris was shot in the South Beloit home of two other friends, Sam Johnson and Walter Jones. Police said the shooting followed a quarrel.

They also arrested the victim's mother, Mrs. Mary Harris. She was charged with disorderly conduct and carrying a concealed weapon.

'Highway Junkie' Self-Help Group Advised by Briton

ILKESTON, England (AP) — Ilkeston's Congregational minister proposed Tuesday that Britain's "highway junkies" form a self-help organization of Motorists Anonymous.

The Rev. Ronald Parker in his weekly newsletter said highway junkies are suffering from "road disease," an affliction with these symptoms:

"A sexual excitement as speed increases, a tense burning of the throat, a heavy stifling sensation in the chest and a blinding determination that they shall not pass."

Members of Motorists Anonymous could help each other whenever the craving came on for "a quick burst on the accelerator to relieve aggression and frustration and to taste power," the minister said.

These initial orders already total 36. At $16 million a plane that means an outgo of U.S. dollars totaling $576 million.

The French-British version, a smaller and slower liner than the planned U.S. liner, is expected to be ready for testing about a year from now and to be available commercially in three years, well ahead of ours.

Critics argue that this country can afford to delay a bit and let others make the big mistakes. Almost everyone agrees, however, that the United States cannot afford to give up the commercial airliner market, a market it now dominates.

Young Hobby Club A Scooter Is the Big Prize; Just Find the Wrong Clock

BY CAPPY DICK Which clocks in the picture are wrong? You can tell by adding some figures together. If you mark them clearly, you may become the winner of a Radio Chief two-wheel, all-metal scooter. Five of these scooters will be awarded as the national grand prizes in today's contest, one to each boy or girl who sends in one of the five neatest and most original correct solutions.

a sure grip brake, flip-down parking stand and plastic-grip steering handles. To find the clocks that are wrong compare the number on the bell of each clock with the total of the numbers to which its hands are pointing. If the number on the bell is not the correct total of the two other numbers you've found a clock that is wrong. Mark each such clock. Clip out the picture, paste it on paper or a postal card, print your name, age, address and zip code number beneath it, decorate it as originally as possible with paints, crayons or cutouts, and finally mail it to Cappy Dick's Scooter Contest at The Post-Crescent before midnight of day after tomorrow. Names of the prize winners will be published here. Their prizes will be sent to their homes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property, none can be returned. the New York Times, once wrote that a particular Frager performance — of the Prokofiev Piano Concerto No. 2 — was "positively immoral" because he "made such difficult writing sound so easy."

"Dazzles The Ear"

Reviewer Harold Rogers, of the Christian Science Monitor, was moved by a Tanglewood performance to write: "He has an unusual ability to dazzle the ear — as all good concerto pianists should do — but his playing is not for the ear alone. It also fulfills the basic function of music as a language that speaks to the heart."

In Russia, audiences simply acknowledged Frager's genius with standing ovations — at every one of his 25 concerts!

Frager's growth is laced with impressive accomplishments. Among his other awards have been the Prix d'Excellence at the American Conservatory in Fontainebleau, France (1952); the International Competition at Geneva (1955); the Michaelis Memorial Music Award in Chicago (1956); and the National Career Award of the National Society of Arts and Letters in Los Angeles (1958).

Plays at White House

President Eisenhower invited Frager to the White House in 1960 to play at a glittering banquet for the King and Queen of Denmark. Frager has appeared at Tanglewood in four consecutive summers with the Boston Symphony under Erich Leinsdorf. While in Moscow he played four two-piano recitals with the brilliant young Soviet pianist, Vladimir Ashkenazy, a program which was repeated a year later when the two toured Belgium and Iceland.

Frager's concert, third of the Lawrence Artist Series season, will be followed by a public reception for the artist at Memorial Union. Tickets for the concert go on sale at the University box office in the Music-Drama Center, 115 N. Park Ave., today. Box office hours are from noon to 6 p.m. daily except Sunday.

'The Trap of Solid Gold' On Stage 67

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 — Channels 11-6-9 — It's been a long time since television has tackled the gritty drama of keeping up with the Joneses in modern America. But this is what ABC Stage 67's excellent "The Trap of Solid Gold" does. In a script reminiscent of the Studio One days, adapter Ellen M. Violett has turned John D. MacDonald's tense saga of a Madison Avenue junior executive into a vivid editorial. From the opening scene, with Cliff Robertson and Dina Merrill as a suburban couple sinking deeper into debt in a friendly but expensive bridge game, viewers are made painfully aware of the high cost of living. Robertson's "impossible dream" is to conquer New York. And the question is whether he can afford the costly, brutal gamble. It's difficult not to sympathize with him although you may think his goals are superficial ones. In the splendid supporting cast are Dustin Hoffman, Ruth White and Conrad Nagel.

6:30-7 — Channels 11-6-9 — David Wayne is back as the "Mad Hatter" on Batman and Holy Cow! it looks as if he is going to turn the Dynamic Duo into fossilized skeletons in his fluoroscopic cabinet. In this slight, amusing spoof he is also out to steal the ruby of hostess Hattie Hatfield's headdress.

8-8:30 — Channels 2-7-12 — Green Acres glows a little bit brighter with a silly but often funny episode. It concerns Oliver's (Eddie Albert) efforts to improve the cooking of wife Lisa (Eva Gabor). Best moment involves the lady upsetting Hooterville High School where she is taking a cooking course. Students and teachers just can't understand the chic New Yorker's chic recipes and her ideas about what the well-fed man should do.

8:30-9 — Channels 2-7-12 — If you have ever served time in the army or the marines you will enjoy Gomer Pyle—USMC. Jim Nabor is at his funniest telling young recruits about the rigors of basic training and getting mixed up with a "bank robbery."

9-10 — Channels 4-5 — Bill Cosby gets a rare opportunity to display his merits as a lover, wooing Leslie Uggams on 1 Spy. In this curious but generally suspenseful story, Cosby and co-star Robert Culp are "victims of a Communist plot to break them up as a team. Miss Uggams is the delightful pawn in the game."

military formation and started marching down the narrow paved road in the darkness toward Marathon, apparently a protest against their arrest.

The outnumbered customs agents, who apparently had not expected such a large group, called for reinforcements. More than 20 sheriff's deputies from up and down the Keys rushed to the house.

As the cars began to arrive, the exiles stopped marching. No shots were fired.

"Pretty Peaceful"
"They were pretty peaceful when I got there," said one deputy. "They were standing in little groups beside the road, waiting for the charter buses. A few of them would get excited every once in a while but we didn't have any trouble."

Masferrer said he had organized an army of 350 men. He hinted the others might be waiting for the invasion to start, but he gave no specifics when questioned.

Inside the house, agents found an arsenal. Masferrer said it included 100 M1 rifles, 50 carbines, 10 automatic rifles, 15 30-caliber machine guns, 10 50-caliber machine guns, 6 60mm mortars, 3 81mm mortars and 50 Belgian rifles.

Masferrer was taken to Key West, where he and the other commandos milled around until dawn while customs agents processed them.

Invasion Predicted
The huge Cuban exile colony in Miami had circulated rumors for months that an invasion of Haiti was in the making.

The details were not a well-kept secret. A CBS camera crew has reportedly been filming the plotting for six months, beginning in a New York basement.

A top CBS news executive came to Miami two months ago to set up a command post to direct coverage of the invasion once it left American shores.

Late in November, there were reports that the invasion had started. But on Nov. 23, bitter Cuban exiles began to talk details, and it turned out that the invasion plans fell apart.

cipation from the U. S. aggression in Vietnam."

"Can the authors of this 'initiative' think that any talks are possible while bombs and shells continue to explode in Vietnam's peaceful towns and villages?" Pravda asked.

North Vietnam's army newspaper Quan Doi Nhan Dan hinted at the rejection of the proposal Monday terming it an attempt "to deceive world opinion" and "to cover aggression."

"Brown's proposal does not differ in essence from the U. S. proposal for unconditional peace talks."

whose need for pure water is essential to life itself," he stated.

Quoting a quarter-century old decision of the court on problems of home rule of municipalities, Hanley touched on another legal problem by saying that the anti-pollution laws are not a violation of that concept due to their statewide impact.

Dummy Corporations

Hanley wrote that while the state is prohibited from lending its credit unless legally obligated to the debts, the state is not lending its credit because "funds for the interest payments will be raised through 'dummy' building corporations for which the state has no obligation."

unconscious on the steps of an enclosure leading from the kitchen outside.

Outagamie County and Kimberly authorities pieced the following story together after talking with the older DeHart children.

Charlene, 15, the oldest of three girls, said she came home from babysitting about 4:15 a.m. Sunday. The other seven children were upstairs in bed and her parents were downstairs arguing.

She said her mother called her over to the living room table and tried to write something on a piece of paper. Charlene said her father took the pen from her mother and scribbled out what she had written. Authorities were unable to determine what was written on the piece of newspaper.

Charlene said her father ordered her upstairs to bed, but her mother did not want her to go. She went to bed and her father later came upstairs to see if she and her 10-year-old sister Pamela were awake.

DeHart then went back downstairs and began "yelling" at his wife, authorities learned.

Charlene told sheriff's investigators nine-year-old Paula went downstairs to the bathroom and heard her mother say, "Why are you hiding the gun, every one knows you have it?"

There was a discussion about the telephone after which Charlene heard her mother say, "Shoot me if you're going to." The girl then heard a shot and ran to the bedroom of her oldest brother, Allan. Charlene said none of the children went downstairs right away because cited previous state court decisions which have held that payments for internal works do not constitute improvements if they are used for the general public health or for government functions for the betterment of the general population.

"We conclude that matters pertaining to the abatement of water pollution are governmental functions of the State of Wisconsin and that water pollution prevention and abatement facilities are not works of internal improvement."

they could hear their mother talking.

Police were told that DeHart then called Allan, 18, downstairs and told him he had just killed his mother.

Allan, who had gotten home at 2:25 a.m. from babysitting, said that when he came downstairs, he found the gun lying on the couch on which his mother was lying. He said his father then picked up the gun and went into the kitchen.

Allan heard a shot, and upon opening the door to the enclosure, found his father on the steps, blood spurting from a head wound.

Another son, Myron, 16, told police he covered his head with a pillow, when he heard his mother and father arguing from babysitting about 4:15 a.m. Sunday. Police were told the couple argued frequently and that DeHart had threatened to shoot his wife when she was going to leave him a few years ago.

DeHart used a gun that he kept for target practice. The gun was in his dresser drawer in a box.

Called Sheriff

Authorities believe it was DeHart who telephoned the sheriff department at 5:20 a.m. and told the radio operator, "Send an ambulance to 1014 S. Kimberly Ave. My wife is bleeding. She is shot."

Police said DeHart died without regaining consciousness while his wife was conscious when she was admitted to the hospital.

The DeHart children said they were not sure what their parents were arguing about. The DeHarts had been gone from home since early Saturday evening, celebrating New Year's. They had been home only a short time before the shootings occurred.

Two of the children, Gary and Charles, left the house at 6 a.m. while the investigation was continuing — to deliver Sunday Post-Crescents. Police still were at their home when they returned.

The DeHarts had been married about 19 years. They moved to Kimberly from Mackville about 11 years ago. DeHart worked at the Kimberly-Clark Corp., Kimberly mill, for more than 20 years.

The five DeHart boys are Duane, 7; Gary, 13; Charles, 14; Myron, 16; and Allan, 18. The three girls are Paula, 9; Pamela, 10; and Charlene, 15.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the First Presbyterian Church, Kimberly. Burial will be in Antigo. Friends may call at the Jansen Funeral Home, Kimberly, after 2 p.m. today.

Knowles Appeals for Speed in Legislature said, would be the shortest on record since the 1941 Legislature.

He also suggested that work weeks be lengthened from their present Tuesday through Thursday to include sessions on Monday afternoons and Friday mornings.

But his comments drew a dubious reply from J. Curtis McKay, R-Mequon, floor leader of the majority Assembly Republicans.

"I have found over a period of time that when we have a five-day week things get pretty chaotic by the last day. Perhaps one day more would work, however."

McKay said, however, that if legislative Democrats are willing to accept some reforms in legislative operation, and if the Knowles administration proposes a complete budget, rather than proposing major spending bills after the budget is passed, "then we ought to be able to get out of here by the end of June."

"Spirit of Dedication"

The hallmark of his coming administration, Knowles said in his inaugural address after being sworn into office by state Supreme Court Chief Justice George Currie, will be "a spirit of dedication of our great state and to the growing security, prosperity and opportunity for our citizens."

The governor was presented to Justice Currie by master of ceremonies Ody J. Fish, chairman of the state Republican party and head of the successful Republican drive that expanded GOP holds on constitutional, Senate and Assembly offices.

"The people of the state have evidenced their trust in Warren P. Knowles by re-electing him as their chief executive," Fish said jubilantly.

Knowles stepped forward and repeated the oath of office, stumbling only once near its start over the words "not yet."

He was followed by Lt. Gov. Jack Olson, Secretary of State Robert C. Zimmerman, State Treasurer Mrs. Dena Smith, and Attorney General Bronson.

Timothy J. Hoile, 18, of C. LaFollette, last to be inaugurated and only Democrat of the group.
